“Are You Ready for a Tenth Crusade” or “The New World Order Global Caliphate”

“The history of your ancestors is your culture... anything else is a lie.”

To the Reader

The Canadian Constitution Act of 1982 simply states in its preamble that “Canada is founded upon principles that recognize the supremacy of God and the rule of law” and commences in detailing the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms which contains the basic rules about “natural persons” and “strawman entities,” such as the incorporated federal, and provincial and territorial governments in Canada. The Charter protects those basic rights and limited freedoms of a free and democratic country: For example, freedom of expression may be limited by laws against hate propaganda, namely degrading speech causing psychological injury or physical distress, or child pornography or propaganda advocating genocide. Everyone has freedom of conscience and religion, being guaranteed freedom of thought, belief, opinion and expression, including freedom of the press and other media of communication, and ensuring that every “natural person” and all “strawman entities” have equal standing and human dignity and are free to create and express their ideas. According to Section 319(1) of the Canadian Criminal Code it an offence to communicate expressions that bluntly malign in a public place or, by showing “willful blindness,” communicating statements other than in private conversation that publicly incite outright acts of violence and discrimination (i.e., hatred) against any identifiable group despite dissenting opinions.

“Every Muslim is a Mohammedan”

Mohammed’s life is an epic story. He was an orphan who rose from poverty to become the first ruler of all of Arabia. He created a new religion, new methods of war and a new political system including a legal code—Shari’a. Mohammed was a great warrior. Today no one wages war in the name of Alexander the Great, Caesar, Napoléon, Hitler, or any other military leader. However, every year many people die because of Mohammed. After 1400 years, Islam is more powerful than it has ever been. Mohammed said that “one day all of the world would live under his rule of law.”

To understand Islam, you must know the life of Mohammed. Every Muslim’s desire is to live a life identical to his. His every word and deed is the perfect model for being a Muslim. The religion of Islam is not so much about worshipping Allah... it is more about worshipping Allah exactly as Mohammed did.

Allah

Allah is usually thought to mean “the god” (al-ilah) in Arabic and is probably cognate with rather than derived from the Aramaic “Alaha.”

In Islam there is only one god and there are 99 names of that one god (al-asmā’ al-ḥusná, lit. meaning: “The best names”), each of which evokes a distinct attribute of god. All these 99 names refer to Allah, the supreme and all-comprehensive God.<sup>1</sup>

Almost all Western Christians avoid using “this word” for the Supreme Being, as, in our culture, “it” is too strongly associated with Islam—Christians and Muslims do not really worship the same god and the two religions are radically different in many crucial ways. So, whilst the god of Muslims is clearly a divergence from our One True God as revealed in the Old and New Testament, why do many Arabic-speaking Christians and some Jews continue to refer to God as “Allah” All Muslims and most Christians acknowledge that they believe in the same god even though their understandings differ.

Allah is also the Master of the Day of Judgment, when the good believers will be sent to their heavenly reward and the wicked unbelievers will be dispatched to unending torment in hellfire. Muslims claim to reject anthropomorphic descriptions of Allah, yet the Qur’an describes him as speaking, sitting on a throne, and having a face, eyes and hands.

Nothing can ever happen unless it is caused or at least permitted by Allah, so when making plans of any kind, Muslims typically say in sha’allah (God willing). If matters go well, one says ma sha’allah (whatever Allah wills), but, in any event, one can say al-hamdu li-llah (thanks be to Allah). In their prayers and on other occasions (including battles and street protests), Muslims declare that “Allah is the greater than anything else” (Allahu Akbar).

Gideon bibles, quoting John 3:16 in different languages assert that Allah sent his son into the world.<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup> The name “Allah” does not belong to Islam; it was used by Jews, Arabic peoples and Christians long before the existence of Islam. The word “Allah” does not appear in the Hebrew or Greek Scriptures of the Old or New Testament.

In the Old Testament times, a name was not only identification, but an identity as well. Many times a special meaning was attached to the name. Throughout Scripture God reveals Himself to us through His names. When we study these names that He reveals to us in the Bible, we will better understand who God really is. The meanings behind God’s names reveal the central personality and nature of the One who bears them.

There are over 100 Biblical names of God found in the in the Hebrew Scriptures or Tanach and/or Old and New Testament. Yahweh, the God of the Israelites, whose name was revealed to Moses as four Hebrew consonants called the Tetragrammaton (YHWH)—the name of God used most often in the Hebrew Bible—usually translated as “Lord” or “Jehovah.” Traditionally, Jews do not pronounce “it,” and instead refer to God as HaShem (literally “the Name”): Likewise, when quoting from the Tanakh or in prayers, some pious Jews will replace Adonai with HaShem. In prayer the Tetragrammaton is substituted with the pronunciation Adonai, meaning “my Lord.” During the Second Temple period, speaking the name of Yahweh in public became regarded as taboo.

In the Holy Bible, God has many other names—and is often described as Elohim, which simply means “God” in Hebrew, the ending -im normally indicates a masculine plural). It is in fact, like Adonai, a plural form. In Jehovah’s Witness theology, only God the Father (Jehovah) is the One True Almighty God, even over his Only-Begotten Son Christ Jesus. They teach that the pre-existent Christ is God’s First-begotten Son, and that the Holy Spirit is God’s active force (projected energy).

<sup>2</sup> John 3:16: For God so loved the world, that he gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

Traditional interpretations of Judaism emphasize that God is personal yet also transcendent, while some modern interpretations of Judaism emphasize that God is a force or ideal. Ezekiel had a vision of the Divine Glory in human form: His is not a unique occurrence in biblical literature.

Addressing Christians and Jews, the Qur’an declares, “Our god and your god are one.”<sup>3</sup> Although the names Allah and al-Rahman (“The Most Beneficent”) were evidently used by pre-Islamic Jews and Christians for God, the Qur’an<sup>4</sup> criticizes Christians for identifying

God has manifest in human form on a number of occasions (e.g., Genesis 18; 1 Kings 22.19; Isaiah 6)—although, in Exodus 33, God told Moses that “no man can see My face and live.” Jehovah’s Witnesses believe God the Father is the Creator and Supreme Being and view God as an invisible spirit “person” separate from the Christ: The Holy Spirit is described as God’s “active force,” rather than the third part of the Trinity. The Book of Mormon has the “Spirit of the Lord” having “the form of a man” and “speaking as a man would.” Prior to the birth of Jesus, God is depicted as “a Spirit without flesh and blood”—“a spirit body that looks the same as he would appear during his physical life.” And, in the apocalyptic Revelation of St. John the Divine Evangelist, Messiah is portrayed as being “clothed in a robe with a golden sash, having the appearance of jasper and ruby, with white hair and eyes like blazing fire, feet like bronze and a voice like rushing waters. He holds seven stars in his right hand and has a double-edged sword coming out of his mouth.”

The oldest known portrait of Jesus, found in Syria and dated to about 235 AD, shows him as a beardless young man of authoritative and dignified bearing. He is depicted dressed in the style of a young philosopher, with close-cropped hair and wearing a tunic and pallium—signs of good breeding in Greco-Roman society.

Painted in the 6th century AD, the earliest known image of Christ found in Israel, portrays Him with short curly hair, a depiction that was common to the eastern region of the Byzantine Empire, especially in Egypt and Syria-Palestine, but disappeared from later Byzantine art. The argument goes that Jesus being originally depicted as appearing non-European—because he was Jewish—did not sit well with vile mass murderer Cardinal Cesare Borgia, son of Pope Alexander VI, thus Leonardo da Vinci painted the dominant image of Jesus as a White person modeled on Cesare Borgia, his lover.

For centuries, the most common image of Jesus Christ, at least in Western cultures, has been that of a bearded, fair-skinned man with long, wavy, light brown or blond hair and (often) blue eyes. But the Bible doesn’t describe Jesus physically: Revelation 1.14-15 offers a clue that Jesus’ skin was a darker hue and that his hair was woolly in texture: The hairs of his head, it says, “were white as white wool, white as snow. His eyes were like a flame of fire; his feet were like burnished bronze, refined as in a furnace.” The long-haired, bearded image of Jesus which emerged beginning in the fourth century AD was influenced heavily by representations of Greek and Roman gods, particularly the all-powerful Greek god Zeus. At that point, Jesus started to appear in a long robe, seated on a throne with a halo surrounding his head.

Archaeological remains, historical texts and ancient Egyptian funerary art conclude that, like most people in ancient Judea, Jesus most likely had brown eyes, dark brown to black hair and olive-brown skin. He may have stood about 5-ft.-5-in. (166 cm) tall, the average man’s height at the time. Notwithstanding, in Islam, although nothing in the Qur’an explicitly prohibits images, some supplemental hadith explicitly ban the drawing of images of any living creature: Pictures—as well as statues—are thought to encourage the worship of idols; other hadith tolerate images, but never encourage them. Hence, most Muslims avoid visual depictions of Muhammad or any other prophet such as Moses, Abraham, or Jesus.

<sup>3</sup> Sūrat 29 “al-‘ankabūt” (“The Spider”): <sup>46</sup> And do not argue with the People of the Book except in a way that is best, except for those who commit injustice among them, and say, “We believe in that which has been revealed to us and revealed to you. And our God and your God is one; and we are Muslims [in submission] to Him.”

<sup>4</sup> Sūrat 5 “Al-Ma’idah” (“The Table ‘Spread with Food’”) <sup>5.17</sup> Indeed, those who saith, “Christ, the son of Mary, (He) is God”—they have certainly disbelieved. Say, “(O Muhammad): Who could prevent Allah at all if He had so willed to destroy Christ, the son of Mary, or his mother or everyone on the earth?” For to Allah belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth and whatever is between them. He creates what He wills, and Allah is over all things competent.

<sup>5.18</sup> But the Jews and the Christians say, “We are the children of Allah and His beloved.” Ask them, “Why, then, doth He chastise you for your sins?” Rather, you are human beings from among those He has created. He forgives whom He wills, and He punishes whom He wills. And to Allah belongs the dominion of the heavens and the earth and whatever is between them—and to Him is the eventual homecoming.

The original mistake committed by the Christians in declaring Jesus to be a combination of human and divine essences turned Jesus into “a mystery” for them, and the more the Christian scholars tried to solve this “mystery” by resorting to conjecture and rhetorical extravagance the more complicated the whole matter became. Those who were more impressed by the humanity of Jesus stressed his being the son of God and considered him to be one of the three gods. Those who were more impressed by the divinity of Jesus considered him to be none other than God, stressing that he was the human incarnation of God, and worshipped him as God. Those who tried to strike a middle path spent all their efforts hammering out subtle verbal formulations of the Trinity... allowing people to consider the Messiah to be God and man at one and the same time, to affirm that God and the Messiah independent and simultaneously constitute an inseparable whole.

It is the intended purpose of this communicæ to expose the atheistic criminality of those loathe bastards who promote surfeit odium against traditional families and the established Christian heritage of this once-great nation’s Anglo-French ancestors—the taproot of our Canadian Identity which hath been rooted in First Nation/Métis soil nigh unto five centuries, being watered on the sweat and blood and tears of no less than 14 generations of our colonial and pioneer ancestors.

All the evidence here-in critiqued is factual and true being duly researched and having been honestly compiled in accordance with the pursuit of unbiased truth in the hopes of sharing “The Unpopular Opinion of a Silent Majority” with thaim open-minded souls willing enough to accept incontrovertible articles of faith and the uncontestable credo of common sense—and to hell with thaim God-damned pinko heathens and hive-mind infidels of the lemming mob and criminal swine which actively promote revolting end-times degeneracy to usher us fair folk into the technocratic dark ages of novus ordo seclorum and the thinly-disguised violation of courtesy and civility by that wild gang of cyclopic woken sonnambulists—those narcissistic blood-handed liars-in-denial who have devoted our children’s children to the fires of the New Age Moloch, incoherently babbling: “Let their blood be upon their own heads and the heads of their children.”

Allah with Christ and both Jews and Christians for calling themselves children of Allah. Allah is not a trinity of three persons... and has no son made flesh (who was incarnate as a man). Some Christians therefore deny that Allah is the god they acknowledge. Yet, they seem sure that Jews worship the same god despite similarly rejecting the trinity and the incarnation.

Claiming that the Qur’an’s god and the Bible’s god are different beings is rather like arguing that the New Testament’s Jesus and the Qur’an’s Jesus (who is not divine and was not crucified) are different historic individuals. Some will reply that while there are competing interpretations of the one Jesus, God and Allah have different origins.

The Pre-Islamic “paynim” Creator God

This pre-Islamic paynim creator god was called Allah, which is not a proper name but a contraction of the word “al-ilah” (meaning simply “the god”). Like his Greek counterpart, Zeus, Allah was originally an ancient rain/sky deity who had been elevated into the role of the supreme god of the pre-Islamic Arabs. Though a powerful deity to swear by, Allah’s eminent status in the Arab pantheon rendered him, like most High Godlings, beyond the supplications of ordinary people.

Religion in pre-Islamic Arabia included indigenous animistic-polytheistic beliefs, as well as Christianity, Judaism, Mandaism—a monotheistic Sabaeen gnostic religion with a strongly dualistic cosmology and Iranian religions: Zoroastrianism, Mithraism, and Manichaeism. Arabian polytheism, the dominant form of religion in pre-Islamic Arabia, was based on veneration of deities and spirits. When referring to the paganism of the pre-Islamic Arabs, it is important to make a distinction between the nomadic Bedouin religious experience and the experience of sedentary tribes, such as those that had settled in major population centers like Mecca or Medina.

Bedouin paganism in sixth-century Arabia may have encompassed a divers range of beliefs and practices—from fetishism to totemism to manism (ancestor cults)—but it was not as concerned with metaphysical questions that were cultivated in the larger sedentary societies of Arabia, particularly with regard to issues like the afterlife. This is not to say that the Bedouin practiced nothing more than a primitive idolatry. On the contrary, there is every reason to believe that the Bedouin of pre-Islamic Arabia enjoyed a rich religious tradition.

Only in times of great peril would anyone bother consulting Allah. Otherwise, it was far more expedient to turn to the lesser, more accessible godlings which acted as Allah’s intercessors, the most powerful of whom were his three daughters: Allat (“the goddess”), al-Uzza (“the mighty”), and Manat (“the goddess of fate, whose name is probably derived from the Hebrew word “mana,” meaning “portion” or “share”): [“The Daughters of Allah” is a subject dealt with in the next installment of “Are you ready for a Tenth Crusade?”].

These divine mediators were not only represented in the Kaaba, they had their own individual shrines throughout the Arabian Peninsula: Allat in the city of Ta’if; al-Uzza in Nakhlah; and Manat in Qudayd. It was to them that the Arabs prayed when they needed rain, when their children were ill, when they entered into battle or embarked on a journey deep into the treacherous desert abodes of the Jinn—those intelligent, imperceptible, and salvageable beings made of smokeless flame who are called “genies” in the West and who function as the nymphs and fairies of Arabian mythology.

Although called the “King of the Gods” and the “Lord of the House” or “Lord of the World,”<sup>5</sup> Allah was not the central deity in the Kaaba. That honor belonged to Hubal, a Syrian lunar deity which Lihyan and/or Dadan

These fools have been misled into believing that the Messiah is God either because of his miraculous birth or because of his flawless moral character or because of the miracles which he performed. The Messiah is merely a sign of the innumerable wonders of God’s creation—a sign which somehow dazzled the eyes of those superficial people. Had their perception been wider they would have been able to see that there are even more inspiring examples of His creation and infinite power. If anything, their attitude was indicative of the intellectual puerility of those who were so overawed by the excellence of a creature as to mistake him for the Creator. Those whose intelligence penetrates through the excellence of creatures, who look upon them merely as signs of the magnificent power of God, and who are led by such observations to a reinforcement of faith in the Creator are truly wise.

<sup>5</sup> “King of Kings” is used in reference to Jesus Christ several times in the New Testament, notably once in the First Epistle to Timothy (6.15) and twice in the Book of Revelation (17.14, 19.11–16)—referring to the idea of the Kingdom of God where Christ is described as seated at the Right Hand of God (as opposed to the secular title of King of the Jews mockingly given Him at the crucifixion).

“Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him.”

brought to Mecca centuries before the rise of Islam: (Dadan and Lihyan were two Arab kingdoms from the first millennium BC that once ruled vital trade routes in northwest Saudi Arabia).

Muhammad’s Allah evolved from Hubal—the highest ranking god of the 360 gods of the Kaaba—its idol was a human figure believed to control acts of divination, which was performed by tossing arrows before the statue. Access to the idol was controlled by the mercantile Quraysh tribe: (The Islamic prophet Muhammad was born into the Hashemite clan of the tribe).

Shahada

“There is no god but Allah”

Muslims believe he created the world in six days and sent prophets such as Noah, Abraham, Moses, David, Jesus, and lastly Muhammad, who called people to worship only him, rejecting idolatry and polytheism. The word “islam,” meanings “submission,” was not at first the name of the religion founded by Muhammad. It referred, rather, to the original religion of all mankind—and even of the universe itself which, like us, was created to serve Allah.

Earlier prophets and their followers were all Muslims (submitters to Allah), though Muslims do tend to conflate the general and specific meanings of the words “Islam” and “Muslim.” Some prophets received scriptures from Allah, notably the Torah of Moses, the Psalms of David, the Gospel of Jesus... even Joseph Smith’s Book of Mormon. But these messages and books, however, became corrupted... and yet others were lost. Miraculously, the Qur’an (“recitation”) revealed to Muhammad—the very words of Allah—will not suffer this fate, so there is no need for further prophets or revelations.

The Glorious al-Qur’ān

The Qur’an was most likely compiled in the 650s, more than twenty years after the death of Muhammad, at that time the precise order of the chapters was not yet revealed... so the book was compiled in an almost random manner with larger chapters first and smaller chapters last. But the order matters because in the Qur’an<sup>6</sup> it simply infers that newer verses abrogate older ones... which mean that if we see two verses that contradict each other... it is the later verse Muhammad wants his followers to obey.

Islam follows three principal ways with regard to legislation: 1) Islam retained the commandments which pre-dated “it” in previous “Books,” custom, and practice of the community in which “it” appeared, which were not contradictory with “its essential principles.” 2) Islam corrected or amended those not conforming with “its principles.” 3) Islam installed new legislation.

In establishing new legislation, both life’s unchanging (essential) and temporal (changing) aspects are considered. In the second case, the Qur’an laid down rules that could be revised when necessary, according to time and conditions, and in conformity with essentials of faith, worship, and morality; and established legal principles to maintain this process. The best known and most important of these are qiyās (“drawing analogies”); deducing new laws through ijtihād (“reasoning based on the Qur’an and Sunnah”); adopting isti h s ān (“what is good and beneficial”); maintaining without change isti s h āb (“what has already been approved”); taking isti s h āb (“what is suited to the public benefit and discarding what is harmful”); and blocking sadd az-zarā’i (“corruption and what is unlawful”). The same procedure was also followed in the time of the Prophet himself, during which the Qur’an was revealed. God abrogated some verses, either with the injunction contained in their wording or with both their wording and the command they contained. This process was called naskh; the verses abrogated, mansūkh; and the new ones substituting the previous ones, nāsikh.

However, it must always be remembered that the Qur’an has absolute authority until Judgment Day. Given this, there may be times when some of the commands replacing or abrogating others should be temporarily neglected or viewed as not-yet-revealed. This process of naskh contributes a great deal to Islam’s dynamism, for preaching Islam and transforming people into true and perfect Muslims is a process. Also, the principles or commands conveyed to new believers or those who are interested have different priorities.

<sup>6</sup> Sūrat 2. “al-Baqarah” (“the Cow”) <sup>106</sup> (Though they would exploit the abrogation of some rules of secondary degree to challenge your authority, the truth is that) We do not abrogate any verse or omit it (leaving it to be forgotten) but We bring one better than it or the like of it (more suited to the time and conditions in the course of perfecting the Religion and completing Our favor upon you).95 Do you not know (and surely you do know) that God has full power over everything?

Fathers of Islam

Ibrahim (Abraham) was not a Jew yet nor a Christian but was true in faith and bowed his will to Allah’s (which is Islam)<sup>13</sup> and he joined not craven images, neither idolatry, unto Allah. Ibrahim—who preceded Muhammad by twenty five centuries—is the best example of a Muslim in that he totally surrendered to the Divine Will of Allah. When God instructed him to sacrifice his one and only son by Sāra—Isḥāq—he did not argue, nor prevaricate or hesitate in obeying God’s extremely harsh but seminal demand. In fact, the Qur’an itself asserts that each-and-every Israelite or Jew is a Muslim: Surāt 2 “Al-Baqarah” (“The Cow”):<sup>127</sup> And remember Ibrahim and Isma’il raised the foundations of the House (with this prayer): “Our Lord! Accept (this service) from us for thou art the All-Hearing the All-Knowing.”

Ibrahim and Isma’il were Hebrews—not Arabs. Not once in the Qur’an can one find any connection between Abraham, Ishmael and the Arabs. But the Qur’an does assert that Ibrahim and Isma’il were Muslims—and, as such, the Fathers of Islam... but not of the Arabs. Hence, according to the Qur’an: Abraham; Ishmael; Isaac; Jacob; the Twelve Tribes; Moses; David; Solomon; the Prophets; Zakharia (Zachariah)—an illustrious Prophet of the Israelites, one of the descendants of Sulaymān ibn Dāwūd (Solomon son of David)—a Malik (King) and Nabī (Prophet) of the Israelites, whose wife was al-Yashbi’, Hannah’s sister, who belonged to the family of Hārūn (Aaron)—prophet, high priest, and the elder brother of Musa (Moses), a gifted speaker who would often speak for Musa, whom suffered from a speech impediment; Yahya (John the Baptist, a Jewish prophet of Islam); Isā (Jesus) and the Twelve Apostles, which were Hebrews, Israelites or Jews; all of whom believed in the One and Only Allah and hence were Muslims. Moreover, according to many of the most important verses of the Qur’an, they were all Muslims centuries before Muhammad and his Qur’an. Mark: Being a Muslim does not require believing that Muhammad was-or-is the messenger of Allah, but only that the person believes in the One and Only God. This should not be a surprise to the Jews of the Mosaic faith since their forefathers—the Hebrews and later the Israelites—were obviously the first to conceive of, believe in, and submit to the Divine Will of the One and Only God; the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob.

Genesis 11

<sup>29</sup> And Abram and Nahor took them wives: the name of Abram’s wife was Sarai; and the name of Nahor’s wife, Milcah, the daughter of Haran, the father of Milcah, and the father of Iscah.

<sup>30</sup> But Sarai was barren; she had no child.

In the Old Testament, a Hebrew “princess” named “Sāra (Sarah/Sarai)—favoured ‘sister-wife’ of Ibrahim (Abraham)—was unhappy because she was childless and barren until she was 90 years old: (In Islam, she is the cousin of Ibrahim rather than sister due to the Dead Pharaoh Haran being her father who was a cousin to Terah). Abraham, though, was “a just man” and does not abandon her... even though he legally could have because she didst not give him a son (cf. Joseph husband of Mary mother of Jesus, q.v.).

Unhappy above all for her husband, who desires a son and heir, she proposed a “shidūkh” (Heb. “matchmaking”) that he have a child with her Egyptian “handmaid,” Hājar (Hagar), who becomes pregnant (with Ishmael). Hagar then behaves disrespectful toward her mistress. Being proud and wanting to return to Egypt, Hagar took flight, preferring to die in the desert rather than remain Sarah’s “servant”—as the wilderness of Shur is on the border of Egypt. By chance, an angel notices her and advises her to return home. Hagar obeys, goes back to Abraham, and gives birth to Ishmael. Fourteen years later, Sarah finally gives birth to her own son: Isaac.

What Abraham did in taking a slave as his wife was acceptable legal practice in the Near Eastern World: Hagar’s son was his legitimate heir by law, and so Ishmael was a real threat to Isaac. Knowing this, Sarai demands that her husband expel Hagar and Ishmael, who provoke her. Muslims believe that it is because Abraham allowed the maid to be tormented, and Sarai tormented her, this is why the children of Hagar rule over the children of Sarai.

The same “love-triangle theme” is present in the story of Jacob son of Isaac and grandson of Abraham and the sisters, Leah “the wild cow” and Rachel “the ewe” daughters of Jacob’s cousin Laban (Genesis 29.17). Rachel was Jacob’s first love and primary wife. But Leah was the first wife that he actually married—the first to bear his children and the one to mother the majority of his children. Leah, the “unloved” wife, whose only consolation was bearing his children, bore seven of Jacob’s children—six sons, Reuben, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun, as well as a daughter, Dinah. Jacob’s concubine Bilhah gave birth to Dan and Naphtali (Genesis 30:3-8), while another slave, Zilpah, gave him Gad and Asher (Genesis 30:9-13). Jacob’s overt favoritism toward Rachel had prompted God to keep Rachel’s womb closed, but Rachel’s love was ultimately redeemed when she gave birth to a boy named Joseph.<sup>14</sup> Jacob’s favorite (Genesis 30:24-25), and Benjamin, the youngest. Together with the sons of Joseph, Manasseh and Ephraim, these 12 men would become the forefathers of the Twelve Tribes of Israel, sealing God’s covenant.

The schism kept resurfacing. It was Moses, Leah’s descendant, who redeemed people from their slavery in Egypt, but only Joshua—Moses’ disciple and Rachel’s descendant—who lead the nation into the Land-Between of Promise. The rulership of Israel’s first national monarch, King Saul (descendant of Rachel) was cut short by Shepherd-King David (Leah’s descendant), through whom a dynasty would be established. But the schism again resurfaced with the constant strife and divisiveness between malchut Yisrael (the kingship of Israel) and malchut David (the Davidic dynasty). And this schism is set to remain until the end of time. Moshiach ben Yosef (from Rachel) has the task of preparing the world for redemption, but it is Moshiach ben David (from Leah) who will actually accomplish the final redemption for eternity.<sup>15</sup>

The Family of Imran

All of the above actually knew of and used the name Allah since it was very familiar to them as supreme god of the Ka’ba, long before Muhammad appeared on the scene. So too, hadst the Jews of Arabia already laid down the path to monotheism in Arabia a long time before the birth of Muhammad:<sup>16</sup>

<sup>14</sup> Beginning with the rivalry between Joseph (Rachel’s child) and his brothers (primarily Leah’s children), who sought to kill him but instead were placated by selling him as a slave to a passing caravan—who brought him into Egypt, where he became known as Senenmut—the most favored chancellor of the dowager Queen Hatshepsut “the Baker”—and married Neferue (or Neferura) “the Cup-bearer” renown as Asenath daughter of Potiphera (Pentephres), priest of Heliopolis (On), “one who belongs to Neit—the heathen goddess of war and wisdom—of the chief Pharaohic city of Saïs (known as Zau in ancient Egypt and today as Sa El Hagar)—now, a heap of stones”: (The “Pillar City” of On was one of the most ancient Egyptian cities and the seat of worship of the sun god, Re).

<sup>15</sup> Both Barbara Thiering and Robert Eisler venture to equate the most significant person found in the Dead Sea Scrolls as Saint John the Baptizer, the head of the community bearing the name of Teacher of Righteousness (moreh ha-zedeq). The scrolls also mention two antagonists of the Teacher of Righteousness, the Wicked Priest (ha-kohen ha-rasha) and the Man of Lies (ysh ha-kazab)—referring to the Benjamite Apostle Paul—yet, some believe that it is Judas Iscariot the Galilean of the Sicarii—a terrorist group based at Masada (q.v.) Deciding that both these pseudonyms refer to the same person Thiering saw Jesus Christ behind them, who, according to her, opposed his teaching against John’s position and therefore was rejected by Essene sectarians who kept faith in the Teacher of Righteousness.

The scrolls show that the Teacher of Righteousness belonged to the caste of the priests of the tribe of Levi, while the Interpreter of the Law is connected in the texts with descendants of David of the tribe of Judah. If we identify the Teacher of Righteousness with John then it is only logical to presume that it is Jesus whose Qumranites called Interpreter of the Law (doresh ha-torah).

<sup>16</sup> Surāt 3 is named after the family of Imran (Saint Joachim), which includes Imran, Hannah (Sainte Anne), Maryam, and Isa (Jesus). Imran in Islam is regarded as the father of Maryam (mother of Jesus), his whole family is a pious family and the names of this family are adopted from the family of Musa (Moses): (Musa is mentioned 143 times in the Qur’an while Muhammad is only mentioned 4 times).

Hannah is the mother of Maryam—she is revered as a highly spiritual woman but is not named in the Qur’an, where she is simply referred to as “the wife of Imran”—and is only mentioned to in two passages of the narratives section. According to apocryphal Judeo-Christian and Islamic tradition, Sainte Anne (Hannah) is the mother of Mary and the maternal grandmother of Jesus. She was born from the House of David, the line which was prophesied to give birth to Messiah. More-so, she is the Roman Catholic patron saint of pregnancy and childbirth as well as mothers and grandmothers—not only of expectant mothers, but also childless mothers.

It is the intended purpose of this communicæ to expose the atheistic criminality of those loathe bastards who promote surfeit odium against traditional families and the established Christian heritage of this once-great nation’s Anglo-French ancestors—the taproot of our Canadian Identity which hath been rooted in First Nation/Métis soil nigh unto five centuries, being watered on the sweat and blood and tears of no less than 14 generations of our colonial and pioneer ancestors.

All the evidence here-in critiqued is factual and true being duly researched and having been honestly compiled in accordance with the pursuit of unbiased truth in the hopes of sharing “The Unpopular Opinion of a Silent Majority” with thaim open-minded souls willing enough to accept incontrovertible articles of faith and the uncontestable credo of common sense—and to hell with thaim God-damned pinko heathens and hive-mind infidels of the lemming mob and criminal swine which actively promote revolting end-times degeneracy to usher us fair folk into the technocratic dark ages of novus ordo seclorum and the thinly-disguised violation of courtesy and civility by that wild gang of cycyclopic woken sonnambulists—those narcissistic blood-handed liars-in-denial who have devoted our children’s children to the fires of the New Age Moloch, incoherently babbling: “Let their blood be upon their own heads and the heads of their children.”

It is also a corollary that to be a Muslim is independent of the belief that Muhammad was the messenger neither of Allah nor in the contents of the Qur’an, since all of the above prophets did not know of either of them. It was only for pagan Arabs and other pagans that it was incumbent to believe in Muhammad as the messenger of Allah, just as it was incumbent upon the Israelites to believe Moses was a Prophet of God.

A clear and unambiguous distinction must be made by the terms: Muslim and Muhammadan (“Followers of Muhammad”): Any monotheist may be a Muslim but not every Muslim is a Muhammadan; some Muslims are of the Mosaic faith (Moussawi); some are Hanifs and, in fact, any Christian who believes that Jesus was only a prophet but not the son of God, as Unitarian Christians, is also a Muslim.

The Daughters of Allah

Mecca in the year 610 AD (when the Prophet Muhammad began receiving revelations from Allah) was a bustling city, whose only sources of legal income were commerce and the trade engendered by pilgrimages to the pagan temple in Mecca—the Ka’ba. This temple was crammed to the roof with images of the main Meccan deities: It is an undeniable fact of history that before Muhammed was born, Pagan Arabians believed Allah, the principal deity at Mecca, had three daughter-consorts: The goddesses al-Uzzá—the Goddess of the Morning Star (the planet Venus), al-Lat—the “Mighty” Mother Goddess of prosperity (a “sun goddess” of the harvest, fertility, and love) and Manāt—a Semitic goddess worshipped in the Arabian Peninsula, which formed a triad in pre-Islamic Arabia; sometimes Manat and al-Lat are considered daughters of al-Uzzá.<sup>17</sup>

Ste. Anne lived in an era when married women were expected to have children. Those who didn’t were seen as having displeased God somehow. So, she knew what it was like to desire children and to bear society’s scorn for not filling her role as “mother.” Nevertheless, she was “chosen by God” and her illustrious daughter was the greatest means of her own sanctification and her glory in the church of God to the end of ages.

Ste. Anne and her husband St. Joachim are not mentioned in the Bible. Little is known about this couple and their life with their daughter. Church tradition holds that Ste. Anne was an older woman when Mary was born (like her relative Ste. Elizabeth, mother of St. John the Baptizer). Mary is said to be their only child and was dedicated to God at a young age.

So, too, was Manoah’s wife (also referred to as Samson’s mother)—an unnamed figure in the Book of Judges. She is introduced in Judges 13 as elderly barren woman. The angel of the Lord appears to her and tells her she will have a son. She later gives birth to Samson—a Nazarite (q.v.).

Refer to “The Origin of Christianity,” footnote 26.

In the Aggadah—one of the two primary components of non-legalistic exegetical Talmud and Midrash narratives, the other being Halakhah, dealing with man’s ineffable relations to God, to other men, and to the world, Hannah, one of the seven prophetesses, was one of the wives of Elkanah mentioned in the First Book of Samuel—his other wife, less favoured but bearing more children, was named Peninnah. It was at Hannah’s instigation that Elkanah took a second wife after 10 years of marriage without children. Once Peninnah had given birth, however, she ceaselessly taunted Hannah, reminding her of her childlessness: (I Sam. 1:6: “And her adversary also provoked her sore, for to make her fret, because the Lord had shut up her womb”).

Together with Elkanah and her handmaid Peninnah, she used to make the annual pilgrimage to offer sacrifices at the Temple in Shiloh—the major Israelite worship centre before the first Temple was built in Jerusalem (I Sam. 1:2-7; 2:19; the Septuagint and a fragment from Cave 4 at Qumran in 1:24). As she once stood in the Mishkan (Sanctuary), pouring out her bitter anguish inaudibly, with only her lips moving, and vowing to dedicate any son born to her to the Temple and the service of God. Eli—one of the last Israelite judges before the beginning of the rule of kings in ancient Israel—the high priest at Shiloh observed her and chided her for her apparently drunken behavior. On ascertaining its true cause, however, he added his blessing to her pleas (cf. Gabriel, q.v.). Hannah gave birth to a son, Samuel, and after weaning him, brought him to the Temple, offered a sacrifice and a song of thanksgiving, and left him with Eli to serve in the Temple as a Nazarite for life. Each year she would return to bring him a small cloak, when she went up with her husband to offer the yearly sacrifice. Eli blessed her and Hannah bore three more sons and two daughters (I Sam. 2:21).

Refer to Endnote: “Ever-Virgin Mary” and “Christ Jesus.”
<sup>17</sup> The Triple Goddess figures are often described as the Maiden, the Mother, and the Crone, each of which symbolizes both a separate stage in the female life cycle and a phase of the Moon, and often rules one of the realms of heavens, earth, and underworld.

The Ancient Triple Goddess

The most prominent of the ancient goddess was Diana/Selene, who was equated with Hekátē—the Greek goddess of magic, witchcraft, the night, moon, ghosts and necromancy—and had power over heaven, earth, and sea. Hekátē assisted Demeter in her search for Persephone, guiding her through the underworld with flaming torches in both hands. The triple goddess Clidna or Cleena was known as “Clidna of the Fair Hair”—she was an Irish and Scottish deity of great beauty and the Otherworld—as one of the three daughters of the chief druid of Manannan—the “lord of the sea”—she was also a sea goddess.

Brigid is a Celtic triple goddess worshipped among Celts of Ireland, the highlands and islands of Scotland, and also of Western Europe for her “fires of inspiration, hearth, and the forge.” Freya, a Norse triple goddess, had many attributes: She was considered a goddess of fertility and of wealth, but also a goddess who went to the land of the dead (or underworld), in the guise of a falcon.

The Greco-Romanic Moirai or Fates were three sister deities, incarnations of human destiny and fate. The Greco-Romanic Charities (singular Charis) or Gratiae (Graces) were three minor deities: Aglaia (Brightness), Euphrosyne (Joyfulness), and Thalia (Bloom)—goddesses of charm, beauty, nature, human creativity, goodwill, and fertility. Their raison d’être was pleasure—and they can be found dancing with nymphs and the nine Muses—the inspirational goddesses of literature, science, and the arts.

The Greco-Romanic Virgin Goddesses (or maiden goddesses) are Artemis, Athena, and Hestia—comparable to Hera/Juno, Aphrodite/Venus and Athena/Minerva: Eris (the goddess of discord) was furious at not having been invited to a huge banquet celebrating the marriage of the hero Peleus to the water nymph Thetis, so she tossed the “golden apple of discord” (viz. “fire”) inscribed “for the fairest” among the goddings during the Judgment of Paris... who awarded it to Aphrodite/Venus.

Eris is synonymous with the first lunar phase, whence the Moon and Sun have the same ecliptic longitude and the moon cannot be seen.

Solar Eclipse

A solar eclipse can only take place at the phase of new moon, when the moon passes directly between the sun and Earth and its shadows fall upon Earth’s surface. That means the moon moves over the sun and it gets dark in the middle of the day—a total solar eclipse is rare, happening about every year-and-a-half (somewhere on Earth). A partial eclipse, when the moon doesn’t completely cover the sun, happens at least twice-a-year (somewhere on Earth). The moon’s shadow on Earth isn’t very big, so only a small portion of places on Earth will see it. You have to be on the sunny side of the planet when it happens. You also have to be in the path of the moon’s shadow. On average, the same spot on Earth only gets to see a solar eclipse for a few minutes about every 375 years!

Lunar Eclipse

The moon’s path around Earth is tilted compared to Earth’s orbit around the sun. The moon can be behind Earth but still get hit by light from the sun. During a lunar eclipse, Earth gets in the way of the sun’s light hitting the moon. That means that during the night, a full moon fades away as Earth’s shadow covers it up. The moon can also look reddish because Earth’s atmosphere absorbs the other colors while it bends some sunlight toward the moon. Sunlight bending through the atmosphere and absorbing other colors is also why sunsets are orange and red. During a total lunar eclipse, the moon is shining from all the sunrises and sunsets occurring on Earth! Unlike solar eclipses, lots of people get to see each lunar eclipse. If you live on the nighttime half of Earth when the eclipse happens, you’ll be able to see it.

Solstice “Ring of Fire” Solar Eclipse

Early human civilizations built their societies around season changes and annual movements of the sun, so when an eclipse occurred they believed that the natural order had been compromised. These dynamic phenomena were feared by our ancient ancestors. To them, eclipses were a harbinger of danger—quite specifically, the apocalypse.

In 2019, there are 13 new moons and 12 full moons, but only 5 eclipses: 3 solar and 2 lunar. A nearly two-year-long eclipse series began on 13 July 2018—electrifying to the Cancer-Capricorn axis, shifting public perception of safety (symbolized by Cancer) and authority (represented by Capricorn). The final eclipse on this axis occurred on 5–6, July 2020, when a total lunar eclipse at 13° degrees Capricorn concluded this two-year cycle. However, 2020 also brings a series of eclipses upon the Gemini-Sagittarius axis, starting with the lunar eclipse on 5 June 2020, in Sagittarius (fire sign). The planet Venus retrograde was also occupying Gemini (air sign) during this time, a retrograde with activity surrounding beauty, love, and money: (Cf. the ancient triple goddesses).

Just as new moons are linked to beginnings and full moons are tied to culminations. Solar eclipses, which will occur in 2020 on June 21st and December 14th, correspond with new beginnings and unexpected opportunities: It’s an incredibly rare occurrence to have a solstice solar eclipse. In 2020, lunar eclipses occurred on January 10th, June 5th, July 5th, and on November 30th.

3.4% of solstices will coincide with a first-quarter moon.

3.4% of solstices will coincide with a full moon.

3.4% of solstices will coincide with a last-quarter moon.

And given that we have two solstices a year, this means that a whopping 13.5% of all years will either have a new moon or a full moon on one of the solstices.

Either a new moon or a full moon will happen on the solstice about every 7-to-8 years. A full moon occurred on the solstice in December 2018, when that moment of 100% fullness occurred a little less than 24 hours after the moment of maximal tilt with respect to the sun. Most recently, earth experienced a full moon occurring on the 2016 June solstice. Before that, earth experienced a full moon on the 2010 December solstice. We came close to having new moons on the solstice in 2014 and 2006... but each time we were offset by approximately 24 hours instead of 12 hours. (In 21 June

<sup>13</sup> Surāt 3 “Al Imran” (“The Family of Imran”): <sup>67</sup> Abraham was in truth neither a Jew nor a Christian, but he was one inclining toward truth [and professing the Oneness of God], a Muslim [a Hanif submitting to Allah]. And he was never one of the polytheist infidels.

Similarity, the people of Jesus and the “Hawareen” who followed are also Muslims. Surāt 5 “Al-Ma’idah” (“The Table Spread with Food”): And [remember] when I inspired to the disciples, “Believe in Me and in My messenger Isā (Jesus).” They said, “We have believed, so bear witness that indeed we are Muslims [in submission to Allah].” Jesus is being told that the faith of the disciples in him was also the result of God’s grace and succor, for He, Ifself, doth not have the power to produce even one man of faith in that land of disbelief. It is also made clear that the true religion of the disciples of Jesus was Islam.

The three were widely worshipped as uncut aniconic stones from the Nabataean Petrain in the North to the legendary Kingdoms of Arabia Felix in the South, including Saba, the Biblical Sheba; as far east as Iran and Palmyra.<sup>18</sup>

According to a little-disseminated Muslim tradition the three were very popular goddesses in Mecca at the time of Muhammad and acted as Allah’s intercessors. Whence at first the Prophet began preaching monotheism publicly to the largely pagan populace, he came under tremendous pressure to allow the pagans to convert to Islam without loss of these three popular goddesses. During this period, Muhammad is said to have prescribed a revelation, believing it to have come from Allah, which said something like: “Have you considered Al-Lat and Al-Uzza and Manat, the third, the other? Those are the exalted swans. Their intercession is expected. Their likes are not neglected.” On hearing this, many pagans converted to Islam. When Muhammad realized what he had said, he claimed that Shaytan—one of the devilish jinn—had put these verses into his mouth to discredit him. He then passed on the real revelation from Allah.<sup>19</sup>

Surāt 53 Al-Najm (“The Stars”)

When the recent converts heard the new revelation, they were furious: they believed that they had been tricked into converting... and their persecution of Muhammad and his genuine, committed converts now redoubled—as Satan created doubts about its truth and meanings in the minds of the people:

Surāt 22 “Al-Hajj” (“The Pilgrimage”)

<sup>52</sup> And never did Iness send before you any messenger or prophet (O Muhammad), except that when Iself desired he spoke [or recited (the message)]. Shaytan proposed (opposition) and threw into it [some misunderstanding] in respect of that which he recited thereof. Allah abolishes the inferior language of Satan and strengthens His Signs. Allah is All-Knowing—All-Wise.

But Shaytan (Satan) interfered with Muhammad’s recitation of this revelation and create some verses in praise of the idolatrous “al-Gharaniq al-ula” (“three high birds”). Allah abolished the inferior language of Satan, though, and made precise His verses to eradicate the

2001 a new moon coincided with the solstice. And quite remarkably, that solstice new moon also corresponded to a total solar eclipse.)

An incredibly rare solstice “Ring of Fire” solar eclipse occurred on the June 2020 solstice—precisely 19 years after the last solar eclipse on a solstice: 21 June 2001. There was a solar eclipse on 21 June 1982. There will be another solar eclipse on 21 June 2039. And jumping ahead by another 19 years, there will be yet another solstice solar eclipse on 21 June 2058.

The 19-year Metonic Cycle

This particular phenomenon of a 19 year periodic eclipse cycle is known as a Metonic cycle, dating all the way back to Meton of Athens (nearly 2500 years ago). For every 19 years that pass, we experience almost 235 lunar months—falling short by a mere 72 minutes. When we do get an eclipse on the solstice, we tend to get a number of them in a row with this 19 year period. But then, when enough of those “2 minutes” add up, they push us out of sync with the solstice once again.

In 2020, we experienced a period where five solstice eclipses happen all in a row. There wasn’t one, however, on the June solstice in 1963. Nor will there be one on the June solstice in 2077. The eclipse cycles drift ever so slightly relative to our annual calendar over time, and this pulls events in and out of this 19 year pattern.

The nodes of the moon’s orbit—the places where the moon crosses the earth/sun plane (at its highest and lowest elliptical points)—occur with a slightly different frequency than the phases of the moon. The moon crosses through each node in its orbit with a frequency of 27.22 days, rather than the 29.53 days that the lunar phase cycle recurs on. When we extrapolate this all the way out to 19 year periods, both the lunar phase cycle and the node-crossing cycle almost perfectly align. 19 calendar years is the same as 235 lunar phase cycles (minus 72 minutes), but it’s also the same as 255 node-crossing cycles, which are known as “draconic months”: (The name “draconic” refers to a mythical dragon, said to eat the sun and/or moon during an eclipse: The ascending node is referred to as “caput draconis”—“the dragon’s head,” with the descending node known as “cauda draconis”—“the dragon’s tail.” In medieval texts, the nodes are referred to as “ras wa dhanav al-tinnin” in Arabic. and “rosh ha-tely u-zenavo” in Hebrew).

A synodic month is the average period the moon takes to cycle through its phases (new, first quarter, full, last quarter) and back again: 29–30 days: A lunar month takes 29.5 days, although this varies slightly around this average. During a sidereal month, the moon completes one orbit around earth every 27.3 days—shorter than a sidereal month, a draconic, or nodical, month of 27.212220 days (i.e., 27 days 5 hours 5 minutes 35.8 seconds) is the period of time between two consecutive passages of the moon through the same orbital node. Only, the node-crossing cycles miss this 19 year periodicity by about 12 hours. On earth, after 4 or 5 eclipse cycles, these cycles fall out of phase by enough that eclipses no longer recur at the same time of year.

Over a very long timescale, there is only one solstice solar eclipse every 82 years or so: But, because of how these events cluster together in 19 year intervals, we had one in 1982, 2001, and are having one in 2020, and will have more in 2039 and 2058. All of these will occur on the June solstice. And then, there will be an enormous drought. For 184 years after the 2058 event, planet Earth won’t experience another solstice solar eclipse. After this incredible drought, the 22 December 2242 solstice will finally see them return with a partial solar eclipse. There will be a cluster of a few in a row every 19 years after that, and then another drought until 2373, when a total solar eclipse occurs on the June solstice. Once 2058 passes us by, they won’t be back for nearly two full centuries.

<sup>18</sup> Cf. the Four Daughters of God which are personifications of the virtues of Truth, Righteous Justice, Mercy, and Peace in medieval Catholic religious writing.

<sup>19</sup> The Arabic word “shiaara,” the equivalent of the star Sirius—actually a double star (known as Sirius A and Sirius B, which orbit around each other in ellipses in a double bow every “49.9” years), appears only in Surat an-Najm. The larger of these is Sirius A, which is also the closer to the Earth and the brightest star that can be seen with the naked eye. Sirius B, however, cannot be seen without a telescope.

Nobody could have known this scientific fact at the time of the revelation of the Qur’an that “it is He who is the Lord of Sirius” (Qur’an, 53.49); and, “He was two bow-lengths away or even closer” (Qur’an, 53.9) once again proving that the Qur’an is the Word of Almighty Allah.

interference of Satan to strengthen His Signs. Allah is All-Knowing—and has full knowledge of the mischief worked by the djinn and of its effects, and being All-Wise, He counteracts every mischief of the devil.

Allah fulfilled the Prophet’s desire and made his mission successful, eradicating all the doubts and objections inspired by Shaytan in the hearts of the people and confirming to the truth of His recitation by fulfilling His promises to the Prophet—clarifying any confusion about “any verse” of the Qur’an in subsequent revelations

Now consider it for yourself as to how irrational are the beliefs that you are following persistently and as to whom you are causing loss by opposing and resisting the person who is guiding you to the right way. In this connection, especially the three goddesses that were worshipped generally by the people of Makkah, Taif and other parts of Hejaz have been taken as an example. About them, they have been asked: Have you ever considered rationally whether they could have even the slightest role in the affairs of the godhead of the earth and heavens? Much less, could they bear any relationship whatever with the Lord of the Universe?

Al-Uzzá—“the full moon”

Al-Uzzá (derived from izzat’, meaning “the one woman enjoying veneration and respect”) was a virgin warrior, or “bellatrix” (“warrior-woman”), and youngest in the triad; she was “the Strong One,” “the Most Mighty” and “the Mighty One” (associated with Greco-Roman Venus-Aphrodite Urania (“Heavenly Aphrodite”). As mentioned supra, she was a pre-Islamic Arabian goddess... as well as one of the most venerated pagan Arab deities... the goddess of the morning and evening star (i.e., the planet Venus). She was a blood-thirsty goddess who required sacrifices: both animal and human. Her idol was situated in a valley in Nakhlat al-Sha’miyah.

Al-Uzzá had a temple at Petra (though which one that this was has not been determined), and may well have been the patron goddess of that city. Isaac of Antioch (5th century) calls her Beltis (“Lady,” a title shared by many other Semitic goddesses) and Kaukabta, “the Star.” He also says that “women would invoke Al-Uzzá from the rooftops—appropriate worship for a “Star Goddess.” St. Epiphanius (4th century) called her “mother of Dusares”—a local mountain god, calling her by the title Chaamu or Chalmous, meaning “young girl or virgin.”

She has much in common with Ishtar and Astarte as both Morning and Evening Star goddesses—and has aspects of both Love and War goddess, and big cats were sacred to her: Cf., Sekhmet (Sakhmet) the fierce lioness with a solar disk/sun disk and uraeus on her head, one of the oldest known Egyptian healing deities, and goddess of the sun, fire, war, destruction, plagues and justice before whose blood-lust evil trembles: She was often closely associated with Hathor, “Lady of the Sycamore” (the goddess of joy, music, dance, sexual love) and Saosis/Iusaaset—the primordial “Mother Goddess” in Ancient Egyptian religion, and feminine counterpart to the male creator deity Atum.

Al-Uzzá is depicted as standing before a “psychedelic” acacia tree—a symbol of life, death, immortality and resurrection, and the magic of healing—in the Garden of Heliopolis (said to have produced the prominent Egyptian god and goddess, Isis and Osiris—the green-skinned god of the underworld, lord of the afterlife and judge of the dead, and linked to the metaphorical death-and-rebirth cycles of the Sun, Venus and Moon, celebrated during the winter solstice, spring equinox, moon phases, 8-year Venus-Earth cycle and the rare Venus transit of the Sun). Note: Al-Uzzá’s sanctuary at Nakhlah had three acacias in which she was believed to have lived, descending with a caracal, or desert lynx: (Cf., Bastet the cat goddess, which lived in the “sacred ished (or persea) tree of life” in the time of her killing the evil snake god Apep).

Originally Sabean (the culture of the Kingdom of Saba or Sheba in the south of Arabia, present-day Yemen) worship of al-Uzzá spread all over Arabia. Some believe she may have been the patron deity of Mecca—the special goddess of the Quraish tribe (of which the Prophet belonged); her shrine was situated at Hurad in the valley of Nakhlah, between Mecca and Taif. The people of Bani Shaiban, who were the allies of the Bani Hashim, were its attendants. The Quraish and the people of other tribes paid visits to ‘it’ and presented offerings and made sacrifices to her thereat.

Al-Lat—“the virgin first quarter moon”

The full moon is the most powerful phase of the entire lunar cycle. Al-Lat, whose name is a contraction of al-Ilahat (“the Goddess”—the feminine gender of Allah); this word was originally “allahatun,” which became al-Lat. She is mentioned by Herodotus as Alilat, whom he identifies with Aphrodite. She is sometimes also equated with Athene, and is called the “Mother of the Gods,” or “Greatest of All.” She is a goddess of springtime and Fertility, the Earth-Goddess who brings prosperity. She and Al-Uzza were sometimes confused, and it seems that as one gained in popularity in one area the other’s popularity diminished.

The “sun” in Arabia was called Shams and considered feminine, and may represent an aspect of al-Lat. She had a sanctuary in the town of Ta’if (east of Mecca) and the Bani Thaqif were so devoted to it. She was known from Arabia to Iran, and her symbol is the crescant moon (sometimes shown with the sun disk resting in its crescent), and the gold necklace she wears is from a pendant identified to her. As a fertility goddess she bears a sheaf of wheat—and, in her hand, she holds a small lump of frankincense as her emblem, which can be found carved on many incense-holders.

Al-Manat—“The Third Quarter Moon”

Al-Manat or Manawayat—the waning moon over her head, symbolic of her as a crone-goddess of “death” or “fate”, whose name is derived from “maniya” meaning “frenzy of love,” was the personification of “fate, destruction, doom, death—she was renown as “menata” (“part, portion, that which is allotted,“ i.e., “Time”) and was particularly worshipped as “a black stone.” She is a very ancient deity and her cult may precede both al-Uzzá and al-Lat. Her cult was widespread, and her shrine was at Quidaid (by the Red Sea, close to Mecca)—and the people of Khuzaah and the Aus and Khazraj tribes of Medina were her greatest devotees. In the Hajj months, as soon as the pilgrims became free from their visits to the Kabah and the religious services at Mina and Arafat, they would visit her shrine, circumambulate it, and made offerings and sacrifices to her. Thus was se connected with the great pilgrimage—and her sanctuary was the starting point for several tribes.

She is known from Nabatean inscriptions—and tombs were placed under her protection—asking her to curse violators. As a goddess of death and as maniya (“death personified”), she is mentioned in poetry as actively bringing a person to his or her grave, holding out the cup of death. Hence, she is shown as an old woman with a cup, and the symbols at the bottom of her gown spell her name in Sabaic (which does not use vowels and is written right to left), M-n-t.

Muhammad was Born a Pagan

It is an uncontestable fact that Muhammad was born of pagan parents. His father, Abdullah, and his mother, Amina, were both pagans and they used to worship many idols. His entire childhood (probably up to his teens) was spent in paganism. To this day, many Muhammadans will find it extremely hard to digest this fact; however, Muhammad’s pagan origin is disclosed by Hisham al-Kalbi, Kitab al-Asnam , who writes:

Book of Idols, p.17

“We have been told that the Apostle of Allah once mentioned al-Uzzá saying: I have offered a white sheep to al-U’zzá, while I was a follower of the religion of my people.”

In the statement above Muhammad clearly admits his past adherence to paganism—the then popular religion of the Quraysh.

Whence Muhammad grew weary from evangelizing his new religion with little success and to bring an end to his quarrel with his people, the Quraysh, Muhammad, in a moment of weakness, made the ultimate concession in the Qur’an of “Ishrak” (“polytheism”) to the effect that his followers, the “Muslims” were allowed to venerate the daughters of Allah as Allah’s intercessors... instantly compromising his originally strict monotheism. The pagan female trinity was immediately accepted... without dissent... and the idolatrous passage was considered part of the revealed Qur’an.

Muhammad abrogated this enormous error, denying his culpability in the matter, conveniently accusing Shaytan of having put the offending words in his mouth. Muhammad thence received a “made-to-order revelation” from Allah, sanctifying the removal of the offending verse.

After repenting his error and destroying the idols and their temples (in 630 AD), the Prophet was comforted by Allah.

ENDNOTE
Ever-Virgin Mary

Maryam, the mother of Isa (Jesus), holds a singularly exalted place in Islam as the only woman named in the Qur’an, which refers to her 70 times and explicitly identifies her as the greatest of all women—a “virgin” (q.v.) pledged to be married to Habib Al-Najjar (“the Carpenter”), known to Christians and Jews as Joseph of Antioch (c. 30-40 CE.

According to the Holy Bible, Joseph was begotten of both Jacob, his putative father who fulfilled his yibbum responsibility as goel—descended from Solomon and of Heli—descended of Nathan the Prophet, a son of Shepherd-King David, the younger brother which died without issue: St. John Damascene purposes that “on the death of Mathan, Melchi, of the tribe of Nathan, the son of Levi and brother of Panther, married the wife of Mathan, Jacob’s mother, of whom he begat Heli. Therefore Jacob and Heli became brothers on tile mother’s side, Jacob being of the tribe of Solomon and Heli of the tribe of Nathan.<sup>20</sup> Then Heli of the tribe of Nathan died without any children, and Jacob his brother, of the tribe of Solomon, took his wife to raise the seed to his brother and begat Joseph. Joseph, therefore, is by nature the son of Jacob, of the line of Solomon, but by law he is the son of Heli of the line of Nathan.” Moreover, Nathan is the ancestor of the Virgin Mary, whilst Solomon is the ancestor of her husband, Joseph—the adoptive father of Jesus son of Mary and son of Panther.

Joseph was born c. 100 BC and died in Israel, circa 1 AD. In another early text, “Historia Josephi Fabri Lignari” (“The History of Joseph the Carpenter”) which was composed in Byzantine Egypt in Greek between the 6th and 7th centuries, Christ Iselt tells the story of his step-father, claiming Joseph was 90 years old when he married Miriam “the hairdresser” and died at age 111: (The circumstances of Joseph’s death are not known, but it is likely that he died before Jesus’ ministry began).

Ancient Jewish custom (and some apocryphal accounts), state that Mary was a “child-bride” betrothed age 12-to-14. In the Gospel of Matthew, Joseph dreams of the archangel Gabriel, and obeys his direction to wed Mary. After marrying her, Joseph learns that she was already pregnant—her having been raped by Pantera, a Roman legionnaire—thus it is that she didst miraculously conceive through the power of the Holy Spirit (q.v.)...and so is it that her son was born without sexual intercourse; but, being “a just man” and “unwilling to put her to shame,” he decides to divorce her quietly, knowing that if he did so publicly, she could be stoned to death as an adulteress.

The Eastern Orthodox Church holds that Joseph was a widower and he merely betrothed, but never married Mary, and names his first wife as Salome—and references to Jesus’ “brothers (and sisters)” are children of Joseph and Salome.

The Qur’an refers to Maryam more often than the Holy Bible, stating, with reference to Jibrā’īl’s angelic salutation: “O Mary, God has chosen you, and purified you; He has chosen you above all the women of creation.” In the Bible, Archangel Gabriel’s “Annunciation to the Blessed Virgin Mary” informs her that she would give birth to a son, whom she shouldst name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is “God with us” or “YHWH is salvation,” and that He wouldst extricate people from their sins, saying: “Greetings, you are highly favoured! Be not afraid for the Lord is with you”—interpreted as the “rapist announcing his intention.”

“The ‘Angelic’ Pesher”
(“Interpretation of ‘the Coded message’”)

Scriptural books are connected, thus a passage or verse in one book could be interpreted or clarified by passages or verses either found later in the same book, or even another text—this process of “thematic pesharim” (which was both a refinement and a development of a particular exegetical motif originally employed by certain of the Dead Sea Scrolls writers): In Qumran texts, it usually occurs after a biblical quotation, introducing its interpretation. A pseudo-science, practiced by the Essene community since its inception, was rediscovered by Barbara Thiering, whom hath deciphered (i.e., “peshered”) it that an “angel” was “a priest next in status below the high priest.”

<sup>20</sup> David married the widowed Bathsheba, but their first child died as punishment from God for David’s adultery and murder of Uriah. David repented of his sins, and Bathsheba later gave birth to Solomon. Cf. the sacrifice of the “firstlings” by Abel, Abraham’s sacrifice of Ishmael—a ram with its horns in a bush (cf. the “burning bush” which commanded Moses upon Sinai): Abraham gave up his Syrian mother-tongue for Hebrew, Isaac’s of Esau—whose birthright was traded for a “bowl of red porridge” and Joseph’s “double portion” amongst the Tribes of Israel...

In itself, the word “pesher” means “interpretation”—and is a form of Bible exegesis which seeks to determine the significance of an already existing “coded” prophetic text. These “coded messages” were invented during the era of the Judean Revolt, launched by the priest Mattathias, which lasted from 167-to-160 BC, being led by the Maccabees against the Greek Seleucid Empire and establishing a precedent as the world’s first religious war. At the time of the creation of the Dead Sea Scrolls, the “pesher technique” was used by the Qumran Essenes; lead by Saint John the Baptizer (“Teacher of Righteousness”) to secret messages so that the occupying Roman Empire couldst not recognize the “truth” if any of the scrolls fell into their possession.

In the first book of Luke, the “Archangel Gabriel” was the Abiathar priest—subordinate of the Zadokite priest in the hierarchy. The two priestly lines are endorsed in the Dead Sea Scrolls: “The War of the Sons of Light against the Sons of Darkness,” also known as “War Rule,” “Rule of War” and the “War Scroll”—a manual for military organization and strategy that was discovered among the Dead Sea Scrolls: IQM 17.3 is based on Num 25:13: “And he shall have it, and his seed after him, even the covenant of an everlasting priesthood; because he was zealous for his God, and made an atonement for the children of Israel” (q.v.).

Christ Jesus

Isā ibn Maryam (Jesus or Yeshua ben Pantera, i.e., “son of panther”) is the penultimate prophet and messenger of God (Allah) and the Messiah, sent to guide the Children of Israel with a new revelation: Injil (Arabic for “the gospels”). Muslims believe He will return to Earth before the Day of Judgment to restore justice and defeat al-Masih ad-Dajjal, or “the false messiah”—known as the Antichrist.

He is thus the most mentioned person in the Qur’an by reference, 25 times; by the name Isa—third-person; 48 times; first-person, 35 times; and the rest as titles and attributes. Notwithstanding, the Qur’an denies Jesus is the son of God in several verses, including Surāt 5 Al-Ma’idah (“The Table Spread with Food”): <sup>116</sup> And imagine when thereafter Allah will say: “Jesus, son of Mary, did you say to people: ‘Take me and my mother for gods beside Allah?’” And He will answer: “Glory to You! It was not for me to say what I had no right to. Had I said so, You would surely have known it. You know all what is within my mind whereas I do not know what is within Yours. You, indeed You, know fully all that is beyond the reach of human perception.” Thus quoting Jesus as denying he is the son of God.”

The Christians were not content merely with deifying Jesus and the Holy Spirit. They even turned Mary, the mother of Jesus, into a full-fledged object of worship. The Holy Bible, though, does not contain even the remotest suggestion that Mary was in any way either divine or superhuman. During the first three centuries after the Messiah, such a concept was totally alien to early Christian thinking.

Towards the end of the 3rd century AD, some theologians of Alexandria employed, for the first time, the expression “Mother of God” in connection with Mary. Subsequently, belief in Mary’s divinity and the practice of Mariolatry began to spread among Christians. Even then, however, the Church was not prepared to accord official approval to this belief and denounced the Mariolaters as heretics. It was not until the Council of Ephesus in 431 AD that the Church officially used the expression “Mother of God” for Mary. The result was such that, by the time of the revelation of the Qur’an, Mariolatry began to spread fast within the Church itself, so much so that Mary had become so important a deity that she obscured even the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost. Statues of Mary adorned the cathedrals. She became the object of rites and worship; people addressed their prayers to her; she was regarded as the one who responded to people’s supplications, who heeded peoples grievances and complaints, who relieved them in distress, and who provided support and succor to the helpless. For a devout Christian there could be no greater source of comfort and inner strength than the belief that they enjoyed the support and patronage of the “Mother of God.”

In the preamble of his code, Justinian had declared Mary to be the defender and supporter of his empire, and his general, Marses, sought Mary’s guidance on the battlefield. Heraclius, a contemporary of the Prophet had an image of Mary on his standard and he was confident that by her grace the standard would never be lowered. Several centuries later the Protestants argued strongly against Mariolatry during the movement which led to the Reformation. The Roman Catholic Church has, nevertheless, managed so far to cling to Mariolatry in one form or another.

You may be surprised to learn that many traditions of Roman Catholicism in fact don’t come from Christ’s teachings but from an ancient Babylonian “Mystery” religion that was centered on Nimrod, his mother-wife Semiramis, and a child Tammuz. In “The Two Babylons” by Alexander Hislop (1903) it is shown how this ancient religion transformed itself as it incorporated Christ into its teachings. You may be surprised that certain practices like confessions, and crossing ones self, the rosary, and even the position of the Papacy became corrupted with the traditions of this pagan mystery cult... as were the “Satanic Verses.”

Drawing upon his deep training in Illuminati tradition as a Luciferian Witch, Joseph “Doc” Marquis conclusively proves that Roman Catholicism is identical to Ancient Babylonian Witchcraft! Doc begins by proving that the Catholic Virgin Mary, the Queen of Heaven is identical to Semiramis, the Queen of Heaven in Babylonian Witchcraft!

And Israel’s worship of the “Queen of Heaven” is one of the major reasons God cast Israel into the 70-year judgment at the hands of King Nebuchadnezzar? Yet, Catholicism continually urges her people to worship Mary as the Queen of Heaven! Doc also proves that the Catholic Mass is identical to the Babylonian Black Magick Mass—a most interesting revelation—both masses use the same elements, laid out in the same manner—thus, they are identical.

Tens of millions visit apparition sites hoping to encounter the Blessed Virgin Mary. Many believe that these increasing manifestations, as Our Lady of Lourdes or of Fátima, signal the advent of a new era—end-times and hell on earth. Thousands of messages from the apparition of Mary indicate that we are entering < idea in the whole of the Qur'an which, in any way shape or form, is equal to, or superior to any thing that the Qur'an hath plagiarize, plundered, pirated and/or perverted from the Holy Bible and/or the traditions of their gadom Satanic half-brothers, the Talmudic Zionists, or others.

In fact, most of the Qur'an only paraphrases and recites in a different manner episodes, precepts and laws copied entirely from the Bible and Hebrew Scriptures as well as the Christian New Testament Gospels and the scriptures, traditions and fetishes. Contrary to all the devilish lies and falsified assertions made by Muhammadan theologians and historians, the Qur'an itself and the Hadiths show, that "Islam" was never a religion of peace—infer. Read Suras 2:190-92; 4:74-76; 5:34/5; 8:39, 65; 9:5, 29, 73; 47:8 for a few examples).

The Muhammadan version of Islam flourished because of its propensity for aggression, terror, pillage, rape and plunder during the life of the Prophet, on his orders, and by his examples—infer.

Muhammad’s followers continued the violent processes of conquest and subjugation in the Arabian Peninsula to start with, followed by jihadic invasions of many countries and imposing upon millions of peoples on three continents, Muhammad’s Arabian version of Islam... not through dialogue or conviction, but by force, terror and oppression.

In this present day-and-age, as it was in the past, it is not “Islam” that is holding the Muhammadans back, but the self-appointed theologians and religious leaders who cling tenaciously to outdated, unverifiable and irrational, mostly fabricated traditions—as radical cleric Ayatollah Khomeini, the blind sheikh Omar Abdel-Rahman, Khalid Sheikh Mohammed—one of Bin Ladin’s most-trusted and senior lieutenant and regarded as “the principal architect of the 9/11 attacks,” ISIL leader Abu Bakr al-Baghdadi—an untamed “Wahhabist” Hajji Abdallah—terrorist leader of ISIS.

ENDNOTE

Jewish Temple Prostitutes

[The following subject matter was introduced in a previous installment of “Are you ready for a Tenth Crusade? The Pre-Islamic ‘paynim’ Creator God”: Fathers of Islam—“The Family of Imran” viz. Volume 1, Issue 1.

The apocryphal Protoevangelium of James gives the story of Saint Joachim and Sainte Anne as the parents of the Virgin Mary: [Refer to endnote, Ever-Virgin Mary Issue 2, “Are you ready for a tenth crusade?"]. When Maryam was three years old, Joachim and Anne, in fulfillment of her divine promise, brought Mary to the Temple of Jerusalem, where they left her to be brought up as a “temple prostitute” (i.e., “a virgin”).

Inanna and Enki c.1.3.1

“Where is the office of egir-zid priestess, the office of nin-diḡr priestess, the office of išib priest, the office of lu-maḡr priest, the office of gudug priest?” “My master has given them to his daughter”

Similarly, Babylonian texts depict Lilith as the prostitute of the goddess Ishtar (Inanna)—a goddess associated with love, beauty, sex, fertility, war, justice and political power. Older Sumerian accounts assert that Lilitu the Night-hag, the “handmaid of Inanna” or “hand of Inanna,” had been the first wife of Adam (in Talmudic folklore), and in this sense is comparable to Hagar. In Semitic legend, she thought herself Adam’s equal, and whence he went to “lay on her belly” (i.e., in the dominant sexual “missionary position”), she refused and was thus banished to haunt desolate places as a nocturnal vampyric demones—snakelike below her navel and having dragon-wings—although a terracotta relief from Sumer depicts her as being human but having taloned feet like a bird. More-so, she is a wild-haired succubus which seduces sleeping men (in “wet dreams”) or men which spill seed by masturbating thereby birthing ‘liln’ demons—ferus humans with reptilian wings and unguulate hooves. She is a harlot and her breasts are dry and shriveled and she is hateful of children, sucking their blood and strangling them in their sleep—especially those conceived in “unnatural” positions.<sup>25</sup>

Thus, her legend is meant to fill the gap between the two accounts of creation in Genesis.

Amongst the oldest of deities, Inanna had a lover named Dumuzid—the Greek myth of Aphrodite and Adonis. Dumuzi, a fertility god associated with spring renewal, was also known as Tammuz the “Sipad” (“shepherd”), the primary consort of the goddess Ishtar (Inanna). In Sumerian mythology, Dumuzid’s sister was Geshtinanna, a fertility goddess of agriculture and dream interpretation: (In this context they can be compared to Cain and Abel the sons of Adam and Eve).

Various votive cuneiform tablets in the name of Inanna are known, such as a lament by Inanna over the destruction of her cities and shrines of orgiastic ritual prostitution, contrasting her humiliation with her previous power. There are parallels with well-known myths dating from the late-3rd and 2nd millennia BC—such as the Sumerian version of the myth of Inanna’s descent to the netherworld—demonstrating the very long-lived literary tradition maintained by the temple scribes of Mesopotamia.

She was known as the “Queen of Heaven” and was the patron goddess of the Eanna temple at the city of Uruk.<sup>26</sup> which was her main cult center. More-so, she was associated with the planet Venus and her most prominent symbols included “the lion” and “the eight-pointed star.”

In the Ancient Near East, cultic temple women (such as Tamar) were called “qadištu” and served as consecrated sodomites—dedicated to abominable worship of the fertility goddess Astarte and/or as part of Canaanite Astaroth (Venus-Aphrodite) worship: Her priests were eunuchs in women’s attire.

The Babylonian Talmud contains numerous references to ritual prostitutes as “Holy harlots in the service of God”— using two different words for prostitute, “zonah” (ordinary prostitute) and “kedeshah” from Akkadian “qedesha” (“sacred prostitutes”): Tamar adopted the professional dress of a kedeshah to ensnare Judah (Gen. 38. 21). [According to a Quabbalaistic legend Ruth is, in fact, the re-incarnation of Tamar.

Matthew 1:5

Naomi and her daughter-in-law Ruth, a Moabite—“widows” (occasionally interpreted as a lesbian couple): Naomi prostitutes Ruth to Boaz, having selected him over younger men and thereby putting her at risk of never producing children—one of the ultimate purposes of a woman’s life in the ancient world. Rahab, the harlot of Jericho—a paragon of virtue—was the mother of Boaz.

Sex is a religious act, and in Judaism—and this is especially true when the sexual union in question is that of a high priest and his wife.

Leviticus 21 puts certain restrictions on which a high priest may marry: “And he shall take a wife in her virginity. A widow, or one divorced, or a profaned woman, or a harlot, these shall he not take; but a virgin of his own people shall he take to wife.” According to the Mishna, Yevamot 59a: At issue is the condition of a woman’s hymen: By the time she is an adult, the rabbis believe, her “hymen has worn away,” so that she can no longer be considered “in her virginity.”

A high priest is disqualified from marrying a non-virgin—generally a woman who has been sexually defiled through forbidden intercourse, but literally “a zona” (whore)—which infers “sex outside of temple prostitution” as opposed to “a kedeshah” (temple prostitute). Talmudic law specifies that a woman having sex with an animal does not render the girl a zona.

Yebhamot 11b: “Sexual intercourse with a little girl is permitted if she is three years of age.” Rabbis, though, are quick to argue that this quote has no relevant passage in Talmudic law. The Talmud relates that a virgin is entitled a higher dowry. While the tell-tale sign of virginity is the release of blood due to the breaking of the hymen on the wedding night, there are occasions when the hymen has already been broken such as when the woman suffered an injury. Furthermore, the Talmud states that a male child who has relations with a female adult causes her to be like one who was injured with a stick a sexual act with a male minor is not considered to be a loss of virginity because one of the participants is not fully active. While the female’s hymen may have been broken, she has not engaged in what can be classified as a sexual act (although it is certainly child abuse).

More-so, priests of Judaism are allowed to marry girls as young as three years of age (Sanhedrin 54b, 55b and Ketuvot 11b): “An adult male who has relations with a female child has not done anything because less than this (three years old) is like sticking a finger into an eyeball,” since the girl is too young for her hymen to be broken... thus, she is still considered a virgin.

Talmudic tradition also holds that if “a man commits sodomy with a boy under nine years of age with a child fewer than nine years is not like sex with a child above nine” and “sex with a child under three is not like sex with a child above three.” Sanhedrin 54b clarifies that pederasty with a child of less than nine is treated differently from pederasty with a child of more than nine years

Maimonides ((Laws of Forbidden Relations 1:14)): “Once a male has penetrated another male, if both are adults, they are stoned... if one was a minor but at least nine years and a day old, the active or passive adult is stoned while the minor is exempt. If the minor was exactly nine years old or less, they are both exempt. Still, it is fitting for the court to give lashes of insubordination to the adult for sleeping with a male, even though that male was less than nine.”

The very first commandment God gave humanity in the Bible is “be fruitful and multiply”—the reason a man is obligated to marry his dead brother’s widow—the commandment of levirate marriage is to allow the dead man a symbolic progeny. For a Jew, we read in Yevamot 61b, having children is a requirement for a holy life.

Leviticus 18:22: “You shall not lie with a male as with a woman; it is an abomination.” Leviticus 20:13: “If a man lies with a male as with a woman, both of them have committed an abomination; they shall surely be put to death; their blood is upon them.” Yet in Babylonian Talmud, Sanhedrin 54b it says: “When one has sex with a male, a youth is not like an adult, but when one has sex with an animal, a youth is like an adult.”]

The great Sod of the kadeshim (Baal temple sodomites) performed ritual homosexual acts in the Canaanite shrines and temples. A gallus (pl. galli) —the most infamous of all prostitutes—was a wandering beggar who became a eunuch priest of the Great Mother of the Phrygian Gods, Cybele, and her consort Attis, by performing voluntary self-castration—removing both the testicles and the penis with old-fashioned tools, such as sharp stones or Samian potsherds (relating to the Greek island, Samos), during an ecstatic celebration called the Dies sanguinis, or “Day of Blood,” which took place on March 24th—the 365th and last day of the year in many European implementations of the Julian calendar.

In the Hebrew Bible, kadeshim were men who had assumed a homosexual gender role and are consistently paralleled with the female equivalent: It says that the entire congregations of Kadeshim are equal with the priests. Kadeshim were common in Judea, and in 2 Kings 23. 7, we discover that these “consecrated pervers” were located “in the male shrine in the temple of the Lord, where the women wove hangings for the grove.”

“The Long Day of Missing Time”

In the Book of Joshua, the Israelite attack on Jericho—and the spoils reaped—are a dedication to God. Cf., the 9th century BC Mesha Stele, or Moabite Stone, whereof the Moabite vassal King Mesha commemorated his victory over the Israelites to his god, saying: “Chemosh said to me: “Go and seize Nebo from Israel,” and I went in the night, and I battled against it from the break of dawn until noon, and I took it, and I killed all of them—7000 men and boys and women and girls and maidens—for I dedicated all to Ashtar-Chemosh, and I took from there the vessels of Yahweh, and I dragged them before Chemosh.”

Mount Nebo in Jordan is the place wherefrom Moses was granted a view of the Land-Between-of Promise before he was deceived and murdered by rebellious Jews led by his father-in-law, Jethro (Reuel or Raguel), a shepherd-king of the Kenites (an itinerant tribe of Levantine metalsmiths) and high-priest of the Midianite “mountain god,” Yahweh and his Asherah (i.e., a sacred wooden totem pole which stood nearby Canaanite alters at cultic “high places” in Samaria, on the West Bank, and Teman, in Edom)—which both parallel the rejection of Christ Jesus by the Jewish Sanhedrin. Over time the fertility gods El and Baal were absorbed by Yahweh, whom inherited the winged goddess Asherah (“she who reads upon the sea”) as his wife.

In the Book of Deuteronomy, the Amorites occupied a territorial wedge which separated the two kingdoms of Ammon and Moab. They were a violent, corrupt and total immoral people—described in the Book of Joshua as the last remnants of the giants who once lived in Arabia. They worshipped Belu Sadi, the “Lonesome Lord of the Pure-Shining Mountain” and his wife, Bêlit-Seri, the “Lady of the Desert”—an underworld deity and recorder of the dead (i.e., a scribe).

Soon after entering into the Land-Between-of Promise, Joshua son of Nun led the Israelites in massacres at the nearby cities of Jericho and Ai—where-at 12,000 men and women were murdered—no man, woman, or child, nor elderly, neither animal were spared (Joshua, Chapters 5-10).

Following this, the Hivite king of Gibeon for fear sued the Israelites for peace on false terms; whence their deception was found out, Joshua forced them to become woodcutters and water-carriers for the Israelites. After the Gibeonites were thus enslaved by the Israelites, their city was besieged by a coalition of five Amorite kings led by King Adoni-Zedek the Jebusite of Jerusalem (Lord of Righteousness). The other Hurrian “maryannu” (“warrior-class chariotcers”) of Canaan: King Japhia of Lachish—a principal Canaanite city second only to Jerusalem in importance, King Hoham the Hethite of Hebron, King Piram of Jarmuth, and King Debir of Eglon.

The Amorites were defeated with great slaughter by Joshua on “the long day of missing time” as recorded in the Book of Jasher, Chapter 88:

<sup>63</sup> And when they were smiting, the day was declining toward evening, and Joshua said in the sight of all the people, Sun, stand thou still upon Gibeon, and thou moon in the valley of Ajalon, until the nation shall have revenged itself upon its enemies.<sup>64</sup> And the Lord hearkened to the voice of Joshua, and the sun stood still in the midst of the heavens, and it stood still six and thirty moments, and the moon also stood still and hastened not to go down a whole day.<sup>65</sup> And there was no day like that, before it or after it that the Lord hearkened to the voice of a man, for the Lord fought for Israel.

Now, the five kings had fled and hid in a cave at Makkedah.<sup>27</sup> But Joshua put the kings to death and exposed their bodies on five poles, and they were left hanging on the poles until evening (cf. the death of Jesus on a dogwood post—from the Greek word “stauros,” which means “stake” or “pole”).<sup>28</sup> That day Joshua took Makkedah and put the city and its king to the sword and totally destroyed everyone in it. He left no survivors. And he did to the king of Makkedah as he had done to the king of Jericho.

Joshua thence led the Israelites to several more genocidical victories. The whole region was subdued—including the hill country, the Negev, the western foothills and the mountain slopes. He left no survivors—together with all their kings, he totally destroyed all who breathed, just as the Lord God of Israel hadst commanded him. These are seven nations which were exterminated (as follows): Hittites, Girgashites, Amorites, Canaanites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebusites, ultimately conquering much of Canaan.<sup>29</sup>

The Battle of the Vale of Siddim

It was only after Abram deceived Nimrod, the son of Semiramis, into building the “Tower of Babel”—whence the black-skinned Nogs (Australopith hominini) and their Lemurian cousins, the slant-eyed Dinx (Denisova hominins) sub-races—descended from “upright walking” “tool-using” Homo ergaster—were invited to migrate into the realm of Ayana to do the hard, dirty work that the red-blond-haired blue-green-eyed White Hyperborean races were dispossessed of their birthright in the Land Between the Two Rivers... thus didst the descendants of Japheth travel north with their language into the coastlands around the Caspian, Black and Aegean Seas, and the brown-eyed black-haired descendants of Ham traveled southwest with their language into the lands of Egypt, Libya, Kush and Nubia and the descendants of the Semites traveled west with their language into the land of the Levant between their kinsmen.

One day, Abram son of Terach the idol-manufacturer (a metaphor for “a major ideologist and opinion-molder in the society in which he lived”) who worshipped the “moon god Zu-en (Sin) of Ur Kasdim and Haran” “stole a basket of bread from a woman” and “smashed and defaced all the graven images dwelling in his father’s house, which his father hadst so fashioned of unbaked clay,” “putting a hammer into the hands of their chief, Nannar”: When Terach polytheistic son of Nahor son of Serug threatened to stone his son, Abram rebelled and killed his brother Haran in the presence of his father and fled the realm with his nephew, Lot son of Haran. [This story is analogous to Muhammad cleansing the Kaaba of its 360 idols and the hijra (“migration to Medina”).] (Cf. sūrah Al-Ambiyā’ “The Prophets” 21—a Meccan sūrah of tripartite composition illustrating common notional doctrines embodied in the Day of Judgment, the fates of the disbelievers and the believers, and the mercy of God).]

<sup>27</sup> During the migration to Medina, Muhammad and Abu Bakr were being hunted by the Quraysh—a mercantile Arab tribe that historically inhabited and controlled Mecca and its Ka’aba (who were looking to kill them). They sought refuge inside the cave of Ghar Sawr on the mountain of Jabal al-Thawr—located 5 miles south of Mecca, which has many hill and caves. They remained hidden there-in for three days and three nights. Whilst inside the cave, a spider had spun a web across the entrance of the cave—and so, whence the people from Mecca saw this, thinking no one had entered into the cave, they left without causing harm to the prophet and/or his companion.

<sup>28</sup> The emperor Caligula (12-41 AD) had acquired the domus Gelotiana for the imperial palace on the Palatine Hill. After Caligula died, the house was used as a Paedagogium (boarding-school for the imperial page boys). Later the street on which the house was located was walled off to give support to extensions to the buildings above, and so it remained sealed for centuries. When the building was unearthed in 1857, a ridiculous graffiti was discovered (from the late-1st-to-late-3rd century) of a donkey-headed humanlike figure attached to a cross. To the left of the image is a young man, apparently intended to represent Alexamenos, who is raising one hand in a gesture, possibly a mocking depiction of a Christian in the act of worship. The portrayal of “Jesus” as having a donkey head and being crucified on “a cross”—an execution method for the worst criminals would have been considered insulting by contemporary Roman society. Crucifixion continued to be used until its abolition by Emperor Constantine in the 4th century.

This cartoon is possibly the earliest drawing of the crucifixion of Christ. It shows Christ on a cross, not a pole or a “torture stake,” with arms out-stretched to the left and the right. The fact that it was not drawn by a Christian adds to its significance as an independent indication of the nature of crucifixion and that this was the way that Christ died.

Moses used a “rod” on which to place Nehushtan the brazen wilderness viper. Cf. the emblem of a staff with a snake coiling round it which was chosen by the First World Health Assembly in 1948. It originates from the story of Asclepius, who was revered by the ancient Greeks as a snake-handling god of healing—and representative of fertility or a creative life force: As snakes shed their skin through sloughing, they are symbols of rebirth, transformation, immortality, and healing. More-so, representing the phallus, which is soft until it hardens in sexual excitement.

<sup>29</sup> Cf. the legend of the seven sleepers within the cave: A story of a group of pious Christian youths who hid within a grotto outside the city of Ephesus (c.250 CE) to escape a religious persecution by Roman Emperor Trajan, whom the Arabs called Daqyanoos (Decius). They only emerged some 300 years later—during which the calendar was changed from solar to lunar and, as a result, the period of their sleep was 309 years. Apart from Ephesus the location of the cave is said to be at Amman, in Jordan, according to an early Meccan surah—al-Khaf (“The Cave”), which summarizes the gist of Islam that Allah will protect “us” from all trials and during tribulations.

The purpose of Chedorlaomer’s campaigns was to show Elam’s might to all territories under Elamite authority. His armies and allies were provisioned with plunder taken by sword from several important tribes and cities which were en route to the revolting cities of the Jordan plain: The Rephaim in Ashteroth Karnaim, where King Og of Bashan had his residence; the Zuzim in Ham; the Emim in Shaveh Kiriathaim; the Horites in Mount Seir as far as El-paran near the wilderness; the Amalekites in Kadesh at En-mishpat; the Amorites in Hazezontamar; and the Canaanites of the cities of the Jordan plain. Joshua’s conquest of the seven nations (v.s.) shouldst be considered analogous.

Genesis 14 portrays King Kedorlaomer of Elam, “Grand Regent of the Lord’s High Country”—a servant of the Akkadian goddess La’omer (“no mercy”) as allied with three other kings, campaigning against the five Canaanite city-states which hadst angered Merodech for not supporting the building of his temples.<sup>30</sup> In response to an uprising in the days of Abram at the time whence his nephew Lot son of Haran (Abram’s brother) was dwelling with his wife, whom some call Ado or Idit (Edith), and their three daughters (some say four)<sup>31</sup> at the salt-gate to Sodom.

Nachor youngest son of Terah married his niece, Milcah (“queen”), the daughter of his eldest brother, Haran; their sister was Iscah (Sarai or Sarah)—sister-wife of Abram.

proto-pharaohic Honey Bee Queens of the Delta which mothered the Scorpion Kings, who ruled before Menes (Narmer).

Milcah was the grandmother of Rebecca, the wife of Isaac (younger half-brother of Ishmael)

The kingdoms of Sodom—its’ king Bera, who was evil to Heaven as well as to humans, who was the ringleader of the five rebellious kings, and Serak was Judge in Sodom—and Gomorrah—its king Birsha, who had risen to power by means of wickedness, and Sharkad was Judge in Gomorrah. And Sodom and Gomorrah were allied with the three cities in the Vale of Siddim: Zeboiim—its’ king Shemeber, who sent his war-chariots on wings of rebellion against God, and Menon was Judge in Zeboiim; and the necropolis city of Admah—its’ king Shinab, who hated our Father in Heaven; and Zabnac was Judge in Admah; and the oasis of Bela (Zoara)—it’s king Lot, which was spared death.<sup>32</sup>

The three sons of Kedorlaomer (Codorlaghomer) were: King Arioch of Sellasar (Ellasar), whom worshipped the moon god in the city of Sin—comparable to Haran, or Paddan-Aram, and it’s god-king Shem; King Amraphel the “Black-Headed” Cushite of “Ur of the Chaldees,” the abode of the moon god Nanna—comparable to the land of Sumer by the Sea of Shinar and it’s god-king Ham; and King Tidal of Goiim Kadosh (“the holy nations”)—comparable to the coastal lands of the Black Sea and Caspian Sea and it’s god-king Japheth, father of Europeans. These three sons of Noah were the progenitors of the White Race, which, with the exception of Ham; all had reddish-blond hair and blue-green eyes.

“The deeds of ancestors foreshadow the lives of their descendants”: (A bad example of this is that the ancestor of the dodo and the chicken is the T-Rex dinosaur).

Post-Script

Leviticus Rabbah, ch. 7

“We shall rise up and make the practice of hosting travelers pass into oblivion among us—for that they were sentenced to none other than fire.”

It so hap’t that an elderly Levite travelling from Ephraim * with his beautiful concubine † were passing through the rocky heights of the Benjaminite “hill city” of Gabaothsaul (Gibeah), which was located a league and a half (about 30 stadia) north of Jerusalem, whereat was worshipped the storm god Rimmon “the Thunderer”—an epitaph for Baal-Hadad. And these strangers were assailed by a Gabaothite mob, which wished to sodomize the Levite even as the Sodomites of Siddim didst so violate passing strangers in the vineyards of Gomorrah... and as those iniquitous heathens didst to the young virgin Palith bat Idit who was condemned to be “smeared with honey and given over to bees whereof she was stung to death” for giving bread to a poor man... even as they hadst burnt to ash poor Palith bat Ado who gave “a jar of flour and a cup of water” to the stranger’s wife. Yea, they wished to stretch and shorten the poor unfortunate to sanctify their “unholy bed of Sodom”; but the Levantine prostituted his concubine over to the “roaring” crowd... that they rape her in his stead—for the sexual violation of a woman is less shameful to men. [Book of Jashur, 19:1-60]

Thus didst “an unnamed woman” so perish, verily, she died as the sun arose o’er the “pomegranate grove of Ramah”: Thence didst the degraded Levite cut her body into twelve pieces, sending one part to each of the Twelve Tribes of Israel. [Judges 19:1-30]

This resulted in a battle, whereof the Israelites sought to avenge the rape and murder of the concubine at the scene of the inhumane crime, for which the Benjamites were killed, including women and children. Yea, the Benjamites were nearly exterminated at the Rock of Rimmon: on the very edge of the hill country, with a precipitous descent toward the Jordan valley a cliff or inaccessible natural fastness in which the 600 Benjamites who escaped took refuge... whereof they maintained themselves for four months after the slaughter of Gibeah.

* In the Book of Genesis, Ephraim is the second son of Joseph and Asenath, the daughter of Potipherah, a priest of On.

† Cf. this “unnamed pilegesh” to Hagar, Sarai’s Egyptian handmaiden (and mother of Ishmael).

Mary Jane Safekh-aubi (A.S.), “The Sword of Seshat”

<sup>30</sup> While God’s people were in the land of Shittim, the Midianites there deceived them, leading them into sexual immorality and idolatry. So God commanded Moses to take revenge on the Midianites and their chiefs: Evi, Rekem, Zur, Hur, and Reba. Every Midianite man was killed, including all five chiefs (Numbers 31.7–8). This battle was the last that Moses led before his death (verse 1).

<sup>31</sup> Lot had four daughters, two of whom were married, and two betrothed. The two married daughters were Zaghrata bat Idit and Raitsa bat Ado—both were killed with extreme avarice by their husbands and the families of the other two daughter’s future bridegrooms, which all died in the “fire and brimstone” that the four kings reigned down upon the Vale of Siddim during the slaughter of Chedorlaomer. Lot was taken away with his wife and their two surviving daughters after the destruction of the cities in the plain—but after his sodomistic wife looked aback with yearning for the gomorrhaithe idolatry of her people, Lot murdered her on an alter of limestone and gypsum in the sulphurous slime-pits and salt-marshes of the loathsome vale of unquenchable fire (Gen. Rabbah 50:9; Pirkei de-Rabbi Eliezer, ed. Higger chap. 25).

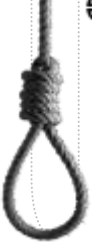

<sup>32</sup> As Rabbi Dr. Raphael Shohat has it: Shinar, as Onkelos renders it, was Babylon. The Tower of Babel was built in the land of Shinar (Genesis 11.2). Rashi, following the Midrash, identified Amraphel with Nimrod, who built Babylon (Gen. 14.1). A text was discovered in the archives of the city of Ugarit that mentions the name Amraph, without the “el.” Some people seek to identify Amraphel with the well-known Babylonian lawgiver, Hammurabi, also called Amorphi.

Rabbi Dr. Raphael Shohat, who teaches in the Department of Jewish Studies at Bar Ilan University (in the city of Ramat Gan in the Tel Aviv District, Israel—the second-largest academic institution in Israel)

<sup>25</sup> The stories about Lilith multiplied during the Middle Ages. She was, for example, identified as one of the two women who came before King Solomon for him to decide which one was the mother of a child they both claimed. Elsewhere she was identified as the Queen of Sheba.

<sup>26</sup> The Hebrew word “Bābel” (“confusion”) is used in reference to the Tower of Babel (Akkadian Bab-ili), but this is not sufficient to prove the identification of “the tower” with “the city” of Babylon (Gen. 11.1-9). E-temen-an-ki (“House of the foundation of heaven on earth”) was a giant mountain of bricks and tiles—a ziggrat with a temple to Marduk on top.

<sup>27</sup> Marduk defended the other gods against Tiamat (Tiamtu), a diabolical monster from the seacoast: Cf. Cetus the Kraken (See endnote “A Prophecy about the ‘Son of Man’”—Issue 5, Second of Three Parts: “Are you ready for a tenth crusade?”). After he had killed it, he brought order to the cosmos, built the Esagila, which was the center of the new world, and created mankind, saying to the other gods: ““Let us make men in our image” (Gen. 1.26)—the Etemenanki was next to the Esagila temple tower, the axis of the universe connecting earth and heaven. This aspect of Babylonian cosmology is echoed in the Biblical story, where the builders say “let us build a tower whose top may reach unto heaven” (Gen. 11.4). This is of special significance to the tragic New World Order 9-11 fiasco at the beginning of the 21st century.

“Are You Ready for a Tenth Crusade” or “The New World Order Global Caliphate”

To the Reader

The Canadian Constitution Act of 1982 simply states in its preamble that “Canada is founded upon principles that recognize the supremacy of God and the rule of law” and commences in detailing the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms which contains the basic rules about “natural persons” and “strawman entities,” such as the incorporated federal, and provincial and territorial governments in Canada. The Charter protects those basic rights and limited freedoms of a free and democratic country: For example, freedom of expression may be limited by laws against hate propaganda, namely degrading speech causing psychological injury or physical distress, or child pornography or propaganda advocating genocide. Everyone has freedom of conscience and religion, being guaranteed freedom of thought, belief, opinion and expression, including freedom of the press and other media of communication, and ensuring that every “natural person” and all “strawman entities” have equal standing and human dignity and are free to create and express their ideas. According to Section 319(1) of the Canadian Criminal Code it an offence to communicate expressions that bluntly malign in a public place or, by showing “willful blindness,” communicating statements other than in private conversation that publicly incite outright acts of violence and discrimination (i.e., hatred) against any identifiable group despite dissenting opinions.

The Five Signs of Dhuhur

There are “five signs for our Dhuhur” (the reappearance of the twelfth Imam) will take place in one year, one month and one day (at the same time), and they will be as a series of troubling events that are all connected by one string—and “woe” to those who dareth resist the ultimate Saviour of humankind:

1) There will be sedition in the Maghreb—a subregion of North Africa that is effectively a western part of the Arab world and is predominantly Muslim: Disorder, strife, and fear will emerge and proliferate to spread in every direction that no party or group could protect itself from it.

2) The prophetic Shia ruler of Yemen,<sup>33</sup> al-Yamani abu Naṣr Maṣṣūr (“the one who is victorious”) shall rise up from Yemen and appear to the people upon a pale horse, wearing a crown and bearing a white standard<sup>34</sup> to guide the faithful onto the right and true path... even as Sufyānī of Damascus begins his rise from Sham (Syria) to spread corruption and mischief on the earth: Yamani is one of descendants of Hasan ibn Ali—the eldest son of Ali ibn Abi Talib, a cousin and son-in-law of the Prophet Muhammad (regarded as the rightful immediate successor to Muhammad as an Imam by Shia Muslims) and Muhammad’s daughter Fatimah, the fifth of Rashidun (“Rightly Guided Caliphs”). The ethnic Turks of Khorasani will also rise from the northern part of the Khorasan province of eastern Iran on the borders of Afghanistan, as well as in the neighboring regions of Turkmenistan up to beyond the Amu Darya River. These Muslims will offer prayers in a language very similar to Azerbaijani... an Arabic dialect not taught in any school.

Yamani doth rise “conquering and to conquer,” it will be in the sacred month of Rajab, whereof battles are prohibited and the trading of weapons will be prohibited for every Muslim. When he rises join him immediately, for his flag is “the flag of guidance and prosperity” and no True Believer shouldst oppose it—any one who does so will go to hell, because Yamani calleth all to follow the right path.

3) The Hadda, “a great “hammering” voice” will fall from the sky [at the end of day on Thursday night, twenty-third day] of Ramadan (the ninth month, a month of fasting) at Al Jazira (in the Sham region)—a region largely between the Tigris and Euphrates rivers in the north of Iraq, having the largest population of maktoumeen (“those not appearing in the registers”) non-Arabs (“foreigners”) in Syria—sometimes defined as an area dominated by Damascus, long an important regional center: This sound, uttered by the archangel Gabriel, will be heard from near-and-far alike, awakening sleeping people, being heard by everyone of their own language.

4) A very pious and devout Muslim named Nafs-e-Zakiyyah—a descendant of Al-Husayn ibn Ali ibn Abi Talib, the younger brother of Ali ibn Abi Talib, will be slain without any sin and crime—infer.

5) There will be a terrible earthquake, anarchy and civil war in Syria—and the army of Sufyāni will be collapsed in the desert when the Earth opens up in a miraculous way to swallow the land of Khasf al-Bayda’, an area between Mecca and Medina—infer.<sup>35</sup> Moreover, a part of the Grand Mosque of Damascus<sup>36</sup> falls down and

<sup>35</sup> Tensions arose after the US withdrew from a 2015 nuclear deal between Iran and world powers. Iran unveiled three precision-guided missiles in 2019, to defend itself in the face of “viciousness and conspiracies” by Great Satan America and its mercenaries. The new line-up of air-to-air missiles dubbed the “Yasin”—a smart, guided missile with folding wings; “Balaban”—guided by GPS and sensors, being equipped with folding wings and capable of being mounted under aircraft; and a new series of the “Ghaem” heat-seeking missile: These were developed jointly by the ministry and Sa Iran, also known as Iran Electronics Industries. This constitutes a significant achievement of power and dignity for the Islamic Republic of Iran. They were unveiled amid tensions between Iran and the US and its allies in the Strait of Hormuz—a vital corridor linking oil-producing countries in the Middle East to markets in Asia, Europe and North America. Since May 2020, ships have been targeted in mysterious attacks, drones have been downed and oil tankers seized in the strategic waters.

Supported by the Arab coalition and the tribes, the Yemeni army continued its military operations on the Jawf, al-Bayda, and Marib fronts, achieving qualitative victories at the expense of the Houthi militia, liberating the area of al-Khusf and its entire surroundings in al-Jawf, and thwarted an attack by the Houthi militia towards the Muhamasheh in Khob and Al-Sha’f—the militias inflicted heavy losses. The blocks of blocks, al-Ashqaa, and al-Birsh east of Al-Jawf witnessed night clashes between the army and the militia, expanding to al-Khanjar and Barqi al-Ashra, in the Directorate of Khub and Al-Sha’f, during which those army forces supported by the Arab Coalition to Support Legitimacy managed to inflict great losses on the ranks of the militias and their military mechanisms, which were targeted by the coalition fighters.

The Arab Coalition Support Legitimacy fighters targeted military sites belonging to the militias, and destroyed three armories in Al-Jawf, Marib, and Hajjah, while militias continued their violations, and new sites were created in the vicinity of the city of Hays, south of Hodeidah. The three brigades belonging to the Yemeni army, in a large-scale military operation against the militias in Al-Bayda, which extended from Nata to Qaniyya, passing through the Directorate of Mines, and resulted in the first day of the strategic liberation of Al-Bayyad and Laban mountains in the mines, as those forces moved towards the Afar region, which runs from Al Bayda towards the capital, Sanaa.

In Hajjah, coalition fighters have dealt painful strikes on the militias, after targeting a series of raids on military sites and mechanisms in the districts of Abas, Hiran, and Mustaba, and the vicinity of Haradh and Midi. The coalition fighters targeted Houthi reinforcements in the Samin area of the Raydah district of Amran governorate, north of the capital, which was on its way to Al-Jawf junction, as well as a military position for the Houthis in Haidan, Saada.

In Hodeidah, military sources expected confrontations between the joint forces and the Houthi militia to erupt, in light of the latter’s continued escalation operations and the breach of the armistice, and have created sites west of the city of Hays, forcibly displacing the residents of those areas, to convert their homes and farms into military sites, and installed mortars, and deployed snipers. They looted civilian’s valuable belongings, and terrorized women and children. The locations of the Houthi militia were distributed in the areas of Beit Baysh, Bani Quba’a, and Triangle of Al-Aden from the north, and in the areas of Hilla, Al-Hamainiya, and Bani Zuhair, northwest of Hays.

<sup>36</sup> The Umayyad Masjid or the Grand Mosque of Damascus is one of the largest and oldest mosques in the world. It is the first monumental work of architecture in Islamic history. The spot where the mosque now stands was originally a temple dedicated to the idol Hadad in the Aramaean era (about 3000 years ago). When the Romans ruled Damascus a temple was built for the worship of Jupiter. It then became a Christian church dedicated to John the Baptist in the Byzantine era towards the end of the 4th century. Following the Battle of Yarmouk in 636 CE, Damascus was conquered by the Muslims, which shared the church building with the Christians for worship. The Muslims prayed in the eastern section of the structure and the Christians in the western side.

This collective use continued until the reign of the Umayyad caliph al-Walid I, when the prayer space became inadequate both in terms of capacity and the need for an architectural monument to represent the new religion. The caliph negotiated with Christian leaders to take over the space, and in return al-Walid promised that all the other churches around the city would be safe, with the addition of a new church dedicated to the Virgin granted to the Christians as compensation. The church was purchased from the Christians before being demolished and between 706 and 715 CE the current mosque was built in its place.

Construction of the new mosque was based on the mosque of the Prophet Muhammad in Madinah, which had many the Roman Byzantines will attack Ramla—between Jerusalem and Tel Aviv—the only city founded by the Arabs in Palestine during 1200 years of Muslim rule. When this happens, Kharashna, (Kharasta), a village of Shaam—a region which includes the modern countries of Syria and Lebanon will collapse into the earth and people will witness the rising of the Sunni tyrant Sufyāni<sup>37</sup> from the beautiful Wadi al-Yabis (Yabis Valley).<sup>38</sup> At that time there will be major conflict throughout the area until Syria is destroyed. The cause of its destruction will be the occurrence of three battle standards there-at; the red standard of communism (this infers either the former Soviet Union or China), the piebald standard of the Wahhabist Islamic State—a subject dealt with in the next issue of of “Are you ready for a tenth crusade”: The Judeo-Wahhabist House of Saud,<sup>39</sup> and the yellow standard of the Sunni tyrant Sufyāni.

functions: it was a place for personal and collective prayer, religious education, political meetings, administration of justice, and relief of the ill and homeless. The caliph asked and obtained from the Emperor of the Byzantine Empire for 200 skilled workers to decorate the mosque, as evidenced by the partly Byzantine style of the building. The new mosque was the most impressive in the Islamic world at the time, and the interior walls were covered with fine mosaics. The building became one of the marvels of the world, because it was one of the largest of its time. The exterior walls were based on the walls of the temple of Jupiter and measure 100 by 157.5 m.

The Umayyad Mosque holds special significance to Shi’ah Muslims, as this was the destination of the descendants of the Prophet, made to walk here from Iraq, following the Battle of Karbala, fought on 10 October 680 (10 Muharram in the year 61 AH of the Islamic calendar) between the army of the second Umayyad caliph Yazid I and a small army led by Husayn ibn Ali, the grandson of the Islamic prophet Muhammad.

<sup>37</sup> Cf., Abu Sufyan, whose given name was Sakhr (b. c. 565)—the son of Harb ibn Umayya, a leader of the Quraysh tribe of Mecca son of Umayya ibn Abd Shams (son of Abd Shams) of whom the Umayyad dynasty was named. His mother was Safiyya bint Hazn ibn Bujayr “the liver-eater.” The family belonged to the Banu Abd Shams clan of the Quraysh, the brother clan of the Banu Hashim—to which the Islamic prophet Muhammad belonged. Sufyan was wet-nursed for a few days by Halimah bint Abi Duayb, making him a foster-brother of Muhammad. He married his cousin, Jumanah bint Abi Talib, and they had a son, Ja’far.

Hind bint ‘Uthab daughter of Uthab ibn Rabia—a prominent leader of the Qurayza at Makkah, was an Arab woman who lived in the late-6th and early-7th century CE. She was the wife of Abu Sufyan ibn Harb, a powerful man of Mecca, and a staunch opponent of the prophet Muhammad and Islam. More-so, she was the mother of Muawiyah I, the founder of the Umayyad dynasty, and of Hanzala, Juwayriya and Umm Hakam. After the occupation of Mecca in 630, however, Hind accepted Islam and became a good and righteous Muslim as if there had been no enmity between her and the Messenger of Allah, verily; Islam wipes out all past sins.

Ḥamzah ibn ‘Abd al-Muṭṭalib was a foster brother, sahabi (companion) and paternal uncle of the prophet Muhammad. He was steadfast, strong and brave, but took little notice of Islam for the first few years and would not respond to Muhammad’s first appeal to the Hashemite clan in 613. But he converted in late 612. He was martyred in the Battle of Uhud on 22 March 625 (3 Shawwal 3 hijri): The Battle of Uhud was the second military encounter between the Meccans and the Muslims, after the Battle of Badr in 624, where a small Muslim army had defeated the larger Meccan army. Hind’s father, son, brother and uncle were all killed in that battle.

Jubayr ibn Mut’im pagan son of Mut’im ibn ‘Adi—the chieftain of the banu Naufal tribe (who died a non-believer but had possessed worldly traits described as good virtues) was one of the Meccan enemies of the prophet Muhammad who later accepted Islam. Wahshi ibn Harb (“savag son of war”) was his Abyssinian-Ethiopian slave and the most skillful spear-chucker in Makkah. Hind bint Uthab promised him manumission viz. “release from slavery” if he killed either the prophet Muhammad or Ali ibn Abi Talib—legendary Commander of the Faithful or Hamza ibn ‘Abdul—whom hadst killed her father at Badr.

During the Battle of Uhud Wahshi threw his javelin it went through Hamza’s abdomen and killed him. Wahshi then slit open his but she was unable to swallow the bite and spat it out. Then she went and mutilated Hamza, gouging out his guts, and thus made anklets, necklaces and pendants from his body, and, wearing these ghastly ornaments, brought his liver to Mecca,

The lower part of the valley includes the Jordan River segment south of the Sea of Galilee which ends at the Dead Sea.

Sufyānī of Damascus

This will be time that abū Sufyāni appears in the border area between Afghanistan, Iran and Turkmenistan, and initiate an uprising in the dry valley of Transjordan, killing children and ripping out the bellies of women, murdering those from the household of the prophets.

Sufyāni will move to seize Damascus, and he will gain much support from the nomadic Banu Qalbiyya, who believe in ‘Iṣmah and the divine Imamate; Inamiyyah partisans which follow the five tenets of the Mutazilite teaching: al-tawhid (Divine unity), al-’adl (Divine justice), ‘d wa-al-wa (Divine promise and threat), and al-manzilah bayn al-manzilatayn (“the place between the two places”) as well as the fifth, which commands the good and prohibits the evil, “al-amr bi al-ma’ruf wa-al-nahy ‘an al-munkar.”

Sufyāni will advance out of the depths of City of Jasmine to capture the rest of Syria, defeating the two other competing forces: Jabhat Fatah al-Sham, a Salafist jihadist organization known as al-Qaeda, and its’ spawn—the militant Islamic State of Daesh, better known in the West as the Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant (ISIL) or the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria (ISIS).<sup>40</sup> on earth, and ruled in antiquity by the primordial Canaanite god of the sea and of chaos.

Tihamah is bordered on the west by the Red Sea, on the north by Jordan, on the east by the Najd, and on the south by the ‘Asir Region, which shares a short border with the Saada Governorate of Yemen. Its’ largest city is Jeddah, the second largest city in Saudi Arabia, with the Islamic holy cities of Mecca and Medina being the fourth and fifth largest cities, respectively. Although the Hejaz is a part of the Ottoman railway network that ran from Damascus (in Syria) to Medina—and having a connection between Istanbul (Constantinople), the former capital of the Ottoman Empire and the seat of the Islamic Caliphate, it has no other significance in the Arab and Islamic historical and political landscape.

The Hashemite House of Hashim is the royal family of Jordan, which they have ruled since 1921, and were the royal family of the kingdoms of Hejaz (1916–1925), Syria (1920) and Iraq (1921–1958). The family ruled the city of Mecca continuously from the 10th century, frequently as vassals of outside powers, and were given the thrones of the Hejaz, Syria, Iraq and Jordan following their World War I alliance with the British Empire; this arrangement became known as the “Sharifian solution”: (Cf., “Balfour Declaration—infer).

The “Sharifian solution” was first put forward in 1918 by T.E. Lawrence of Arabia—an Englishman who was loved, trusted, and respected by the Arabs. It was a plan to install three of Sharif Hussein’s four sons as heads of state in newly created countries across the Middle East: his second son Abdullah ruling Baghdad and Lower Mesopotamia was assassinated in 1951, but his descendants continue to rule Jordan; his third son Faisal in Syria, and his fourth son Zeid in Upper Mesopotamia. The Sharif himself would not wield any political power in these places, and his first son, Ali would be his successor in Hejaz. The other two branches of the dynasty did not survive; Ali was ousted by Ibn Saud—the first monarch and founder of Saudi Arabia, after the British withdrew their support from Hussein in 1924/25, and Faisal’s grandson Faisal II was executed in the 1958 Iraqi coup d’état—refer to endnote: The Judeo-Wahhabist House of Saud.

The Balfour Declaration: In 1917, British Foreign Secretary Arthur James Balfour (PM UK 1902-05) endorsed a letter drafted by the banker, Alfred Milner to Lord Lionel Walter Rothschild, titular head of the British Jewish community, on behalf of his government—which is commonly known as the “Balfour Declaration”—stating British support creation of a Jewish homeland in Palestine. Alfred Milner was “more dangerous than Cecil Rhodes”—both men were ruthless warmongering imperialists and White supremacists with grand dreams of a global Imperial parliament, which saw the British Anglo-Saxons as “a superior race” and “the firstmost race in the world.”

One of the most important secret societies of the 20th century is called the Round Table. It is based in Britain with branches across the world. It is the Round Table that ultimately orchestrates the network of the Bilderberger Group, Council on Foreign Relations, Trilateral Commission and the Royal Institute of International Affairs. Alfred Milner was the Round Table’s official leader after the death of Cecil Rhodes, and the Round Table was funded by Lord Lionel Walter Rothschild.

The Rothschilds wanted Palestine as they had business interests in the Far East and desired their own state in that area along with their own military, which they could use as an aggressor to any state that threatened those interests.

<sup>40</sup> If either of these two terrorist organizations captures Damascus, the world will witness an unprecedented chain reaction. It would be the first time that al-Qaeda or Daesh controlled a national capital—one of the historical capitals of the Islamic caliphates: Damascus, Baghdad or Samarra.

The Ba’athist Syrian Arab Republic led by the Assads, who have ruled Syria since 1970, are Alawites—a version of Shiite Islam. With Russia’s diplomatic aid and arms, Iran’s economic and military advice, Lebanese Hezbollah and other Shiite Iraqi and Afghan fighters and the use of chemical weapons against its own people, the Assad regime has prevailed. Until now!

The aftermath of the fall of Damascus will bring a civil war throughout the Middle East, continued genocides and years of terrorist acts across the continents. If those two groups do not fight each other, it is likely they would fight Israel to take back the Golan Heights that Israel occupied in the 1967 war with the Arabs.

Imam al-Mahdi

The Last of the Twelve Imams Muhammad al-Mahdi—a “righteous redeemer” (whom many will mistake for Christ Messiah returning at “end times”) will hide himself but reappear to Yamani at Mecca—as if out of dreams—but the people of Mecca won’t accept his reappearance. Therefore, al-Mahdi will send a “saviour,” Nafs-e-Zakiyyah (“pure soul”)—the as an envoy to convey his oral message to the disbelieving people of Mecca.

“Moab shall become like Sodom and the Ammonites like Gomorrah” (Zeph. 2:9)

And whence Sufyani hears about the quick becoming of “Guided One,” he will send an army mounted on red horses from the west, waving a yellow flag and entering into Syria to seize and kill al-Mahdi; however, as the idolatrous people sit to feast and rise to play, committing acts of immorality and ritual murder, the earth will gape to swallow this army which exhausts itself even before it reaches al-Mahdi, as it so didst open as a funnel to devour all the fickle shriks of the incestuous House of Rueben (whose land lieth betwixt Ammon and Moab)—all those who followed after the sorcerer Samiri’s lowing—a screaming mandrake root (a hallucinogenic and narcotic aphrodisiac) in hand as he danced around the “auroch-god of gold.” Yea, the ground surely opened to devour the rebellious Phalluites Nemuel, Dathan, and Abiram, with all their families and possessions—all those who conspired with Kórach against Moses and Aaron—all those who listened to the “Parable of the Widow and her Two Daughters,” believing they wert wholly unprovided for. Thus, they all enjoyed a double punishment of being burned and buried alive... even those at a distance... those which went rolling into the quaking “mass grave.”

This event hap’t after Moses breakest the Twin Tablets of the Law... grinding them so into powder * which bloweth away in the wind... and the Holy Souls of the two four-winged keruvim perished forever from life. Such will it be that whence the assassins sent to slay al-Mahdi have perished that all the sinners will be arranged into three groups, whereof some shall be beheaded by the sword, and others perish in a plague or are swallowed by the waters.

Al-Masih ad-Dajjal

At the end-time of the apocalyptic resurrection, people will neither marry nor be given in marriage; summer will be without blooms and kine without milk, libertine women without modesty and rakish men, reaving brutes without valour—it will be a time of wrongful judgments and false precedents, the son will enter the father’s bed and the father will ravish his daughter.

Proverbs 6:16-19 lists seven things which are also abominations: "haughty eyes, a lying tongue, hands that shed innocent blood, a heart that devises wicked schemes, feet that are swift in running to mischief, a false witness who utters lies, and one who spreads strife among brothers."

It will, surely, be a time whence money hath no value and all the people will be warring at the same time but in different places and for diverse reasons—none of which is sensible a mischievous and evil personality and an ugly appearance, being of medium height, but fat; his face will be flat and ruddy, horrible to gaze upon, being

While Syria’s Sunnis—who make up to 85% of all Muslims—were the driving force of the Syrian rebels, the Syrian Alawite, Christians, Druze, Kurds and others support the Assad regime. After the fall of the Assad regime, the Syrian people’s different ethnic and sectarian components would cause the society to fray... resulting in unprecedented killing, torture, displacement of millions of refugee people, and the raping of enslaved women. Syria’s minorities would be persecuted under an extreme Sunni Islamic rule enforced by the Islamic State and/or al-Nusra Front, causing the collapse of the world relief system.

Hezbollah, the well-trained and armed militant Shiite group supported by Iran, has controlled Lebanon since the withdrawal of the Syrian army in 2005. The country’s Sunnis, Christians and Druze have resisted Hezbollah domination ever since. The removal of the Assad regime means the automatic removal of Hezbollah. With a Sunni-ruled Syria, ISIS and the other Sunni militant groups in Iraq will be encouraged and supported by Syria to prolong the civil war in Iraq. In the past, Turkey has viewed ISIL/ISIS as the lesser of two evils because the partial autonomy that the Syrian Kurds now enjoy makes its own Kurds bolder in their ambitions demands for independence of self-rule. A change in official policy would likely mean the terror groups would target Turkey as a new recruiting field. The same would likely apply in Jordan.

Early in 2020, even as Russian and Turkish delegations failed to reach an agreement at talks in Moscow aimed at easing the untenable tensions in Idlib. Syrian President Bashar al-Assad’s Syrian and Russian forces pressed an offensive on Idlib—the country’s last major rebel enclave, despite dire warnings by United Nations officials who warned of a humanitarian disaster in northwest Syria. About 900,000 people have been forced from their homes and shelters in less than three months, including some 500,000 children displaced by the violence, since Syrian government troops renewed the offensive on the region. UNICEF has called for the guns to fall silent as the biting cold, the lack of food and the desperate living conditions.

Moreover, there was an Israeli air attack on an arms depot in Qatifah, about 40km (25 miles) north-east of Damascus—shrapnel from the Israeli missiles hit homes in the Damascus suburbs of Hajira and Adlieh, killing three people there and wounding four. Israel also attacked five separate targets near Damascus, with missiles from the Golan Heights, including Lebanon’s Hezbollah, near Damascus. Israel has also in the past used Lebanon’s airspace to launch attacks on Syria, targeting Iranian and Iran-backed fighters in the desert near the historic central Syrian town of Palmyra.

The “one-eyed” false messiah Al-Masih ad-Dajjal the Antichrist will reign triumphant and conflict will tear apart every community... and fitnah (“slander”) in every home... and in every heart intoxicated with zina (“lewdness”). He will travel the whole world upon a strong black horse with a pair of scales in his left hand, saying, “A quart of wheat for a denarius, and three quarts of barley for a denarius, and do not harm the oil and wine!” And, leading an army of demons, he shall enter every city except Mecca and Medina: (Al-Mahdi soldiers will be tall, with long black hair and beards, dressed in black and carry the prophet’s black banner). Many “Christians” will be deceived by him and join his ranks, among them the Aristocrazia Nera (i.e., “the City of the Crown,” Brussels and Switzerland), the Luciferean Illuminists (i.e., the NWO military-industrial complex at Washington and on Wall Street and in Silicon Valley) and the Romanic Red Pope (i.e., the Jesuit Papacy as well as Zionist Israel and Wahhabist Saudi Arabia), to whom he appear as a human—the incarnation of God, but is rather as the demon Shaytan in human form.

Dajjal will surely perform miracles, such as healing the sick, raising the dead (although only when supported by his demonic followers), causing the earth to grow vegetation, causing livestock to prosper “and to die” and stopping the sun’s movement. The flourishing Terrorist State of Zionist Jerusalem will be whence Yathrib (Medina) is in ruins... thence, at the conquest of Istanbul (Constantinople),<sup>41</sup> will begin “Al-Malhama Al-Kubra” (Great End-Times Battle between “Christians” and Muslims at Dabiq—the Domsday Village, in northern Syria. It will be the most brutal conflict in the history of humankind, resulting in the defeat of all those which are working towards the enslavement of “our folk” and the “mongrelization of “the White race.” It will be a victory claimed by both sides, as hap’t in the first great battle at Kodosh with the commencement of human history as we know it but, verily, it will mark the beginning of the end for all humanity regardless of race or creed.

Prophet Muhammad invoking Allah

“O Allah! I seek refuge with you from the punishment in the grave and from the punishment in the Hell fire and from the afflictions of life and death, and the afflictions of Al-Masih Ad-Dajjal.”

From the darkness of the dawn of the Last Day, the trumpet sound will suddenly be heard and so shall begin the “end-times” “racial holy war” between the “Holy White Race” (which hath existed since before Abraham deceived Nimrod and Pharaoh) and the “non-White Kalergian subhuman Afro-Asiatic mongrel “hive-mind” “Last Man”—the hoi polloi which are incapable of thinking, saying or doing anything great (especially the illuminated cult of the Sabbatean Frankists and the sect of the Salafist-Mujahideen Jihadists). Note: Arabs and Jews share a DNA link originating in the Ancient Canaanite Levantine)—all those which are working towards the enslavement of our folk... and the “mongrelization of the White race” as they so did at Babel, whereof our ancestors first suffered this sad fate.

1The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave unto him, to shew unto his servants things which must shortly come to pass; and he sent and signified it by his angel unto his servant John: 2who bare record of the word of God, and of the testimony of Jesus Christ, and of all things that he saw. 3Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things which are written therein: for the time is at hand.

4John to the seven churches which are in Asia: Grace be unto you, and peace, from him which is, and which was, and which is to come; and from the seven Spirits which are before his throne; 5and from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood, 6and hath made us kings and priests unto God and his Father; to him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen. 7Behold, he cometh with clouds; and every eye shall see him, and they also which pierced him: and all kindreds of the earth shall wail because of him. Even so, Amen. 8I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord, which is, and which was, and which is to come, the Almighty.

9I John, who also am your brother, and companion in tribulation, and in the kingdom and patience of Jesus Christ, was in the isle that is called Patmos, for the word of God, and for the testimony of Jesus Christ. 10I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day, and heard behind me a great voice, as of a trumpet, 11saying, I am Alpha and Omega, the first and the last: and, What thou seest, write in a book, and send it unto the seven churches which are in Asia; unto Ephesus, and unto Smyrna, and unto Pergamos, and unto Thyatira, and unto Sardis, and unto Philadelphia, and unto Laodicea.

12And I turned to see the voice that spake with me. And being turned, I saw seven golden candlesticks; 13and in the midst of the seven candlesticks one like unto the Son of man, clothed with a garment down to the foot, and girt about the paps with a golden girdle. 14His head and his hairs were white like wool, as white as snow; and his eyes were as a flame of fire; 15and his feet like unto fine brass, as if they burned in a furnace; and his voice as the sound of many waters. 16And he had in his right hand seven stars: and out of his mouth went a sharp twoedged sword: and his countenance was as the sun shineth in his strength. 17And when I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead. And he laid his right hand upon me, saying unto me, Fear not; I am the first and the last: 18I am he that liveth, and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for evermore, Amen; and have the keys of hell and of death. 19Write the things which thou hast seen, and the things which are, and the things which shall be hereafter; 20the mystery of the seven stars which thou sawest in my right hand, and the seven golden candlesticks. The seven stars are the angels of the seven churches: and the seven candlesticks which thou sawest are the seven churches.

To the Reader

The Canadian Constitution Act of 1982 simply states in its preamble that “Canada is founded upon principles that recognize the supremacy of God and the rule of law” and commences in detailing the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms which contains the basic rules about “natural persons” and “strawman entities,” such as the incorporated federal, and provincial and territorial governments in Canada. The Charter protects those basic rights and limited freedoms of a free and democratic country: For example, freedom of expression may be limited by laws against hate propaganda, namely degrading speech causing psychological injury or physical distress, or child pornography or propaganda advocating genocide. Everyone has freedom of conscience and religion, being guaranteed freedom of thought, belief, opinion and expression, including freedom of the press and other media of communication, and ensuring that every “natural person” and all “strawman entities” have equal standing and human dignity and are free to create and express their ideas. According to Section 319(1) of the Canadian Criminal Code it an offence to communicate expressions that bluntly malign in a public place or, by showing “willful blindness,” communicating statements other than in private conversation that publicly incite outright acts of violence and discrimination (i.e., hatred) against any identifiable group despite dissenting opinions.

“A Prophecy about the ‘Son of Man’”

“The Second Quick Becoming”

Jesus—whose “human soul” (as a Muslim believes) was saved by God before the crucifixion—and He will descend from the sky to Damascus during Fajr (sunrise prayer) prepared to do battle, as if having taken up the audacious ordinance of turn-cheek defiance. He wilt declareth allegiance to al-Mahdi. His perfumed breath shall precede him as far as the eye can see and those who embraced the egregious iniquity of “the echt one and the thirty false Dajjals” shall perish even as the rosy-breath of Isa touches them—and Dajjal himself shall begin to melt, as salt dissolves in water.

When descending, Isa’s hands will be on the shoulders of two singing angels carried upon the cloud of ‘Shabechi Yerushalayim Arukah (Praise off for New Jerusalem)—and will descend on the eastern side near the minaret in Damascus or in Baitul-Muqaddas—also known as Bayt al-Maqdis or Bayt al-Muqaddas (House of the Holiness) with the silver-black dome or the Dome of the Rock in the Old City of Jerusalem—(the third holiest site in Islam).

Revelation 19:7

“Let us be glad and rejoice and give Him glory, for the marriage of the Lamb has come, and His wife has made herself ready.”

Christ Messiah being a man of average height and His cheeks will be flat, having a rosy complexion (i.e., being red-and-white in colour) and His “blue-green eyes blazing like fire” shall deliver the earth into its’ judgment whence the “warrior upon the pale horse” resurrects as the True King of Kings. No longer recognized as a mortal Nazarite. His white hair will be spread to the shoulders, straight, neat and flowing with water, shining as after a bath—“on bending his head it will seem as if pearls are falling.”

“The Whole of the Armour of God”

As a turtle-dove descendeth solae—as Elpis, the “spirit of hope,” bearing neuro-physiological flowers of positive emotion and the subjective fruit of good feelings; thus shalt our Messiah proceedeth forth “born again” unto us of a dispariental wetness of joy... doused in the fragrance of an exculpatory coalescence of “oleum sanctificare”... a beatific “aquascadenza” of sensual grace... according to the monergistic “Ordo salutis”—having donned the whole of the armour of God 42 upon His hallowed spirit-body made flesh. Oi—He “quick becoming” harrowing the end-times of hell on earth... “gecláded” in mortality and immortality alike... as if so being covered with two pieces of cloth: a padded “jupon of lithon”—a bright-shining ephod light-yellow in colour, and shrouded with a long, flowing surcoat emblazoned with a “scarlet red cross” and girt with a golden sash, being swathed in a simple but elegant winding cloth... a seamless mantle... a “gorgeous amethyst chiton” soberly “adornamented” with an amaranthine swastika 45 draped o’er our Lord’s

In Basque, it is “Eguzkilore,” which means the “Flower of the Sun” (“eguzki” = sun and “lore” = flower), representing the mystical sun and being associated with the “lauburu” or the “Basque Cross” (Basque: lauburu, “four heads” < “lau” = four + “buru” = head; “lau-buru,” meaning “four mountain peaks”): A traditional Basque “hooked cross” or “swastika with four rounded heads”—denoting the four elements out of which (as it was believed by many ancient peoples) everything is formed (i.e., water, earth, air and fire).

It is the “sacred sun” and is symbolic of “cosmic movement”—and was a trademark of the Phoenicians. It was used in the ancient city of Ilium (Troy) 4000 years ago (i.e., 120 generations), in Ancient Greece and Rome, and the Druids of the Celts also used the symbol as well as Nordic tribes. To the Irish it was “An Camchéachta” (“the bent plough”; i.e., the Big Dipper) (v.i.) and in Scandinavian tradition, it was known as “Thor’s Wain” (Thor, the red-haired God of Thunder) and/or “Odin’s Wain”—infer.

And it was known to Hindus and Buddhists in India and other Asian countries. Moreover, it was known to the Native American Navajo tribe, and in Mesoamerican culture it was “Tonatiuh”—an Aztec sun deity of the daytime sky which ruled the cardinal direction of the east (whereof the sun arose each morning). In and Mayan glyphs it was conceived of as “a cross”—as the pole star “Ursa Major” (“Big Dipper”) makes and, in the Nahuatl language of the Aztecs, it was Ollin Tonatiuh or “Nahui-ollin”—meaning “Movement (of the Sun),” being associated with the eagle (rising at sunrise and descending at sunset).

The swastika can be found on the walls of the early-Christian catacombs in pagan Rome of antiquity, next to the words “ZOTIKO ZOTIKO” which means “Life of Life”: (cf. Revelation 19:6: “And He hath on His vesture and on His thigh a name written: KING OF KINGS and LORD OF LORDS). More-so, the German medieval military order of the Teutonic Knights used an Anglo-Saxon “fylfor” (“swastika”) as one of their symbols—its four 90° right angles “squaring the circle.”

Squaring the Circle

Squaring the circle is a problem proposed by ancient geometers. This idiom alludes to the impossibility of turning a circle into a square. It is the challenge of constructing a square with the same area as a given circle by using only a finite number of steps with compass and straightedge—both Masonic symbols. Since the area of the circle will always be a transcendental number and the area of a square has to be an integer... and this can never happen in a finite number of steps.

If the problem of the quadrature of the circle is solved using only “compass” and “straightedge,” then an algebraic value of “pi” would be found, which is impossible. Although, using a swastika it is possible to construct a square with an area arbitrarily close to that of a given circle.

Star Constellations

Star constellation Ursa Major (Big Dipper / Great Bear) is mapped as a “swastika” around Polaris or Alpha Ursae Minoris is the Pole Star through the four seasonal phases of revolution around the pole star. Ursa Major is a significant constellation in many cultures. It is one of the oldest constellations in the sky, with a history dating back to prehistoric times. The constellation was referenced in Homer and the Bible. Homer calls it “the Bear,” which our ancestors also called “Wain” (i.e., wagon or cart < Old English wægn, of Germanic origin; related to Dutch and German wagen).

The “never-setting” circumpolar constellation Draco (derived from the Latin term draconem, meaning “huge serpent”) is a winding pattern of stars near the north celestial pole usually depicted coiled around the North Pole (literally “snaking its way through the northern sky”). Always visible in the northern hemisphere, Draco’s most famous star is Alpha-Draconis, or Thuban (a Draconis), which is the fourth-brightest star in the northern constellation of Draco the Dragon. Although a relatively inconspicuous star, it was the Pole Star some 5000 years ago, when the Egyptians were building the pyramids.

The Egyptian Pyramids were designed to have one side facing north, with an entrance passage geometrically aligned so that Thuban would be visible at night: (The Great Pyramid of Giza, an enduring monument of ancient Egypt).

“The Snake and the Tree”

Draco is home to several double stars and binary stars. In Greco-Roman legend, Draco was a dragon killed by the virgin goddess Minerva: (An athletic goddess equated with the Greek goddess Athena—always depicted as wearing armour and carrying a spear). The dragon had been one of the Gigantes—sometimes represented as serpents with legs that battled the Olympic gods for ten years in the Gigantomachia—the war between the gods and the ere the giant children of Gaia and Tartarus—infer Minerva threw the dragon’s carcass into the night sky, where it became twisted on itself and froze in the stellar cold of the North Celestial Pole before it could right itself. She is often depicted with her sacred creature—“an owl” (usually named as the “owl of Minerva,” which symbolized her association with wisdom and knowledge as well as, less frequently, “a snake” and “the olive tree.”

Refer to end of this footnote: “The Bohemian Grove”

To the Sumerians, Minerva was a fertility goddess named Inanna and associated with the legend about the huluppu tree and pomegranates (the pomegranate was a symbol of the Hadad-Adonis/Tammuz cult, in connection with the worship of Hadadrimmon the bearded “thunder god”)—a single tree planted on the banks of the Great River Euphrates by Enki—father of the godlings (comparable to the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil which God the Creator hadst planted in the Paradisial Garden of Eden in the “western realm”). Then “a serpent” which could not be charmed made its nest in the roots of the huluppu-tree—and the Anzu-bird set its young in the branches of the tree. And the demoness Lilith built her home in its trunk.

Lilith was the first wife of Adam according to Jewish folklore.—and her name comes from the Sumerian word “lilitu,” which meant “a wind spirit” or “a female demon.” [A Babylonian terracotta plaque, known as the Burney Relief, was identified as the first known pictorial representation of Lilith. She is depicted as a beautiful, naked sylph with demonic bird wings, taloned feet and wearing a cap decorated with several pairs of horns; she stands atop two lions and between two owls, apparently bending them to her will. Lilith’s association with the owl—a predatory and nocturnal bird bespeaks a connection to flight and night terrors.]

Minerva is one of the three Roman deities in the Capitoline Triad, along with Jupiter (Zeus) and Iuno Regina (Hera). This grouping of a male god and two goddesses was highly unusual in ancient Indo-European religions, and is almost certainly derived from the Etruscan trio of Tinia, the supreme deity, Uni, his wife, and Menrva, their daughter and the goddess of wisdom. After Christianity became the national religion of the Roman State, the Capitoline Triad was replaced with the Christian Trinity of God the Father, Jesus and the Holy Spirit.

According to Hesiod, the Giants were an earlier offspring of Gaia (primordial deity associated with the Earth and the ancestral mother of “all life”—comparable to our mitochondrial progenitor, Eve the “Lady of the Rib”), born from the blood that fell when Uranus (Sky) was castrated viz. “circumcised” by his son Cronus (god of the harvest)—a Titan: (An earlier generation of large and powerful children of Gaia and Uranus). The vanquished Giants were said to be buried under volcanoes and to be the cause of volcanic eruptions and earthquakes.

Gaia gave her daughter Hera “a golden apple tree” when she married her brother Zeus (cf. Eve and Adam). Hera put the tree in the garden to be guarded by the Hesperides—nymphs of the West viz. the “golden light of sunset” and a worm called Ladon—a monstrous creature with a hundred heads: (Cf. Eve and the serpent). Ladon guarded the golden apples of immortality in the Gardens of the Hesperides: (The Golden Apples of the Norse are more equivalent to the Ambrosia of the Greeks—a vital food of the Norse and Greek godlings alike).

The demi-god (i.e., the son of god) Hercules had to defeat Ladon (as one of his twelve labors) in order to possess the Golden Apples of Hesperides: (Very much reminiscent of Adam’s “fall from grace” viz. “original sin”). Moreover, Ladon is also regarded as “the dragon that guarded the Golden Fleece,” and the dragon that the goddess Athena defeated when the Olympian gods fought the Titans. Note: In Greek mythology, Athena/Minerva was born from the head of her father Zeus. She was a goddess of wisdom, civilization, arts, reasoning and war.

In the founding myth of Athens, Athena bested Poseidon in a competition over patronage of the city by creating the first olive tree. More-so, the Roman Minerva hadst a cat named “Pandora,” which was as black as the night sky—her fur shone and her eyes glistened like diamonds.

Refer to the note in Issue 2nd which is associated with the Sabeen-born patron of Mecca and goddess war and power, Al-Uzzá the full moon—a “Daughter of Allah” living in her sanctuary in the valley of Nakhlah above Thaat ‘Irq (i.e., the Miqat of the people of Iraq and Khurasaan). Note: A Miqat is a principal boundary point of a specific area whereat which Muslim pilgrims on the Hajj must be in the state of “Ihrām” (“a state of consecration whereof certain worldly activities are prohibited”). At Nakhlah lived a caracal (desert lynx) in three acacias: More-so, the Egyptian cat goddess, Bastet, the “Lady of the East” lived in the “fruitful ished (or perseia) tree of eternal life and knowledge” in the time of “the great cat” Mau killing the evil serpent Apophis (Apep), which threatens the world and divine order with evil, chaos and destruction.

The Bohemian Grove

The Bohemian Grove—in the Ancient Redwood Forest of Northern California—is where the “owl of Minerva” is worshipped by powerful men who make decisions that affect the world—but are completely hidden from public scrutiny—is the backdrop for some of the most earth-shattering events in human history including the development of the classified “Starwars” Strategic Defense Initiative (SDI) program involving a futuristic space-based shield that would render nuclear missiles obsolete and an anti-ballistic missile program designed to shoot down nuclear missiles in space, and the Manhattan Project—a research and development undertaking during World War II that produced the first nuclear weapons: (It was led by the United States with the support of the United Kingdom and Canada).

The Bohemian Grove is an exclusive, predominantly White, all-male secret society of the world’s richest and most powerful corporate and political elites, including Presidents George H.W. Bush, George W. Bush, Bill Clinton, Jimmy Carter, Ronald Reagan, Richard Nixon, and Theodore Roosevelt—and other influential men, such as Colin Powell (Black) and Henry Kissinger (Jew) to name but a few. It is an occult network and has connections to 322 Skull and Bones and other nefarious secret societies (which is being passed off as a “conspiracy theory” by our oppressors). The rites of Satanic worship and pagan rituals, such as the opening day initiation ceremony, called Cremation of Care—involving the burning of effigies and mock human immaculate “ib” (“heart”)—a blazing inferno of forgiveness emptying triumphant exsanguinations to wash away the sins of the mundane world and vested with a consummate chaplet of “philagape” thorns—lamenting an ichor of storgeleagic complaint.

This entire garb was worn over a segmented heroic cuirass—a protective “lorica” covering His pristine body from neck to waist—a “sacred breastplate” wrought with four rows of gems—twelve hoshen-stones of exceptional size and beauty: “Lights and Perfections” (“ha-Urim vеха-Tummim Tiberian hā ‘Urim wahatTummim”).

Thus shalt He will appear sans galeae but wearing a hauberk of “absolution mercyne”—a cruciform nimbus likened unto fiery rays of ultra-violet and infra-red light radiating 22° (degrees) outwards and away from the incorruptible innocence of His visage—His features endowed with an expression of immunity from sin and moral infallibility. A garland of 153 orange and yellow and green butterflies likened unto the heavenly kisses of intuitive angels fluttering within the profound corolla of Divine immanence and gracefully trimmed with an array of 318 honeybees—all white as snow, and their wings were iridescent—purple and blue and gold; and they had golden diadems on their heads—all sparkly-gyrating together and quaffing of the honeyed nectar and rustic ambrosia of ethereal transcendence.

As for a helm His protective Ba-bird (v.i.) shalt hover o’er Him (“the messianic doorway to the truth and the light”)—a “two-headed piscivorous raptor” with one head being that of a Neo-Gypaetinae clade, akin to a black “bearded Egyptian vulture,” and the other head being of a red featherless Aegypiinae clade: Both calling out: “Holy, Holy, Holy...” and “Come together.” And like Janus, its’ one epicurean-face shalt look aback into the past whilst t’other, having a promethean-face, wilt look forward into the future—and the fluttering of its wings shalt mantle Him—and betwix these wilt be a red orb spinning clockwise—a fourfold-face like water having the juxtaposed features of “four living seraphim”: an eagle, a lion, an auroch and a human—a montage which is now male and then female... sometimes young and at other times older... always permutive... and of varied emotive expression.

In its one talon it shalt be gripping a bony enamel-scaled “actinopterygii-ichthys”—a bland-coloured ray-finned lepidotus-spiked, whiskered sucker-fish with a burning bufonite coal quashed within its robust jaws. And in its other talon wilt be clutched a four-lobed, feathery fire-bright harpy-winged choanata—a sarcopterygian salamander with its own tail in its slaving mouth... devouring itself so as to rob the “Imperial Ospreagle” carrying it off of its meal—and this elemental avatar will be vomiting ectoplasmic slime... of stinking chthonic brimstone.

His loins will be girdled with the “Belt of Truth”—a long and wide “zōna” engraved with “living images of the ‘Seven Stars’”... elaborately worked with thirteen bright-shining mounts, bejeweled brooches with the gems of “kuchavim” (“ninth heaven”)—the mazzaroth (zodiac) constellations, and having a brazen buckle like the Sun through which Ophiuchus passes.

His feet shod in preparation and eternal vigilance of the “Gospel of Truth”—solleret sans shoelatchet, ankle strap or prick spur—a sabaton heavily tapered into a narrow elongated point after the style as was a peaked poulaine fashionable in the 14th and 15th centuries. More-so, it besemeth that He be standing upon or o’er a luminous blue orb (radiating counter-clockwise).

His sharp tongue—“the broken flint knapped anew”—an unbreakable Holy Sword of Mercy Vulcan-forged of the spirakibly discerning “charismatic gifts” and “intellectual virtues”—those twin blades of Joyeuse and enduring Durandal. [For the Word of God is living and active, sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing to the division of soul and spirit, of joints and marrow, and discerning the thoughts and intentions of the heart.” (Hebrews 4:12)]

His soft voice—a scintillating blade unsheathed from His heart e’en as Caliburn was drawn from the Stone of Pen Draig illegitimate son of Lady Igraine of Tintagel... a brilliant-flashing quill loosed from His mind as wast wrathful Gramm pulled from the Barnstokkr tree.

Strothe! The heart and the mind are one—as sword point and pommel. Surely, His thoughts are revealed by His tongue—its dual-edges of “understanding” and “knowledge”—and His panaceatic voice echoing the sacrifice on a moss-covered alter before a giant stone owl are carried on by cult minions, these modern-day descendants of Babylonian mystery cults. More-so, plays are performed, such as “St. Patrick at Tara,” which tells of the Celts and their struggles with Christianity, and “The Cave Man,” which revels in the pre-civilization era, seemingly paying homage to a time before the structured and rigid rules of society.

<sup>42</sup> Ephesians 6:14-16; Doctrine and Covenants 27:15–18 (Book of Mormon).

<sup>45</sup> Reader NB: This “swastika” hath naught to do with the Nazi bastardization of the immortal Hakenkreuz (hooked-cross) but, instead, refers to the “svastika”—which is perhaps the oldest symbol in human history. The origins of the swastika are seemingly beyond time... nonetheless, this symbol has been radio carbon-dated to an astonishing 15,000 years ago... tantamount to about +450 generations past hence... our biblical origins being only about 150 generations or about 5000 years ago: (A generation being figured out to be 33 years).

The earliest swastika ever found was uncovered in Mezine, Ukraine, carved on an ivory figurine which dates back an incredible 12,000 years (365 generations more-or-less). One of the earliest cultures that are known to have used the swastika was the Neolithic Vinca Culture in Southern Europe, which dates back around 8000 years (or 240 generations more-or-less) in the area that is now Serbia, Croatia, and Bosnia-Herzegovina. But it’s in the Bronze Age that the swastika became more widespread across the whole of Europe.

A Mythological Symbol of “Cosmic Movement”
The swastika design is known from artifacts of various cultures since the Neolithic Era, and it recurs with some frequency on artifacts dated to the Germanic Iron Age, i.e. the Migration period to Viking Age period in Scandinavia. The “Sonnenrad” is known as the “black sun,” which could represent the dark side of the sun and, esoterically, meaning to prevail at understanding or in seeking “the mysteries of knowledge” within the dark or in the place of stillness.

The “sonnenrad” is a very old mythological symbol that represents the sun—a “moving star” in the form of a curvilinear helix—and it is quite common in European mythology, being mostly associated with Celtic traditions, notably of the Galician ethnic group, and is closely related to the Portuguese people in the north-west of the Iberian Peninsula as well as with the Asturians of Spain.

tragic song of battle by the rushing waters of Camlann, uttering blessings of osculate bill-and-coo by the fruitful grace of the “Gospel of Peace” freely-given us e’en as Excalibur was the gift of the Lady of Dozmary Pool on Bodmin Moor.

Doubtlessly, our Lord shalt be protected by a scūtum of invisible energy... the thyreos of doxastic faith. Yea, He shalt be so emphatically so shielded thus in order to extinguish all the noisome arrows of the sinful evil one—those fiery darts, a scathe of ‘trolling’ branches like Müspell’s sons, loosed by the demon Surtr. This durable heater-shaped “targa” sans abatement surely absconded naught. It was amorphous, being like the surface of a kaleidoscopic sea of nebulous change, but made of obsidian and diamond and tungsten. And, verily, t’was so embellished with an igneous heraldic insignia and full of strength and mighty power: An escutcheon ordinaire charged with a saber-toothed lion of aurum rampant o’er an emerald compartment—the verdant vineyards of Timnah-heres (where-is inhumed Joshua son of Nun).

At the feet of this “panthera leo” was the “Lamb of God” (“Agnes Dei”), resting upon a scrolling parchment inscribed with the 42 Laws of Ma’at, writ by the Holy Finger of God. And from a wounding in the side of the “eweling aegis” floweth four rivers of blood mixed with water made wine, “slowly” filling the totemic sanctuary of the lamentable “molochian” storm god (Hadad-Melek-Raman) in the Levantine Plain of Esdraelon under the shadow of the “Horebean Hill of Har-Megiddo”: yea, the sacrificial Vale of Jezreel began filling with the “crude” naphthenic hemorrhage bleeding from the gash in the torso of the “hoggetupic” Rock of Ages. Stinking magma oozing out of the glorious “ovis aries”—a radioactive contaminant corium... a caustic evaporate rising to “high heaven”—a noxious mephitic sarin of sulphur and a co-precipitate of aluminum salts of naphthenic acid and napalmiitic acid.

And the gentle mutton held betwixt its forelimbs, and resting upon its shoulder, both... the pharaohic “heka” (“shepherd’s crook”) and the “nekhakha” (“flail”).

Verily, out from the great cat’s “gobake” trumpeted a palatine roar, an augury saying: “Behold! The paschee pharmakós taketh away the sins of the world.” And the noise it made was as the dancing music of an ecstatic honeybee colony intoxicated on the mulled mead of “Deliverance”—and this chorale extendeth a hundred leagues in each-and-every direction... as the wailing cries of the flame-haired harbinger of doom—the pale red-mouthed bean-sidhe hag, “Badb Catha” (“battle raven”) and/or as the lurky albino Mór-Rioghain, whose shrieking and keening causes both “fear and confusion” and “carnage.”

A “krakatoan” eruption terrorizing and disorienting all Christian soldiers and causing many idolatrous Jews and Muslims to fall on their own weapons amidst the frenzied havoc of war as she moveth the tide of battle to favour the corpses. Strothe, seemeth be the only victor is Hela, the Asgardian Goddess of death, whose sole duty is to punish the wicked and ruined people which didst not meet a glorious quietus in our wrestling against principalities and powers, against the rulers of the world of this darkness, against the spirits of wickedness in high places.

Yea, the ferocious feline mewled aloud as didst Roland whence he blew Olyphant the “sounding horn”; surely, even as defiant Hlmdallr soundeth Gjallarhorn. And out its phosphorus flaming nostrils bloweth the moist breath of life... and in the wetness of its gaping gullet two amorphous sharp-nosed mehjed (“oxyrhynchus fish”) were swimming together... contending as a boundless kiss, both penetrating and devouring at the same instance. And one wast ram-headed (and so horned) and t’other wast cow-faced, dark as the night and glimmering with stars... a having the lost phallus of Osiris in its mouth and a “sun disk” between her horns.

The “lion” and the “lamb”—two open-mouthed beasts at the plain Vigrðr loosed in opposition of dread creatures: the monstrous wolf Fenrir, also called Fenrisúlfr, which devours the sun and the moon...setting the world ablaze, and the immense Midgard ouroboros Jörmungandr, having released its tail from its mouth, spraying deadly poison to fill the skies ... its other half a cyclone thrashing its way onto land—refer to “endnote.”

Yea, the “udjet-eyed” Messiah shat return to us as the supplicating Spirit having around His neck a “cernunnoic tore” of refulgent modesty—and it wilt so be fashioned simply of untwisted palladium... buffered of a lead-zinc-silver compass and a copper-gold square. And betwixt and just above those non-fissile photonic twins of “hot-radiating” light—pulsating gyres—those divine “all-seeing” eyes... inert of circadian ultraviolet and infrared kinetic energy—those resplendent twins of compassion, wherewith is the “monoecious strobile” of our Lord’s most-sacred pineal gland, it boiling o’er with tryptophanic adrenochrome and dripping panaceatic teardrops... O, the hot-honey-eyed elixir of “ever-youth”... Oi, a kaleidoscopic inflorescence of thermo-dynamic and transmutive glory... wherewith is the principal seat of His undying Soul... the origin place whereof generates all His sentient Thoughts and all His emphatic Feelings as if so being an insolubite strangler of “dark matter” with three shells—the valence orbit thereof containing the “nine protective electrons” and the inner, the “six productive” and that closest to the nucleus... the “three destructive”!

Further, His right hand—the wound there-of bearing the mark of the “alpha,” shalt wield “a pharaohic flail of fertility” (made of black grenadilla, filleted with circlets of patina-yellow mammoth ivory and having a superlative tiara of carmelian sard), the ends of the four flails thereof ornamented: one with a Duamutefean jackal head, one a Hapyeaan-baboon head, one with a Qebehsenuefan-falcon head, and the other one an Imsetyan human head—all adorned with lustrous Scythian-made beads of “pale brass-yellow pyrite,” “green jade” and “magnificent true blue wild ‘volute’ pearls”) and in His left hand—the wound there-of bearing the mark of “omega” shat be “a pharaohic shepherd’s crook of Supreme Sovereignty” (made of ebony, gilded with iron and grapheme, and covered with alternating rings of “blue-smalted diamonds,” “rosy-rhyolite quartz” and “orange-red jasper”).

“Thus shalt He emerge “cross-armed” from without... having traversed the long, dark tunnel of the forgotten aeons and rising as blue-facned Khepri vanquishing the chaos of our present age. And at His left hand side shalt be Sainte Jehanne d’Arc “la pucelle d’Orléans” armed with “Longinus’ Bleeding Hasta of Destiny Manifest”: Its ashwood staff tipped with an iron-forged Rhön—the “Gác Longini” (“belly spear of mortal pain and death”), crimson-wet with the consubstantial ousia of blood mixed with tears—and to the shaft was affixed a long-tapering white lightning-flashing dovetail banner, this charged with a horizontal “wolsfangel.” And her Brigantium raiment was incipient fire... smokeless... and chaste-sparkling.

“Onwards Christian Soldiers”

And behind Him shalt be the John Boanerges the Divine Evangelist, having at his right hand side Magdalene with her son Maximin and her daughter Tamer—the children of our Lord whom were born in France after the Resurrection, along with her sister Martha and the family of Lazarus of Bethany, their brother—and to the left of this disciple whom Jesus loved shalt be Our Lady of Sorrows, Ever-Virgin Madonna, Mary the Queen of Heaven... and James Boanerges, the younger son of Zebedei the Thunderer... all the other Desponysi, as well—all those devout folk of the Sacred Messianic Merovingian Bloodline. Yea, e’en Saint John the Baptizer, the Teacher of Righteousness wilt be amongst the followers of the Wicked Priest.

Strothe! Nicodemus and Joseph of Arimathea shalt be accounted amongst their number... as wilt Symeon Qlopha brother of Joseph husband of Mary mother of our Lord and his wife Mary Salome sister of Mary daughter of Anne

As well as Veroiclae (Bernice) in the Greek tradition)—her holding the Golgothan Sudarium (Latin for “sweat-cloth”) and the Ecstatic Visionaries: Brigitta of Sweden, Catherine of Siena and Anna Katharina Emmerick... as well as Francis of Assisi. And with these Blessed Mystics shalt be La Popessa Ioannes Anglicus viz. Pope John VIII the Martyr.

Surely, all these wilt be attended to by the Heavenly Host of Guardian Angels—all those quick becoming to abolish violence... and with them shalt be all the Saintly Ambassadors of the Precious Blood—all the Apostles... all the disciples... the prophets and martyrs... all the soldiers of God standing together, united against the deceits of the devil, having those essential ethical characteristics of loving-wisdom, joyful understanding and knowledge of kindness...

There will be Petrus “the Rock,” him having hold of the “Golden Key to the Triumphant Kingdom of God” and the “Silver Key to the Church Magnificent” which exists in the hearts of all True Believers wherever they be (i.e., not the Holy See of the Papacy in Rome, nor the Kaaba in Mecca or the Prophet’s Mosque in Medina, nor the Dome of the Rock in Jerusalem, the City of Peace—and not any of the other Holy Mosques there-at—neither the Crusader Church of St. James Intercisus, nor the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, not even the Temple Mount which is revered by all—all are now mosques; and certainly not the God-damned Western Wall of Wailing).

And with Shimon Peter wilt stand Paul of Tarsus, him holding a “macheria” and accompanied by the disciples Aquila (holding a book) and Priscilla (having a scroll in hand) foremost amongst their kindred. Also the Graill Knights: Sir Perceval, Sir Galahad, and Sir Bors... as will be the Wounded Fisher King of the Wilderness—the immortal guardian of Sans Graël and all the other Knights of the Round Table and the Paladin Peers of Charlemagne, and all the trueborn pure-hearted Poor Fellow-Soldiers of Christ and of the Temple of Solomon of olde—all the Grand Masters and their Seneschals, and the eight provincial Masters with their Sergeants-at-Arms, Knights and squires—all following Grand Master Jacques de Molay.

And may others far too numerous to mention shalt be counted amongst the ranks of Christian soldiers, too—and His Name shalt be a song sung in every mouth, verily, the power of His “Ren” shalt be a hymn upon every tongue and a chorale on every lip thereof. Yea, the twelve notes of the octave will be sounded in ambient devotion full of beauty of form, harmony, and expression of emotion... a multi-decibel binaural beat tempered to a tuning of the Verdi 432 Hz pitch (aligned with planet Earth’s heartbeat and found in such geometrical arrangements as the Great Pyramids of Giza and Stonehenge), and the ancient 6-tone augmented scale of the selfeggio frequency (used in sacred music, including the beautiful and well known Gregorian Chants) harmonizing with nature and higher mental activity and with the miraculous DNA-healing love frequency of 528 Hz.

The “name,” like the “tongue,” is a natural link... an intermediary connection between the “hhekau”—the affective-emotionally “creative soul” (representative of the triadic Ba-soul (v.s.)—the reflective passions of one’s emphatic conscience and inner tranquility, Yab/Hati—the “essential heart” as a temple of one’s experiences and karmic inclinations and a storage place of thoughts and feelings, and Sahh—the passive and subtle “soul body” of the Ba-soul emanating sensual vibrations in mediation of the Free Will to Power, which belong to the intermediating sphere of the whole being upon which rests all weight of one’s sayings and doings and intentions in the afterlife of a human soul) and the intellectual potential of one’s “ahk”—the bright illumination of one’s wisdom and the messenger of the Necher godlings in accordance with the 48 Laws of Ma’at.

Surely, our Lord—Messiah Christ Jesus shalt thus returneth counseling peace with the fortitude of patience, pious goodness, faithful fear of the Lord and gentle self-control.

Yea! His aspirant “sheut” (“shadow”) shalt before Him proceedeth... as a devachan light in the cislunar darkness of the “subanausic”; yea, a pure taper parading before the unconquered Angel of Divine Presence... an unsubdued beacon “dancing” on the horizon in triumph, announcing the advent of the Dweller upon the Threshold... embodying the vitality of ethereal energy.

All this, though, is naught but fanciful dream allegory limited by the fallible human imagination for, verily, no one surely knoweth the whence or the place, nor even the circumstances of any “time, times or half-times” not yet fully revealed... much less aught of the adventual events of the apocalyptic psychopomp—only this is certain.

Conclusion to the Second Part

The Shameless Dance of Shepherd-King David

Compare the story of Shepherd-King David son of Jesse (from the tribe of Judah) setting aside his royal garments and wearing nothing but a “linen ephod” embroidered with gold and gaudy colours and, so attired in priestly garb, he behaved inappropriately, handling the Ark of the Covenant and effusively dancing in the streets of Jerusalem amidst shouting and the sound of trumpets. For when the “Spirit of the Lord” is moving, there is to be order and self-control (a fruit of the Spirit), and a humbling of ourselves in the presence of the King. This story is antonymous to that of the Dolorous Passion of Christ on his way to “the place of the skull.”

More-so, watching him from a window was his wife Michal daughter of King Saul.

The Rape of Michal

Michal had fallen in love with David, even though her older sister, Merab, had been promised to him as a wife-prize for killing Saul’s enemies. However, when the time came for Merab to be given to him in marriage, Saul double-crossed David and tried to kill him. Whence David fled, abandoning her (v.i.), Saul gave Michal Palti son of Laish of Gallium: (Synonymous of Laban tricking Jacob into first marrying his eldest daughter, Leah the Wild Cow, rather than his younger daughter, Rachel the Ewe, which Jacob hadst contracted with his uncle to have as a wife).

Yet, upon realizing that his younger daughter, Michal, still loved David, Saul considered her a way to ensnare the future king, of whom he was insanely jealous. So he agreed to give Michal to David as a wife-prize for another attack against the Philistines... secretly hoping that he’d be killed in the process. But David succeeded in defeating the Philistines, and David took Michal from him and raped her and thence had naught to with her—for his favourite wife was the adulterous Bathsabee daughter of Sheva and Eliam—son of Ahithophel the Gilonite (grandfather of Bathsheba), a noble Hittite of Jerusalem, and widow of Uriah the Hittite—the most loyal of David’s generals whom David had jealously killed to possess her. [Sheva was an oasis city in the south-western desert of Şayhad (modern Ramlat al-Sab’atayn, Saudi Arabia), wherefrom the Queen of Sheba came unto Solomon son of David and Bathsheba.]

The Rape of Tamar

Compare the tragic story of beautiful Princess Tamar daughter of Maachah daughter of Aramean King Talmai of Geshur who lives in a world where her powerful father and brothers hold sway over her, but took no responsibility to protect her. Tamar had abundant privilege, yet little power. She was sexually violated by her deviant half-brother Amnon son of Ahinoam the Jezreelite (daughter of Ahimaaz) a wife of Saul and the mother of his four sons and two daughters, one of whom was Michal (David’s first wife): Ahinoam mother of Amnon and Michal was one of the “four women of surpassing beauty in the world” (the other three being Sarah, Rahab and Esther) and one of the “seven Jewish female prophets” (the other six being Sarah, Hannah, Deborah, Huldah, Esther and Miriam). As David’s second wife, she has also been identified as Abigail wife of Nabal the Calebite from Carmel (southeast of Hebron on the edge of the desert of Judah)—a harsh and unjust man.

Ahinoam/Abigail was a clever woman of appealing character and unwavering faith—she became David’s second wife after he fled from Saul/Nabal—a man both wise and foolish going into the Desert of Maoan in the Wilderness of Paran: (Not Mount Carmel on the west of the plain of Esdraelon). After David hadst abandoned Michal (v.s.), his first wife, Saul/Nabal feasted within his house wherewith he died of a stroke or heart attack.

The stories of Abigail and Bathsheba contrast: In one, the wife prevents David from murdering her greedy husband; in the second, David orders the murder of a good man because he desires his wife. In the Abigail story, David, the potential king, is seen as increasingly strong and virtuous, whereas in the Bathsheba story, as the reigning monarch, he shows his flaws ever more overtly and begins to lose control of his family.

Amnon acted on advice from his enigmatic cousin, David’s malignant brother Jonadab son of Mikloth Shimeah third son of Jesse/Jehiel—a desert prince of Gibeon by his Benjaminite wife Maachah and both a great-uncle and great-grandfather of King Saul. Thus, Amnon schemed and lied in order to get Tamar alone, because he was obsessed with desire for her—thereby hurting and humiliating the one he was charged to protect. His selfish and cruel behavior is the very antithesis of love. He then sent her away and wanted nothing more to do with her.

Expressing profound grief, Tamar tore her robe, putting ashes on her head, and wailing aloud. Her brother Absalom realized what had happened... and saw that David, their father, hadst no solacing words of compassion for his devastated daughter. Tamar remained desolate but wouldst not see truth brought to light or her abuser called to account. Due to social stigma, she was thus forced to suffer out the remainder of her life in shame. Mournfully, there was no justice in this life for Tamar.

Resistance is a key variable in our definition of rape. Tamar resisted, but Bathsheba’s account does not record resistance. We tend to assume this means Bathsheba was a consenting partner, so we put her experience in the category of “adultery.” We even assign her some of the blame. David repented of his sins, and Bathsheba later gave birth to Solomon.

Epilogue

Michel was embarrassed by David’s indignity and his shameless nakedness and vulgar lack of decorum before the slave-girls of his servants, verily; she despised him in her heart. Michel and Bathsheba are therefore comparable to Leah the Wild Cow and Rachel the Ewe daughters of Adinah and Laban the Aramean brother of Rebekah wife of Isaac and mother of Jacob.

ENDNOTE

The Myth of Cassiopeia and Andromeda

Cassiopeia of “the henna-tinted hand” nymphet daughter of the Oceanid Zeuxo and Coronus—and the wife of King Cepheus of whom she gave birth to Andromeda. Cassiopeia is associated with Bathsheba, Solomon’s mother; Deborah, an Old Testament prophet; and Mary Magdalene, a disciple and concubine/lover of Jesus as well as with “the bloodied hand” of Fatima, daughter of the prophet Muhammad.

She was a dark-skinned Aryan woman of Indo-European origin: the Iranian plateau and the northern half of the Indian Subcontinent are inferred—the homeland of the dark-haired, blue-green-eyed Eurasian White race of the nomadic Yamnaya pastoralists on the periphery of the Asiatic-Denisovan race—a genetic admixture of the descendants of Eastern European hunter-gatherers and people related to hunter-gatherers from the Caucasus, which founded Rakigarhi (Harappa) and the “City of the Dead” (Mohenjaro-daro) and “not the ancient Nubian territory” that is believed to have been the homeland of a sub-Saharan Negroid race located on the Red Sea.

Queen of Joppa in Palestine (then known as Æthiopia), hadst offended the Nereid daughters of Poseidon, the sea-god, by boasting of her daughter, Princess Andromeda Iunioris—whom we, today, know as the “goddess of dreams”—and saying thar: “She was more beautiful than they”—a display of hubris by an arrogant and vain mortal woman, which was unacceptable to the godlings.

And, in an act of revenge, Poseidon punished Æthiopia by flooding it and plaguing it with Cetus the Kraken, a legendary cephalopod-like multi-limbed sea monster of gigantic size, having spiked suckers, and a menacing roar—and capable of the destruction of port-cities with a tsunamiic-sweep of its limbs.

The kraken was created by Hades “the Unseen,” also called Pluto or Pluton “the Wealthy One” and/or “the Giver of Wealth”—the ruler of the underworld nether-realm. It dwelt off the coasts and consumed every terrorized sailor it came upon... such as hap’t the Nevi’im prophet Jonah son of Amittai, which was tossed overboard into the sea by frightened mariners hoping to assuage the storm. (Cf. Tiamat (Tiamtu), footnote 25; endnote: Jewish Temple Prostitutes, Issue 2 “Are you ready for a tenth crusade?”). [According to the Norse sagas, the kraken dwells off the coasts of Norway and Greenland.]

To cool Poseidon’s anger, Cassiopeia chained her daughter to a rock on the beach as a sacrifice to the horrid abomination of the Mediterranean, virtually putting her into the maws of the monster in order to appease it and protect herself. But, she was rescued at the last minute by Perseus son of Zeus and Danaë daughter of king Acrisius of Argos (twin brother of King Proetus of Tiryns), whom hadst returned from killing Medusa—the ugly snake-haired (i.e., inferring “dread-knots”) monster whose gash turned all who looked upon her into stone... whom hadst been Andromeda’s friend in life.<sup>44</sup>

The Rape of Medusa

According to Roman poet Ovid (Metamorphoses 4.770), the mortal Medusa had been a ravishingly beautiful maiden with golden hair. She had vowed to remain celibate her entire life as a “perpetual virgin” priestess of Athena Parthenos...but she was seduced by Poseidon... and, she went against her vow and agreed to marry him... but he raped her on the floor of the Parthenon on the Athenian Acropolis. Such a sacrilege attracted the goddess’ wrath, and, enraged, Athena punished Medusa, for the “crime” of having been raped in her temple—transforming her into a monster with a serpent-like body and rattlesnake-tail, and venomous snakes for hair.

Thus, she became one of the three monstrous Gorgons, generally described as winged human females with living venomous snakes in place of hair. Those who gazed into her eyes would turn to stone. Unlike the Gorgons, though, Medusa was sometimes seen as very beautiful. More-so, she was the only Gorgon who was mortal; hence, her slayer, Perseus, was able to kill her by cutting off her head: From the blood that spurted from her neck sprang the giant boar-headed Chrysaor—a stout-hearted young man with a great golden sword and Pegasus—a winged stallion. These were her two sons by Poseidon.

Upon seeing Andromeda bound to the rock, Perseus fell in love with her, and he fought the monster, shewing it the horrible severed head of Medusa and, as it thus turned to stone, he killed the monster with the “magical sword” he had used against Medusa. Thus, Andromeda was saved.

Moreover, according to Hesiod, in the canonical Hydra myth, the monster is killed by Heraclēs (Hercules) as the second of his Twelve Labors. The Lernean Hydra was the offspring of Echidna, a half-snake and half-woman who lived alone in a cave, and the fearsome monster Typhon youngest son of Tartarus (of the nether world) and Gaea (Earth)—the personification of volcanic forces Among their children were: Cerberus, the three-headed hound of hell, the multi-headed Lernean Hydra, and the Chimera: (A genetic chimerism is a single organism composed of cells with more than one distinct genotype—that is, it contains two sets of DNA, with the code to make two separate organisms: One way that chimeras can happen naturally in humans is that a fetus can absorb its twin).

Although Andromeda hadst been promised to Phineus, she chose to marry Perseus... and, at the wedding a quarrel took place between the rivals. Phineus was turned to stone by the sight of Medusa’s head, which Perseus had kept. And, after they were wed, she followed him on his return journey aback to the Grecian island of Seriphus where-was his mother.

Upon learning that King Polydectes of Seriphos was harassing his mother, Perseus turned him and his supporters to stone at the sight of Medusa’s head. Afterward, accidentally, he killed his own grandfather, Acrisius, as well... thus fulfilling a prophecy which caused his wanderings in the first place: (For, as an infant, he was cast into the sea in a chest with his mother by Acrisius, to whom it had been prophesied that he would be killed by his grandson).

Perseus gave the Gorgon’s head to Athena, who placed it on her shield, and gave his other accoutrements to Hermes. Perseus and Andromeda went on to have nine children together, and, after her death, the goddess Athena placed Andromeda on the sky as a constellation between Cepheus and Cassiopeia, who was herself banished into the stars—made into a northern circumpolar constellation... condemned to circle the celestial pole forever... as is the Big Dipper. In the stars, nearby, was her beloved husband Perseus. Thus, the vain “Queen of the Sky,” Cassiopeia can be viewed all year long, even on moonlit nights.

The Andromeda galaxy, also called M31, is the only other (besides the Milky Way) spiral galaxy we can see with the naked eye. Cassiopeia is also known as the “Lady upon the chair” (or a dromedary, i.e.: two-humped camel) (cf. the hieroglyph of Isis) sits atop the luminous band of stars known as the Milky Way, combing her hair. Arching from horizon-to-horizon, this soft-glowing boulevard of stars represents an edgewise view into the flat disk of our own Milky Way galaxy.

She sits high in the northeast sky with a crescent moon in her right hand and a palm leaf in her left hand, wearing a crown... and can be seen best on September to early-November evenings, not far from Polaris, which is *also known as the North Star: Both are circumpolar and always above the horizon at any time of night, all year round.*

While Cassiopeia becomes the serpent and the sacred bird with outspread wings, which figures in the contest with the ocelot—a sleek animal with a gorgeous dappled-streaked coat characterized by a distinct black-spotted “chain rosette,” having round ears, a white neck and undersides—yet another symbol of Ursa Major. Note the similarities with Al-Uzzā and the caracal, or desert lynx in the acacia trees, and the cat goddess, Bastet, which lived in the “sacred ished (or perseæ) tree of life” in the time of her killing the evil snake god Apep).

The northern sky is a large clock, with Polaris—the North Star at its center. The North Star is the brightest star in the asterism known as the Little Dipper. It is so-called because of the special position it occupies relative to Earth’s axis: So named for its location... almost directly in line with the North Celestial Pole—Polaris, which, lies at the end of the handle of the Little Dipper, whose stars are faint compared to those of the Big Dipper.

The Big Dipper asterism has two parts—a bowl and a handle. Both its handle and Cassiopeia shine on opposite sides of Polaris—an imaginary line from any star on the Big Dipper handle through Polaris reliably points to Cassiopeia. As Cassiopeia raises upward the Big Dipper plunges downward, and vice-versa: Comparable to the rising of the Mayan eagle “Nahuì-ollin” (“four movements”) at sunrise and its descent at sunset—central image of the prophetic Piedra de Sol “calendar stone” of Tenochtitlan, which is the single-most iconic image of Aztec culture. To the Irish it was “An Camchéachta” (“the bent plough”; i.e., the Big Dipper) (v.s.)

The stars which mark the celestial bowl are: Merak, Dubhe, Megrez, and Phecda—those which represent the celestial handle are Alkaid, Mizar and Alioth. They are collectively known as “septentrio” [from septem (seven) and triones (oxen)] viz. the seven oxen driving the plough, which the Babylonian star catalogues identify as the “Wagon of Heaven” (cf. Thor’s and/or Odin’s Wain).

Dubhe along with Alioth and Alkaid are the three stars of “Beta Ursae Majoris” (β UMa)—a bluish-white subgiant star selected for celestial navigation by which the Phoenicians sailed. [Hindu mythology portrays Dubhe as Kratu and Merak as Pulaha, two of the “mind-born” sons of Lord Brahma, the “rishis” (“seven sages”) of the Saptarishi (“Great Bear”) which Vishnu placed around Dhruv Tara—the pole star.]

A line from the two outermost stars in the bowl of the Big Dipper points to Polaris. These are called Dubhe—the second brightest star of the seven stars that form the Big Dipper, and Merak—the traditional name for the fifth brightest star.. And note that Polaris marks the tip of the handle of the “Little Dipper”: Ursa Minor (Latin: “Lesser Bear”).

However, Polaris has not always been the North Star and will not always be the North Star. But our present-day Polaris won’t remain the North Star forever, due to a motion of Earth known as the precession of the equinoxes. Gamma Cephei stands next in line to inherit the North Star title. This star will be closer to the north celestial pole than Polaris around 3000 CE.

“Are You Ready for a Tenth Crusade” or “The New World Order Global Caliphate”

To the Reader

The Canadian Constitution Act of 1982 simply states in its preamble that “Canada is founded upon principles that recognize the supremacy of God and the rule of law” and commences in detailing the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms which contains the basic rules about “natural persons” and “strawman entities,” such as the incorporated federal, and provincial and territorial governments in Canada. The Charter protects those basic rights and limited freedoms of a free and democratic country: For example, freedom of expression may be limited by laws against hate propaganda, namely degrading speech causing psychological injury or physical distress, or child pornography or propaganda advocating genocide. Everyone has freedom of conscience and religion, being guaranteed freedom of thought, belief, opinion and expression, including freedom of the press and other media of communication, and ensuring that every “natural person” and all “strawman entities” have equal standing and human dignity and are free to create and express their ideas. According to Section 319(1) of the Canadian Criminal Code it an offence to communicate expressions that bluntly malign in a public place or, by showing “willful blindness,” communicating statements other than in private conversation that publicly incite outright acts of violence and discrimination (i.e., hatred) against any identifiable group despite dissenting opinions.

Dhul-Suwayqatayn

The Kaaba will be destroyed after two hostile, corrupt forces opposed to the people of God rush headlong down every hill <sup>45</sup> and ravage the earth before the end of the world.

<sup>45</sup> The Guti or Quti were a nomadic people of West Asia who lived primarily around Hamadan in the central Zagros Mountains range—the last stage of a barbarous and rapacious migration from the northern coast of the Black Sea and Caspian Sea. Hamadan or Ahmatha, called Ecbatana or Hāgmatāna, is one of the oldest cities in the western part of Iran, southwest of Tehran on the slopes of Mount Alvan with its beautiful peak, midst the hills of Hegmataneh and Mossalla, the scenic Morad Baig and the Abbasabad Valleys: It is one of the cradles of Oriental civilization.

The Gutians appeared in increasing numbers throughout Sumer and Akkad and wrought the collapse of those subjugated Empires, ruling for several chaotic generations, towards the end of the 3rd millennium BC..

The Gutians overthrew Elam and swept through Sumer, effectively destroying the Akkadian Empire (ruled at that time either by Naram-Sin or by his son Shar-kali-sharri), and ending Sumerian/Akkadian domination of the region. Both Sumer and Egypt endured a short dark age at this time.

Nothing is known about their origins. They may have been an Indo-European-speaking people, possibly related linguistically to Tocharians—an Indo-European people who inhabited the medieval oasis city-states on the northern edge of the Tarim Basin (modern Xinjiang, north-west China) in ancient times and found only in the region of Turfan and Qārāshahr (Karashahr), a nearby oasis located to the west roughly midway between Turfan and Kučā.

Though the Gutians ruled for nigh unto a century, they proved to be very poor rulers and, being crude administrators, prosperity declined. They were not at all used to the complexities of civilization and failed to provide proper organisation, particularly in connection with the canal network. This was allowed to sink into disrepair, with famine and death resulting. A short dark age swept over Mesopotamia. The Gutians based themselves near the ruins of Agade, so the cities in the south enjoyed a certain level of freedom, and were able to manage their own affairs to an extent.

Hamadan

Hamadan or Ahmatha is whereat the brick-and-stone graveyard crypt of Mordecai and beauteous Esther, Queen of the Jews—wife of Khashayarshah—infer below.*

More-so, this is also whereat is the tomb of Queen Shushandokht daughter of Babylonian exilarch Rav Huna bar Nathan, the wife of the Zoroastrian Shah Yazdegerd I—an Iranian King of Kings of the Neo-Persian Sasanian Empire, which was a superpower in late antiquity alongside its neighbouring arch-rival, the Roman-Byzantine Empire. It is also whereat is the grave of the great Iranian scientist, Avicenna, whose mausoleum dome is inspired by the shape of Qabous Voshmgir Tower—infer below.†

Furthermore, Hamadan is where once was the seven-walled castle of Haft Hessar which had a thousand rooms and its grandeur equaled that of the Babylon Tower—infer below ‡.

* Xerxes I the Great, commonly identified as the Persian king Ahasuerus, the fourth King of Kings of the Achaemenid Empire (ruling from 486 to 465 BC) was the son and successor of Darius I the Great (r. 522–486 BC) and his mother was Atossa eldest daughter of “dearly beloved” Cassandane sister-wife of the despotic Persian King of Kings Cambyses II Pharnaspes, the second King of Kings of the Achaemenid Empire (from 530 to 522 BC). And, his grandfather was the first Achaemenid king, Cyrus the Great Elder (r. 550–530 BC) son of King Cambyses I of Anshan and Mandane daughter of King Astyages the Spear-chucker of Media, last king of the Median Empire (r. 585–550 BC).

Cyrus the Great, known as King Kuras of Parsumaš, was the founder of the Achaemenid Empire—the world’s first superpower. Anshan was an ancient city located in the Zagros Mountains in southwestern Iran, one of the earliest urban states of Susa and the Mesopotamian area and one of the earliest capitals of Elam. It was established on important trade routes—a complex of several interconnected valleys and plains.

Atossa, in who was vested “great authority,” was troubled by a bleeding lump in her breast, this being excised by her Greek slave Democedes of Croton—“the most skillful physician of his time.” (The first recorded case of mastitis, of which about 10% of breastfeeding women are affected, and sometimes interpreted as a sign of an inflammatory breast cancer.)

While en route to Syria (Eber-Nari), Cambyses received a wound to the thigh, which was soon affected by gangrene. He died three weeks later at a location called Agbatana, which is most likely the modern city of Hama—on the banks of the Orontes River in west-central Syria north of Damascus. He died childless, and was thus succeeded by his younger brother Bardiya, known as Smerdis among the Greeks, whom was impersonated by the Magian usurper Gaumata, who ruled for a short period before being overthrown by Darius the Great, who went on to increase the power of the Achaemenids even further.

† Gonbad-e Qabus is a monument in Gonbad-e Qabus, Iran, and a UNESCO World Heritage Site since 2012. It marks the grave of Ziyarid ruler Qabus Shams al-Ma’ali, and was built during his lifetime in 1006/7. It is a cylindrical tomb tower that reaches c. 61 metres and can be seen from some 30 kilometers away. The tower is the only remaining evidence of Jorjan, a former centre of arts and science that was destroyed during the Mongols’ invasion in the 14th and 15th centuries. The Ziyaridid Dynasty was a minor Islamic dynasty of the Caspian coastlands.

‡ There was once a castle in Hamaden, one of the most ancient parts of Iran and its civilization, which was completely destroyed during the Timurid invasion—a Sunni Muslim dynasty or clan of Turco-

A group of prophecies by Muhammad, known as Dhul-Suwayqatayn, say Abyssinian (Ethiopian) men <sup>48</sup> destined by God to destroy the Kabah will emerge at the end of time. There are two traditions regarding the time of the Kabaa’s destruction: The Kaaba will be destroyed when Isa (Jesus) is still alive—before Isa’s army can reach God, Iness sends a wind to take the souls of all believers, leaving only disbelievers behind.<sup>49</sup> Dhul-Suwayqatayn will then destroy the Kaabah, taking it down brick by brick.

<sup>46</sup> The two sides are opposed to each other and they are always bickering back-and-forth with one another. The atheistic Chinese are simply a part of this, but they are only one side; orthodox Russia is the main player and the Luciferean military-industrialist ZOG America is another.

Refer to Rope and Torch Grit Volume 2, “World War III is inevitable.”

<sup>47</sup> Gog of Magog is found in the Hebrew Bible (Ezekiel chs. 38 & 39) and is considered by many to be a reference to “Satan,” and is mentioned in the Apocalyptic writings of Saint John the Divine Evangelist (Revelation 20:8): Alternatively, Gog may be derived from Magog rather than the other way round, and “Magog” may be code for Babylon (i.e., the Papal See in Rome, Italy and/or the Crown City of London in London, England and/or Washington, D.C. in America).

In Revelation, Gog and Magog together are the hostile nations of the world. Gog or Goug the Reubenite occurs in 1 Chronicles 5:4, but appears to have no connection with the Gog of Ezekiel or Magog of Genesis. The Biblical “Gog and Magog” is possibly a derivation of the name Gogmagog, a legendary British giant.

Magog, second of the seven sons of Japheth mentioned in the Table of Nations in Genesis 10, was also supposed to have had a grandson called Heber (Hebrew), whose offspring spread throughout the Mediterranean. The Celtic Fenius Farsaid, Partholón, Nemed, the Fir Bolg, the Tuatha de Danann, and the Milesians are among Magog’s descendants.

<sup>48</sup> Ethiopian Jews, who constitute a small minority of the Israeli population, suffer discrimination (and military/police brutality) by the terrorist State of Israeli, which has been devious enough to divide ethnic groups to ensure there will never be a joint fight against racism. Subtle and overt bigotry in Israel is not strange—with several different ethnic populations; there is a clear preference for Ashkenazi (Jews of Eastern and Central European descent which is “White” Caucasian) in matters of social, economic and political concern. But this comes as no shock to other groups living in Israel and the Occupied Palestinian Territories. The full force of the Israeli discrimination is propagated against the Palestinians on a daily basis: (The Palestinians in the West Bank, unlike the and Ethiopian Jews, which exist outside the Israeli system and seeks to de-legitimize the state as an occupier.

Mizrahi Jews that had existed in the Middle East and North Africa from biblical times were and continue to be subject to severe discrimination. Since the inception of the state, the Mizrahi were subject to ghettoization, cultural theft, and medical experimentation (which exasperates the memory of our world’s collective unconscious traumatized by post-traumatic stress caused by Nazi’s at Auschwitz, in Japan’s Unit 731, or in Stalin’s gulags). Most disturbing of all was the alleged kidnapping of hundreds of Yemenite babies during the years 1948-1956. Although the Zionist establishment viewed Yemenite Jews as being the most “authentic” Jews, they were still seen through the prism of the East, infected with a disease that could only be cured through “population control”—which is a matter of prime importance to the UN Agenda 21 (with regard to sustainable development and the global warming fiasco), the UN Agenda 2030 (concerning the “Great Replacement” end-goal of the Third World tsunamigration crisis), creation of the one-world global village (which is only comparable to places such toilets as Bangladesh), and the emergence of an Afro-Asiatic subhuman akin unto Stalin’s “humanzees,” a slave-society bred by the Kalergian New World Order (as inscribed on the Georgia Guidestones).

<sup>49</sup> But in Christian tradition, a sudden and unexpected death is not a good death. This is because Christians believe that at death one comes into the presence of God

One branch of Christian theology, “dispensational premillennialism,” holds that Christ will physically return to earth to sort the wicked from the godly before a tribulation, whence anyone left behind will suffer various torments and plagues.

The word “rapture” isn’t used in the Holy Bible, but the idea of Judgment Day appears in all the canonical gospels. It’s probably most frequently associated with the apocalyptic imagery of the Book of Revelation, but it’s most clearly laid out in the Book of Matthew, in which it is propheesied that the Son of Man will send out his angels with a trumpet call to “gather his elect from the four winds, from one end of the heavens to the other,” before separating the righteous sheep from the accursed goats (Matthew 24:31, and 25:31–46). Cf. the Parable of the Tares (Matthew 13:24-30), whereof a

The trials and temptations of “fitna” persecution will announce the calamities of the “Great Tribulation”—the annihilation of all creatures, resurrection of the body, and the judgment of all sentient creatures. It is a time where every gladden soul shalt reap the guerdon of his or her emotive thoughts and the largesse meed of their deeds in life with justice <sup>50</sup> and find comfort in the thricefold strange enemy sneaks into a farmer’s field and sows “zizanian” (darnel—a seed hardly identifiable from the wheat seed) amongst the good wheat. The weeds are gathered up at harvest with the grain and burned with fire.

As Christians, we should not fear death, but rather ready ourselves for the cataclysmic events of the Great Tribulation preceding the end of the Age and the Second Coming of Christ. For the Lord Iself will descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel and with the trumpet of God, and the dead in Christ will rise first.

<sup>50</sup> In Islamic tradition, we all have two kiranman katibin (honorable scribes), called Raqib and Atid, sitting upon our shoulders and carefully recording a précis of our sayings and doings during our lifetime—the angel on our right shoulder notes our virtues (thawab) and the angel on our left our “sins” (ithim), which will decide the rewards of and/or Punishment of the Grave and our eternal destiny. If, in life, we “shunned transgressions of disobedience” (“Istighfār”) and “continually sought after forgiveness” (“tevbe”) of God from negligence and indecency by means of both our tongue and heart, which are tied together so as to reveal our secret thoughts, God will bestow upon us a way out of every distress and a relief from every anxiety.

For forty days-and-nights after our earthly death, we abide in Barzakh (a veiled realm between death and resurrection which is neither heaven nor hell, where unborn souls exist awaiting Archangel Metatron (Mītrūsh) the primordial “Angel of Life” and “Voice of God” to blow their soul into wombs) reflect on our faith in God and Divine Mercy and repent the blasphemous profanities of our mortality—pride, greed, wrath, envy, lust, gluttony, and sloth. Thereafter, two snake-tongued skull-faced angels, Munkar and Nakir, will prop our corpse upright in its sepulchre and ask three questions of us: Who is your Lord? What is your religion? Did you “shirk” (the unforgivable sin of idolatry or polytheism) in life? The poor souls which incorrectly answers is beaten every day, other than Friday, until Allah (God) gives permission for the beating to stop.

Many Christians believe the dead are judged immediately after death and wait judgment in peace or torment because of the way they interpret several key New Testament passages. Although, in Luke 16:19–31, it appears that Christ represents Lazarus and Dives as receiving their respective rewards immediately after death—as a “true believer” is “reborn or born again” so is it with the annihilation of all creatures, resurrection of the body, and the judgment of all sentient creatures. It is a time where everyone would be shown his or her deeds and actions with justice.

The Weighing of the Heart in the Duat

When we refer to our hearts in regard to love, or any other emotion, we are invoking a living memory of the ancient Egyptian belief system. The Egyptians believed that the heart, rather than the brain, was the source of human wisdom, as well as emotions, memory, the soul and the personality itself. After death we must pass through the Harmonious Halls of Ma’at where jackal-headed Lord Anubis—the “mummified” god of death and the Afterlife weighs our heart against the “ostrich feather” of Ma’at—the daughter of Re the Sun god and personification of truth, justice and the cosmic order. If, in life, we are moral and ethical and had lived in accordance to the 42 principle laws of innocence, our hearts will rest at peace, freeing our spirit to continue on evermore. If we have our heart weighs “restless” (i.e., impure) in undergoing judgment, we are not allowed to continue the voyage towards Osiris and immortality, and our heart is fed to the dread demomess Ammut—whose chimerica body hadst the head of a crocodile, the forelimbs of a leopard and the hindquarters of a hippopotamus... the three most dangerous man-eating animals in ancient Egypt. Once Ammut swallowed the heart, the soul wouldst experience a second death and burn in hellfire forever.

Cf. the Akkadian god Inshushinak who, together with his co-counsel, the goddess Ishme-karab, argued the eternal fate of the dead soul after it surrendered its mortal flesh vehicle Whereas Inshushinak was a counsel for prosecution for the newly dead, Ishme-karab was counsel for the defense: (As with Raqib and Atid—supra). The goddess La’omer (“no mercy”) was the final judge of the dead soul in the underworld.

[Refer to endnote, “The Battle of the Vale of Siddim”: Issue 3, “Are you ready for a tenth crusade?”] (King Kedorlaomer of Elam was a servant of the Akkadian goddess La’omer)]

The Greek Judges of the Dead

Furthermore, in Greek mythology, Rhadamanthys, Minos and Aiakos (Aeacus) were three demi-god ministers of Hades, which hadst been former kings in life, but in death, were chosen to decide the fate of the deceased in the afterlife. The three brothers had been born in the same cave on Mount Ida, on the island of Crete, as was born Chthonic Zeus (Zeus Kthonios)—who was either an avatar of Zeus, God-King of the Olympians or epithet of Hades, Lord of the Underworld.

Zeus was overwhelmed with desire for the mortal princess of Tyre, Europa—the beautiful daughter of King Agenor of Tyre; her mother being a naiad or river-goddess named truth of which “we are in Christ—children of God” with every reason to rejoice in our “reclamation” and “future glory in eternity.”

Yea, all the euphoric righteous shalt surely experience the beatific rapture and be instantly taken... a temporal corpse fleshed of pneumatic psyche and transformed into a perfect empyrean resurrection soma (as hap’t during such deplorable events as the Nazi Blitzkreig of Poland, the allied “saturation bombing” of Dresden and the holocausts of Hiroshima and Nagasaki). <sup>51</sup>

Argiope Telephassa “the far-shining”—a lunar epithet. Zeus transformed himself into a magnificent white bull and whence Europa and her attendants were down by the shore gathering flowers, Zeus, as the bovine, approached them and lay down at the feet of Europa. Zeus then transformed into human form and coupled with Europa beneath a cypress tree, thus siring of her three sons: Minos, Rhadamanthys, and Aiakos Sarpedon—infer.

Afterwards, Zeus abandoned Europa on the island of Crete, where she prospered and married Asterion—the Cretan king, who adopted her sons. Note: Through her father, Europa was a granddaughter of Poseidon, and also a descendant of the mortal naiad-nymph Princess Io of Argos, called Callithyia—the first priestess of Argive Hera, who was turned into a “white heifer” (i.e., the moon) by Hera for her tryst with Hera’s adulterous husband, Zeus.

Io * was a daughter of the Oceanid Melia, an ash-tree nymph, and Inachus, a son of Oceanus and Tethys—the first god-king of Argolis in the Peloponnesos (after whom is named the Inachus River, southern Greece). Note: According to Hesiod, the Melian nymphs were the progenitors of the generation of men belonging to the Bronze Age.

Rhadamanthys and Minos had established the first laws ever used in Greece. Rhadamanthys, along with his brothers, was adopted by King Asterion of Crete, but when Asterion died, Minos usurped the power of the throne, forcing Rhadamanthys and Aeacus to flee Crete. Minos was the tyrant king of Crete—whereof, he demanded Athens surrender tribute of 14 virgin youths (7 girls and 7 boys), which he sacrificed every nine (it varies) years to the half-man half-bull Minotaur imprisoned within the Labyrinth built by the magician Daedalus—like Thoth, was a symbol of wisdom, knowledge and power—and the equal of Imhotep or Hiram Abiff and as wise as Hermes Trismegistus or Pythagoras.

Aiakos [Aeacus] of Aegina, “king of the ants”—a most pious man, was asked by Poseidon and Apollo (as mortals) to help build the walls of Ilium (Troy). After they were built, dragons rushed the walls and the one built by Aeacus fell. Apollo thenes foretold that Troy would fall at the hands of Aeacus’ descendants (the Aeacidae).

Diodorus Siculus says that Rhadamanthys possessed “great justice,” and that Minos “ruled wholly in accordance with law and paid the greatest heed to justice.” Whereas Rhadamanthys was made judge of those dead from the East (i.e., the Orient—inferred Egypt, Mesopotamia and the Levant which lay betwixt them more-so than India and Cathay), Aeacus, whom was given control of the very keys to Hades the Underworld, was made judge of those dead from the West (i.e., Europe—inferred Greece and Rome more-so than of the Celtic realms or Germania). Minos, though, was given the deciding vote in any disagreement. Notwithstanding, it was Rhadamanthys which had the power to send someone to Tartarus (hell), the Asphodel Meadows (nothingness or purgatory) or the Elysian Fields (paradise).

Moreover, Statius—a Roman poet of the 1st century wrote in his magnum opus, “The Thebaid” that these judges are needed in order to counter the harsh temper of Hades, who is described as “a bloodthirsty king.”

* Libya was the daughter of King Epaphus of Egypt son of Zeus and Io, called Apis or Munantius, and his wife Cassiopeia Memphis daughter of the river-god Uchoreus: According to the ancient Greek historian Diodorus Siculus (Diod. Sic. 1.50), Uchoreus was the eighth Egyptian king—and the eighth child of Ozymandias (Ramesses II—a corruption in translation of Menes) and the founder of Memphis, which he made into a strong fortress with an embankment and a large lake. More-so, he was the ancestor of the “dark Libyans, and high-souled Aethiopians, and the Underground-folk and feeble Pygmies.” Note: Libya, like Ethiopia or Scythia, was one of the mythic outlands that encircled the Greek world of the Hellenes.

Cf. Queen Cassiopeia of “the henna-tinted hand” of Joppa in Palestine (called Aethiopia), nymphet daughter of Coronus and the Oceanid Zeuxo who offended the Nereid daughters of the sea-god Poseidon by boasting that her daughter Princess Andromeda Iunioris—goddess of dreams was more beautiful than they—a display of hubris Andromeda). Refer to footnote 37, “A Prophecy about the ‘Son of Man’”: A Mythological Symbol of “Cosmic Movement”: Issue 5, “Are you ready for a tenth crusade?”

<sup>51</sup> There will be a solar eclipse in middle of the month of fast and prayer, this beginning from the first sighting of the crescent moon and lasting unto a lunar eclipse in that month. There will be HAARP “fires in the sky” as the first of “the seven trumpets of end-times” sounds and hail and fire mingled with blood will be thrown to Earth, burning up trees and green grass—successive nuclear wars cause the deaths of hundreds of millions and as the “first apocalyptic bowl” is poured out—and bio-chemical hostilities will scathe the flesh of all those which bear the “RFID Mark of the Beast” with loathsome sores and festering boils.

1 Peter 1.3 <sup>52</sup>

“Praise is to the God and Father of our Christ Messiah! In his abundance of great mercy has given us new birth into an ever-living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead.”

We wretched now enjoy the privilege of “new hope” for a perfect inheritance beyond the reach of the tumultuous sea of change and storms of decay—an elysian field “reserved” for us in the Halcyon Age of Promise. And, having every reason to live, in our fecundating mortality, in our love of life guarded by “the Power of the Calvarious Blood” operating through our faith and hope and charity, till we enter fully into the idyllic vindication which is all ready for us—the dénouement of the last day, wf “we quick and those dead shall be ‘born again’.”

While the oxygen in the air nourishes the body, faith nourishes the heart and the soul.
A bulwark of trust and love and hope higher optimism, external control, and self-esteem

And 'Isa shall plunge the “Spear of Destiny” into Dajjal’s chest, ending his dreaded reign. The supporters of Dajjal will be rooted out, for even the trees and rocks will speak out against them. 'Isa will break the cross, kill the swine (pig) (not to be mistaken for an animal but rather a sinful creature be it man or not, the follower of sin) and save humanity.

He will break the cross, kill the pigs, and abolish the Jizya tax—a per capita yearly taxation (i.e., extortion) historically levied in the form of a “strong-arm” financial charge on permanent non-Muslim subjects of a state governed by Islamic law in return for the safety of their lives. Muslims were already paying the “zakah”—one of the “five pillars of Islam”—”which was 2.5% (or 1/40th)<sup>53</sup> of a Muslim’s annual savings to be redistributed among the poorest and most vulnerable members of society (so long their annual savings was above a certain amount).

Then all battles shall cease and the world will know an age of peace—the rule of 'Isa will be just and all shall flock to him to enter the folds of the one true religion... which neither hath a name nor doth it limit the Creator to human necessity.<sup>54</sup> energy Technology will be launched by a coalition of Lockheed Martin, Boeing and the Northrop Grumman Corporation—and “a great mountain burning with fire” will plunge into the sea, turning the oceans to blood. And, as the “second bowl of end-times anguish” is poured out, all sea life and all ships upon or within the deep will be destroyed, yet the “Romans” will consider this a victory.

The third trumpet will sound as the International Space Station (ISS) falls to the Earth as a great flame, called Wormwood. And, as the third bowl is poured out, poisoning the planet’s freshwater sources, such as rivers and springs, all those which shed the blood of the innocents will die from drinking its bitter taste.

As the fourth bowl is poured out, a major heatwave will scorch the planet with fire—yet, the incorrigible wicked will refuse to repent while they blaspheme God. And as the fifth bowl is poured out, a thick darkness will overwhelm the kingdom of the beast. And the fourth trumpet will sound as the light that shines from the sun, moon, and stars darkens from the rising clouds of dust that arise as the celestial bodies accompanying Wormwood strike the ground. This is the final trumpet that sounds before the three woes.

Revelations 8.13

“Woe, woe, woe, to ye which yet dwell amongst those living upon the earth... for three remaining trumpets of angels are about to sound!”

The Three Woes

How much more the hearts of the children of men so their eyes are never satisfied?

The fifth trumpet is the “first woe” of three: As the fifth bowl is poured out, a thick darkness overwhelms the kingdom of the beast, Exterminans (“whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon,” meaning “destruction,” and, in Greek it is “Apollyon” “the Destroyer”) bringing the all-consuming fire of hell on earth. And he is the locust-king of the dead and the smoking pit of the grave (Sheol) of “loving kindness”—and, as the “bottomless pit” empties itself of the worthless mutant sons of Belial—monsters adorned with golden crowns and protected with iron breastplates. They ride long-haired human-faced scorpion-tailed warhorses with mouths full of gnashing lion’s fangs and the wings of locusts, quick becoming to reign uncontested in what remains of this life—flooding the purgatory of the vale of Gehinnom <sup>51</sup> which lies naked before them and destruction hath no covering—commanded so by their king to torment anyone who does not have the seal of God on their forehead. Still, the incorrigible wicked refuse to repent while they blaspheme, and the wicked continue to stubbornly refuse to repent and glorify God.

After the fifth trumpet blast, the sixth one sounds and the sixth bowl of lamentations is poured out. This is the “second woe”: Four fallen angels are released from their binds in the “great river Euphrates,” and as it dries up these wicked kings of the east cross over, prepared to battle, commanding two-hundred million mounted troops whose horses exude plagues of fire, smoke, and brimstone from their mouths. These mounted horsemen wearing breastplates of the color of fire, hyacinth, and brimstone—and their horses are with lion’s head and tails, as well, are like serpent heads. Three unclean spirits with the appearance of frogs come, one each, out of the mouths of the dragon, the beast, and the false prophet. These demonic spirits work Satanic miracles to gather the nations of the world to battle against the forces of good during the Battle of Armageddon.

When the seventh bowl will be poured out as the sound of the seventh trumpet signals the “third woe”: A global earthquake will cause all the cities of the world to collapse. All the mountains and islands will be removed from their foundations. Giant hailstones plummet onto the planet and the final plagues are so severe that the hatred of wicked intensifies and, incorrigibly, they continue to curse God

This is the final trumpet and the final woe. Loud voices in Heaven will say: “The kingdom of the world has become the kingdom of our Lord and of His Messiah, and He will reign forever and ever.”

<sup>52</sup> St. Peter the Apostle was original known as Simeon or Simon the Leper of Bethany. He is one of the most obscure votaries of Christ Jesus, recognized in the early-Christian church as the leader of the 12 disciples and by the Roman Catholic Church as the first of its unbroken succession of popes. Peter, a Cananaean fisherman, was called to be a disciple of Jesus at the beginning of our Lord’s earthly ministry. He received from Jesus the name Cephas (from Aramaic Kepa (“Rock”); hence Peter, from Petros, a Greek translation of Kepa).

<sup>53</sup> A poor person is someone whose property, in excess of his basic requirements, does not reach the “nisab” threshold, referring to “the minimum amount of wealth and possessions that a Muslim must own before being obligated to pay zakat.” In other words, if personal wealth is below the nisab—a quarter of one-tenth (2.5%) of the total money earned during one lunar year, no zakat is owed for that period. The recipient must not belong to your immediate family; your spouse, children, parents and grandparents cannot receive your zakat. Other relatives, however, can receive your zakat.

Following the “eschaton,” whence God hath so decreed the fates of all individual humans, according to the good and evil of their earthly lives, Isa will marry “the ewe” and as a bridegroom rejoices over his bride shall sire a son and other children... and will live for 19 years after this marriage.

race” according to the “eternal laws of nature, the experience of history, on logic and common sense” as “the whole cosmos, the total universe, including its millions of natural laws through space and time.” Creators do not believe in a supernatural afterlife, believing “immortality” to be genetic and memorial, with a cessation of consciousness at death. They believe that we should view life and death on Earth in a “rational, fearless manner,” concentrating on life’s positive aspects. Yet, whereas “Atheism” and Creativity both reject supernatural beliefs, such as those of gods, devils, spooks, spirits, heaven or hell... atheism lacks a "positive creed and program" to replace the god-damned Abrahamic religions.

Membership in the Creativity movement is restricted to persons whose genetic heritage is “wholly or predominantly" from Europe or members of the White race, regardless of where they reside.” Creators are also expected to refute homosexuality, miscegenation, whining or complaining, and superstition.

Creativity has “Sixteen Commandments” and “Five Fundamental Beliefs” which adherents are supposed to recite five times daily, including the belief that “their race is their religion,” that the White race is “nature’s finest creation,” that racial loyalty is the “greatest honor”” and racial treason is the “worst crime,” that anything beneficial for White people is good and anything detrimental for White people is bad, and that Creativity is the “one and only, true and revolutionary White racial religion,” refuting other similar racist religions such as Christian Identity or Wotanism.

Our Eurocentric culture has become irreversibly “more-and-more decadent,” as evidenced by “Black crimes, the growing acceptance of homosexuality and feminization of the Patriarch, interracial marriage, increasing drug use, and the lack of racial identity among White people.”

Who is a Muslim?

According to the common understanding prevalent around the world, a Muslim is one who believes in Allah and that Muhammad is His messenger. But this is totally erroneous—a misunderstanding—as this belief is neither based on the Arabic language nor on facts. This deliberate falsification of history and theology was propagated by the recently converted pagan Arabs during-and-after their worldwide conquests. From then on, they imposed their will upon the subject peoples and unjustifiably arrogated faith to themselves alone and only thereafter applying the term Muslim to other credible non-Arabian converts.

Islam, the religion of submission par excellence, is derived from the Arabic verb “Aslama” (meaning “to submit!”—as is applicable to the Divine Will of the One True God, Allah). Contrary to deliberate and mendacious claims by the current followers of Muhammad, Islam only means “submission” and has absolutely nothing at all to do with “peace,” which is “salaam.”

Muslim Disciples of Hazrat Isa (Jesus)

Jesus and his disciples were of the faith of the Jews, and as such they were pure monotheists and hence automatically Muslims: believers in the One and Only God. Anyone who has knowledge of the New Testament wouldst know that it was neither Gabriel, or Allah nor even Yahweh which sent Jesus the “good news” of the Gospels. The Gospels were not mere revelations to Hazrat Eesa (Jesus) but books which were composed long after Jesus hadst died.

Any living soul-creature of flesh from anywhere in the entire Universe who declares belief in the One and Only God, is automatically a Muslim... according to Islam. Yet, Muslims believe that Isa did not die on “the cross” but Allah raised Him to heaven and He will return to defeat the Dajjal (Anti-Christ). According to a Hadith, He is on “the second heaven.” But, whence the trumpet sounds marking His “moment of descent” the Messiah will resemble the famous sahabi Urwa bin Masoodi—a semi-legendary Thaqifi chieftain of Taif who became a companion of Muhammad: (Companions of the Prophet or “aṣ-ṣaḥābah) were the disciples and followers of Muhammad who “saw or met the prophet during his lifetime and were physically in his presence”). He was one of the first people from his tribe to accept Islam, and he was martyred in his home city by his fellow chieftains, being killed whilst preaching “the love that Islam brought about in his heart.”

The First Converts to Islam

The first converts to Islam at the time of Muhammad were: Khadija bint Khuwaylid, commonly known as Khadija—she was the first wife and first female convert of Muhammad: (According to the Sunnis, Khadija married three times and had children from all her marriages; while the order of her marriages is debated, it is generally believed that she first married Abu Hala Malak ibn Nabash ibn Zarrara ibn at-Tamimi and second Atiq ibn A'idh ibn Abdullah Al-Makhzumi. To her first husband she bore two sons, who were both given what were usually feminine names, Hala and Hind. He died before his business became a success. To husband Atiq, Khadija bore a daughter named Hindah. This marriage also left Khadija as a widow.

According to Sunni sources, she married Muhammad and had six children: Their first son was Qasim, who died before his second birthday (hence Muhammad's kunya-name Abu Qasim—a name which is honorably given to the mother or father of an Arabic child: A married person, especially women, are called by their kunya name, the masculine of which is “abi” and the feminine is “umm,” plus the name of their first son). Khadija then gave birth to their daughters Zaynab, Ruqayyah, Umm Kulthum and Fatima; and lastly to their son Abdullah, who also died in childhood.

According to some Shi'ite sources, Khadija and Muhammad together had only one biological daughter, Fatimah. The others either belonged to Khadija's sister or were from one of her previous marriages and were treated by Muhammad as his own daughters—she had first married Malik ibn Nabash ibn Zarrara ibn at-Tamimi and her second husband was Atiq ibn 'A'idh ibn' Abdullah Al-Makhzumi—she bore a daughter for him).

Zainab bint Muhammad—the eldest daughter of Muhammad by his first wife Khadija bint Khuwaylid, Ruqayyah—the second daughter of Muhammad and Khadija, Umm Kulthum—the third daughter of Muhammad and Khadija , Fatimah—youngest daughter of Muhammad and Khadija, who in later centuries became the object of deep veneration by many Muslims, especially Shiites Ali ibn Abi Talib—a cousin and son-in-law of Muhammad, which was the first male to convert, and is one of the central figures in Shia Islam, being regarded as the rightful immediate successor to Muhammad: His love for Ali was immense. Ali protected Muhammad from an early age and took part in almost all the battles fought by the nascent Muslim community. After migrating to Medina, he married Muhammad's daughter Fatimah. He was appointed caliph by Muhammad's companions after Uthman ibn Affan (from the powerful Umayyad clan)—a son-in-law and notable sahabi (companion) of Muhammad, as well as the third of the Rashidun, or “Rightly Guided Caliphs,” who was at assassinated of the end of a siege upon his house: Uthman was married to Ruqayyah, and upon her death, married Umm Kulthum—both his wives having been elder daughters of Muhammad and Khadija, which earned him the honorific title Dhū al-Nurayn (“The Possessor of Two Lights”).

Ali was the fourth and last of the “rightly guided” caliphs (Muhammad's closest friends and advisors during the early years of Islam, reigning from 656 to 661) and the first imam of the Shi'ah—one of the two main branches of Islam, which holds that the Islamic prophet Muhammad designated Ali ibn Abi Talib as his successor and the Imam after him.

Abu Bakr Abdullah ibn Uthman, was a sahabi (companion) and, through his daughter ‘Ā'ishah bint Abī Bakr, a father-in-law of Muhammad, as well as the first of the Rashidun Caliphs (i.e., successor of Mohammed as ruler of the Arab state): Aisha was Muhammad's most beloved and favoured wife after his first wife, Khadija, who died before the migration to Medina took place. The second caliph, Umar ibn al-Khattab, was one of the most powerful and influential Muslim caliphs in history. He was a senior sahabi of Muhammad—and, in 634 CE he succeeded Abu Bakr as the second caliph of the Rashidun Caliphate: His wife, Aatika bint Zayd, was a companion of Muhammad—former wife of Abdullah ibn Abu Bakr whom he married after his murder: Zainab bint Madh'uwn was the first wife of Umar. It was under Umar whom Arab armies conquered Mesopotamia and Syria and began the conquest of Iran and Egypt was stabbed by Piruz Nahavandi, a Zoroastrian priest warrior and Umar's Sasanian slave.

The Wives of the Prophet Mohammed

Mohammed

was a polygamous pedophilic opportunist and homosexual who first married the rich widow al-Kubra Khadija bint Khuwaylid (age 40) - a "Mother of Believers (Muslims)": Mohammed was her third husband - she had first married Abu Hala Malak ibn Nabash ibn Zarrara ibn al-Tamimi - father of two sons by her (who were given feminine names): Hala and Hind; her second husband was 'Atiq ibn 'A'idh ibn 'Abdullah Al-Makhzumi - father of a daughter named Hindah. Khadija was known as Umm-ul-Mu'mineen (or a "Mother of Believers").

After the Hijra (migration) to Medina Mohammed married Sawda bint Zam'a widow of As-Sakran ibn Amr ) - a "Mother of Believers." Mohammed also married a close friends' daughter, Aisha bint Abu Bakr, the first Rashidun caliph (when she was age 6 or 7, but she stayed with her parents until age 10 or 11 - when the marriage was consummated - Mohammed was age 53). She, too, was - a "Mother of Believers." [It was after the Hijra that Muslims rapidly grew and flowered and bore fruit.]

After the Muslim War with Mecca, Mohammed married several other widows, including: Hafsa bint Umar daughter of Zaynab bint Mazoon and Umar ibn al-Khattāb, the third Rashidun caliph (who was one of the most powerful and influential Muslim caliphs in history) - a "Mother of Believers."

Mohammed also married his cousin Zaynab bint Khuzayma- a "Mother of Believers." Mohammed was her third husband - she had first married Tufail bin Harith (who either died or divorced her) or Husayn bin al-Harith (who died of his wounds in the Battle of Badr); her second husband was either Ubaydah ibn al-Harith brother of Tufail bin Harith or Jahsh ibn Riyab (who was killed in the Battle of Uhud); it has been suggested that she even had a third husband who died. She was the only one of his wives who died before him, except for his first wife Khadija.

Mohammed also married his cousin Hind bint Abi Umayya (Umm Salama) - a "Mother of Believers." She was an old woman who was the most influential of his wives (second only to his first wife Khadija) widow of Abu Salama (who was among the first to convert to Islam) - who was father of four her children: Zaynab (Barrah), Salama, Umar, and Ruqaiyyah (Durra).

Mohammed also married his Jewish maiden slave Rayhana bint Zayd who died young a year before Mohammed. She had refused to accept or convert to Islam and was freed to go back to live with her own people.

Mohammed also "incestuously" married Zaynab bint Jahsh daughter of Jahsh ibn Riyab and Umama bint Abdulmuttalib, one of his father's sisters - the former aristocratic wife of the Prophet's adopted son Zayd ibn Harithah al-Habib ("the Beloved" - a homosexual lover of the Prophet) slave of Mohammed's first wife Khadija. Zaynab, an ambitious woman, was also a "Mother of Believers."

Mohammed also married Juwayriyya bint al-Harith captive daughter of Chief al-Hārith ibn Abi Dirar of the Banu Mustaliq (who was defeated with his tribe in battle with Mohammed) whose husband Mustafa bin Safwan was killed in the battle. Juwayriyya was also a "Mother of Believers."

Mohammed also married Safiyya bint Huyayy daughter of Barra binte Samawal (daughter of the distinguished warrior-poet Samaw'al ibn 'Adiya ibn Sa'yah aka "Samuel the Faithful" of the banu Harith tribe - who had converted to Judaism) of the Banu Qurayza tribe and Chief Huyayy ibn Akhtab of the Jewish Banu al-Nadir tribe (a courageous and learned warrior). Safiyya converted to Islam but did not bear Mohammed any children - still she is called a "Mother of Believers."

Mohammed also married Ramla bint Abi Sufyan (Umm Habiba) daughter of Safiyyah bint Abi al-'As (daughter of Abu al-'As ibn Umayyah grandfather of both Al-Hakam ibn Mu'awiya and Uthman ibn Affan ibn Affan ibn Abi al-'As - her maternal first cousin and paternal second cousin) and her first cousin Abu Sufyan ibn Harb son of Safia (paternal aunt of Maymuna bint al-Harith wife of Mohammed) - a staunch opponent to Mohammed before accepting Islam. She, too, is a "Mother of Believers."

Maymuna (Mahmuna) bint al-Harith aka Khawla daughter of Hind bint Awf (grandmother of Abd Allah ibn Abbas - an early Qur'an scholar) and al-Harith ibn Hazn.

Mohammed's widow Hafsa bint Umar played a roll in the collection of the first Qur'anic manuscript. After Abu Bakr had collected the copy, he gave it to Hafsa, who preserved it until Uthman took it, copied it and distributed it in Muslim lands.

The Children of Mohammed the Prophet

Qasim ibn Muhammed eldest son of Khadija and Mohammed died before his second birthday.

Abd-Allah ibn Muhammed son of Khadija and Mohammed died in childhood.

Zainab bint Muhammed eldest daughter of Khadija and Mohammed married Abu al-Aas ibn al-Rabee of Makkah maternal nephew of Khadija.

Ruqayyah bint Muhammed daughter of Khadija and Mohammed was killed by her husband Uthman ibn Affan, the third Rashidun caliph and first caliph of the Umayyad clan, who was then married her younger sister Umm Kulthum bint Muhammed.

Fāṭimah (Fatima) youngest daughter of Khadija and Mohammed married her father's cousin Ali ibn Abi Talib (whose father was Mohammed's cousin - and a non-Muslim), the first young male to accept Islam. He was the fourth and final Rashidun ("rightly guided") caliph (according to the Sunnis) and the first Imam after Mohammed whose descendants are the rightful heirs of Mohammed (according to the Shias).

The eldest son of Fatima and Ali, Hasan ibn 'Ali ibn Abi Talib, was the second Shiite Imam, (succeeding his father and preceding his younger brother) - the fourth Rashidun caliph and second caliph of the Umayyad clan. He abdicated after six or seven months and Mu'awiya (Muawiyah I), second caliph of the Umayyad Caliphate after his cousin Uthman ibn Affan, succeeded him. Imam Hasan was poisoned by his wife Ja'da bint al-Ash'at ibn Qays al-Kindi at the instruction of Mu'awiya, who promised her gold and marriage to his son Yazid I... but Mu'awiya reneged on his promises and married her off to another man.

The younger son of Fatima and Ali, al-Husayn ibn 'Ali ibn Abi Talib, third Shia Imam - and highly regarded by Shiite Muslims - was killed and beheaded by the army of Yazid I in the Battle of Karbala. [“Yazid ibn Mu’āwiya ibn Abī Sufyāni (Yazid I) - the first caliph to inherit the Umayyad Caliphate - was supposedly killed by his own horse but his remains were never confirmed to be found.]

Ibrahim ibn Muhammad youngest son of Mohammed by Maryam al-Qibtiyya, an Egyptian Coptic Christian slave (sent with her sister Sīrīn as a gift from Muqawqis (Malachite patriarch Cyrus of Alexandria), a Byzantine official) fell seriously ill sometime after the Battle of Tabuk - being sixteen or eighteen months old - and died under the care of his mother and her sister Sīrīn.

Maryam al-Qibtiyya never married after the death of Mohammed and died five years later.

Sīrīn bint Sham'un the slave of Mohammed was married off to Mohammed's court poet Hassan ibn Thabit, (who was supposed to have traveled as far east as China preaching Islam with Sa'd ibn Abi Waqqas, Thabit ibn Qaays, and Uwais al-Qarni): They had one son - 'Abd al-Rahman ibn Hassan.

Note: Mu'awiya (Muawiyah I) ibn Abi-Sufyan second caliph of the Umayyad Caliphate and father of Al-Hakam - was the son of Hind bint Utbah (daughter of 'Utba ibn Rabi'ah, a prominent leader of the Quraysh - a merchant tribe that controlled Mecca and its Ka'aba - the most sacred site of Islam) and Abu Sufyan ibn Harb son of Safia - a powerful man of Mecca. Furthermore, Ramla bint Abi Sufyan daughter of Safiyyah bint Abi al-'As and Abu Sufyan ibn Harb was the step-daughter of Hind bint Utbah.

Umm Kulthum bint al-Walid daughter of al-Walid ibn Umayyad married the second caliph of the Umayyad Caliphate, Mu'awiyah I.

Note: In classical Arabic, “Ibn” and/or “bin” both mean “son” and “ukht” means “daughter,” moreover “bint” literally means “girl.” Related to Akkadian, Abu—a common part of Arabic-derived names, means “father of,” which in Hebrew is Av, Avot or Abot. Al, in Arabic, means “the”—further, several Arabic names refer to God, such as “Abdullah,” which means “servant of God,” but unlike

Abu al-Hasan second caliph of the Umayyad Caliphate was the son of Mu'awiyah I.

The Assassins and Roshaniya
Thomas Allen

[Editor’s note: Footnotes in the original are omitted.]

During the seventh century, a great disturbance came out of Arabia and swept across North Africa into Spain and across the Middle East to Afghanistan and into the Balkans eventually to Austria and Hungary. It was Islam. Mohammed founded Islam, which he built on three basic dogmas: monotheism, belief in the Prophet (Mohammed), and the law of retribution. Assassins Out of Islam came the Assassins. The Assassins formed a secret society that appeared in the eleventh century in Persia. The Assassins were drug users; they used hashish. They grew out of Ismailism.

In the middle of the seventh century following Mohammed’s death, the Moslem world split between the Sunni and the Shia (Shiite) sects.

The Sunni were the orthodox Moslems. They believed that Mohammed was the giver of divine revelation.

The Shia believed in absolute obedience to the imams, or priest-kings, who were the direct descendants of Mohammed through his daughter. They regarded Ali, the fourth imam, more highly than Mohammed.

In the eighth century the Shia sect split into the Twelvers (the majority) and the Seveners or Ismailis. The Twelvers believed that the millennium would come with the twelfth imam of the Mohammedan line. The Seveners believed that the millennium would come with the seventh imam of the Mohammedan line.

The Sunni far out numbered the Shia. To survive, the Shia resorted to secret societies. With secret societies, the Shia sought to gain control of the Moslem world and, eventually, the whole world.

One of their most successful secret societies of the Shia was the House of Wisdom (Abode of Learning, House of Knowledge) in Cairo. In 1004, the sixth Caliph, Hakim, established the House of Wisdom, which was a repository of ancient illuministic knowledge. It trained Moslems to become fanatics. This society operated under the direction of the Caliph of the Fatimites. The instructors in this society were high-ranking officials and included the supreme judge, the commander-in-chief of the army, and the minister of the court. The House of Wisdom had nine degrees of initiation. The Fatimites endeavored to substituted a natural religion for a revealed religion. To do this, they instilled doubt in the minds of their followers. Nothing was to be believed, and everything was lawful. The House of Wisdom provided the foundation for the Assassins.

Hasan-i Sabbah, founder of the Assassins, was reared in a Twelver Shia family in Khorasan of western Persia. As a young man he converted to Ismailism. After the Sultan of Persia exiled him for accounting irregularities, Hasan went to Cairo in 1078 and asked the Caliph’s permission to carry Ismailism to Persia. Permission was granted. Hasan went to Persia and the Assassins or Nizaris were born in 1090. (Abu Mansur Sadakah ibn Yussuf, a Jew and vizier of the Caliph of Egypt, was Hasan’s protector during his missionary work in Persia.[1])

Hasan began using political power to gain spiritual power. To achieve this power, he changed the role of the Ismaili initiate to the role of assassin. He eventually made himself the absolute ruler of the territory around Alamut on the Caspian Sea.

He established a loyal obedient following of assassins through the awesomeness of his authority and the use of drugs. These followers unhesitantly obeyed his commands even unto death. The lower ranks of the uninitiated were required to follow strict Islamic beliefs. The higher-ranking adepts believed in nothing but power. They disregarded all acts or means with indifference. (A basic tenet of the higher initiates of the Assassins was “nothing is true and all is allowed”—the end justifies the means.) Only the ultimate goal of world donation was considered. Concealing their lust for power in religious piety, a few men sought to achieve world donation. The method by which this was to be established was the wholesale assassination of those who opposed them.

The murderous practices of the Assassins lead to a divided disorganized Moslem world, which aided the Christian Crusaders when they arrived in the Holy Land.

By the twelfth century, the Assassins had fractured. The Persian Assassins had adopted the Sunni version of Moslem law. The Syrian branch had become assassins for hire.

Assassins

When the Mongols conquered Persia and Syria in the thirteenth century, they destroyed the Assassins. The Mongols utterly slaughtered the Persian Assassins. Sultan Baybars turned all the Syrian Assassins into his hired killers.

Assassins

The Assassins provided a model for the Templars, Bavarian Illuminati, Carbonari, and Irish Republican Brotherhood.

Roshaniya In the sixteenth century a powerful secret society called the Roshaniya, or Illuminated Ones, arose in Afghanistan. Its roots go at least as far back as the House of Wisdom at Cairo. Bayezid Ansari founded this society after he had converted to an Ismaili cult that claimed to hold a secret doctrine handed down in the family of Mohammed.

Ansari established a school near Peshawar where he instructed initiates in the knowledge of the supernatural. During the course of instruction, the initiate “was to receive the illumination which was emanated from the supreme being, who desired a class of perfect men—and women—to carry out the organization and direction of the world.”[2]

The Roshaniya planned to reform and reorganize the social system of the world by taking control of individual countries one by one. Among its basic tenets was the abolition of private prosperity, religion, and nation states.

Members of the Roshaniya did not worship any particular deity. They “believe that there was a supreme overall power, which was known by the sum of its individual powers (lordship, protection, and so on) and when one had meditated upon them all, and they had become the ‘property’ of the invocant, he would thence forward be a man of complete power.”[3] Once an Illuminists reached this state (the Enlightened One of the fourth degree in the Roshaniya), he was no longer limited by any theological or social bonds. He was free to do as he pleased. Once an adept reached the fourth degree, he could communicate directly with the unknown superiors who had revealed secret knowledge to their followers throughout the ages.

Later Ansari moved his headquarters to the Hindu Kush of Afghanistan. From here he directed his empire to conquer the East. Many merchants and soldiers joined his society. As his society grew more powerful, Ansari began to preach a hedonistic doctrine: eat, drink, and be merry; look after yourself; gain all the power you can; your only allegiance is to the Roshaniya; anyone not a member of the Roshaniya is lawful prey.

Ansari created much havoc in the Mogul Empire. Eventually, Mohsin Khan, Governor of Kabul, arrested and imprisoned him. On the advice of Sheikh Attari, the Governor's religious guide, Ansari was allowed to escape. (Attari was suspected of being a secret adherent of the Roshaniya.)

After his escape, his power and popularity grew. He set about to take India and Persia by force. He later died of a wound that he received in India in an encounter with Mohsin Khan’s army. His son and grandson in turn became leaders of the society, and each in turn died in battle against the Moguls.

The basic structure and tenets of the Roshaniya appeared in Europe in various Illuminati orders of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, such as the Alombrados or Illuminated Ones of Spain, the Illuminated Guerinets of France, and the Order of the Illuminati of Bavaria.

The City of Damascus

The land of Canaan, showing the location of the "sacred bridge" (the strip of land that connects the Arabian Desert to Mesopotamia) and the "sacred cities" (Jerusalem, Damascus, and Tyre)

The land of Canaan has been called the “sacred bridge,” a strip of land that connects two worlds. In ancient times it was the only way to travel between Egypt and Mesopotamia, since a more direct route through the Arabian Desert was impractical if not impossible. There were two major arteries for international trade that traversed the land. The coastal highway, or Via Maris, followed along the coast of the Mediterranean and cut through the Jezreel Valley and along the shore of the Sea of Galilee before heading north into Damascus. (Some historical geographers argue that Via Maris was not the coastal highway, but rather an east-west artery in northern Israel.) The other major route, the King’s Highway, was located to the east along the high fertile plain beyond the Dead Sea and the Jordan River. The two routes converged on Damascus, where the route splits toward Antioch to the north, and towards Mesopotamia to the east. The King’s Highway was a trade route of vital importance in the ancient Near East, connecting Africa with Mesopotamia. It ran from Egypt across the Sinai Peninsula to Aqaba, then turned northward across Transjordan, to Damascus and the Euphrates River.

A regional route worth noting, though of less importance for international commerce, is known as the Ridge Route, which traveled through the hills of Judea and Samaria, passing by the city of Jerusalem. The impact these international trade routes had on the cultures and societies of ancient Canaan cannot be underestimated. The strategic importance of this land bridge for gaining and maintaining power and wealth in antiquity is reflected in the constant struggle that went on between regional and imperial powers to control the region for centuries. Damascus is located nearly North East side to Jerusalem. The calculated straight-line distance from Damascus (Syria as aš-Šām) the city of jasmine (Madīnat al-Yāsmīn) to Jerusalem is equal to 136 miles (136.6 miles) which is equal to 218 km. but it has also been calculated to be 150 miles as the road traveled by Saul of Tarsus who encountered Jesus at Emmaus Walking at 30 mph (48 km/h) 61 hours 59 minutes The routes connecting Fustat and Jerusalem with Damascus con verged in the area south of the sweet water. Sea of Galilee, Lake Tiberia Arabic Buḥayrat Ṭabarīyā, Hebrew Yam Kinneret, aka Lake of Gennesaret in the Gospels, Lake Kinneret,   at a pass near Sinnabra It is the lowest freshwater lake on Earth and the second-lowest lake in the world, at levels between 215 metres and 209 metres below sea level.

A sanctuary for the Druze (an independent sect founded in the 11th century with a creed containing elements of Islam, Judaism, and Christianity) is located near Kefar Hittim near the western shore.

The sea's location makes it subject to sudden and violent storms as the wind comes over the eastern mountains and drops suddenly onto the sea. Such storms result from differences in temperatures between the seacoast and the mountains beyond. The Sea of Galilee lies 680 feet below sea level.

As he neared Damascus on his journey, suddenly a light from heaven flashed around him. He fell to the ground and heard a voice say to him, "Saul, Saul, why do you persecute me?" Saul got up from the ground, but when he opened his eyes he could see nothing. So they led him by the hand into Damascus. The conversion of Saul was like the call of a second Abraham. It is easy to conceive of Patriarch Abraham the Arabian sheik traveling in the opposite direction with his flocks and herds and camels. The mid way point between Jerusalem and Damascus—a major cultural center of the Levant and the Arab world is situated at the latitude of 32.642300755893 and the longitude of 35.739848567247.

Damascus is widely believed to be the oldest continuously inhabited city in the world, with evidence of habitation dating back at least 11,000 years. Its location and persistence have made the city a nexus for civilizations come and gone founded in the 3rd millennium B.C., Damascus was an important cultural and commercial centre, by virtue of its geographical position at the crossroads of the orient and the occident, between Africa and Asia. The old city of Damascus is considered to be among the oldest continually inhabited cities in the world. The Barada River flows through Damascus. The term "Holy Land" usually refers to a territory roughly corresponding to the modern State of Israel, the Palestinian territories, western Jordan, and parts of southern Lebanon and of southwestern Syria. Jews, Christians, and Muslims all regard it as holy.

Sidon

David married the widowed Bathsheba, but their first child died as punishment from God for David’s adultery and murder of Uriah. David repented of his sins, and Bathsheba later gave birth to Solomon. Cf. the sacrifice of the “firstlings” by Abel, Abraham’s sacrifice of Ishmael—a ram with its horns in a bush (cf. the “burning bush” which commanded Moses upon Sinai): Abraham gave up his Syriac mother-tongue for Hebrew, Isaac’s of Esau—whose birthright was traded for a “bowl of red porridge” and Joseph’s “double portion” amongst the Tribes of Israel… as well as Canaan of Sidon, which is remarkable as being the only town mentioned in the account either of Mizraim or of Canaan—all the rest are apparently the names of tribes. (Phoenicians were intensely sensuous in their worship and voluptuous in their manners, the whole character of the Canaanite religion and thought was Hamitic, in commercial pursuits, and in culture far in advance of the Greeks, to whom they gave their alphabet Tyre and Sidon were Gentile cities north of Israel: Sidon is believed to have existed prior to 2000 BC, with Tyre being just a little younger. The Old Testament mentions Israel’s dealings with these cities, including the Israelites’ failure to conquer Sidon in the conquest of the Promised Land, their worship of Sidonian gods on several occasions, and their obtaining materials from Sidon and Tyre for the building of the Solomon’s temple and its’ rebuilding in Ezra’s time.

Acerbas (Sychaeus) was a Tyrian priest of Hercules, who married Elissa (Dido), the daughter of King Matgenus son of Badezorus (brother of Jezebel and brother-in-law of Ahab) and sister of Pygmalion. He was possessed of considerable wealth, which, knowing the avarice of Pygmalion, who had succeeded his father, he concealed in the earth. But Pygmalion, who heard of these hidden treasures, murdered Acerbas “in front of the altar,” in hopes that through his sister he might obtain possession of them. But the prudence of Elissa saved the treasures, and she emigrated from Phoenicia, founding the city of Carthage (c. 814 BC), according to ancient Greek and Roman mythology. Sychaeus first mentioned in Venus ' speech to Aeneas upon the hero ' s arrival in Libya ( Aeneid 1.335–70).

Moreover, the death of Pharaoh and the Egyptians’ firstborn sons at the first Passover and the destruction of the Twin Tablets of Mosaic Law, are also comparable—as is the crucifixion of Christ Messiah, God’s firstborn Son (which hath been revealed shall be reborn) . Also cf. King Mesha of Moab who, on the verge of defeat, sacrificed his eldest son.

According to the Gospels of Luke 10.16-13, Jesus performed most of his miracles in Chorazin, Capernaum, and nearby Bethsaida (located around the northern shore of the Sea of Galilee). Because the people witnessing those miracles did not repent, Jesus expressly cursed all three villages by name, beginning with Chorazin—mentioning Sidon and Tyre in the context of His woeful judgments.

The Third Temple (Hebrew Beit haMikdash haShlishi, literally: The House, the Holy, the Third) would be the third Jewish Temple in Jerusalem, after Solomon’s Temple and the rebuilt Second Temple.

<sup>[5]</sup> We are told that there is nothing we can do about creeping Shari’a and that people who are born here cannot be deported. But, historically, most people we have exiled were born here—for example, the prophet of the prairies, St-Louis ""David” Riel des Métis was exiled across the 49th Parallel to the United States after the 1869/70 Red River Rebellion. Not to forget the Canadian government persecution of the sect of Russian immigrants known as the “Sons of Freedom Doukhobors.”

Often Quoted by Islamophiles

Qur'an Sura 2.256 (al-Baqarah): “There shall be no compulsion in [acceptance of] the religion. The right course has become clear from the wrong. So whoever disbelieves in Taghut<sup>56</sup> and believes that Allah has grasped the most trustworthy handhold with no break in it... for Allah is Hearing and Knowing.”

Outwardly, this seems to say that Muslims should not use outward compulsion to convert people to Islam... but just look at any Islamic country where unbelievers and apostates are ritually murdered—because the verse has been abrogated by later verses. The second chapter of the Qur'an is actually the first to be recited after Muhammad’s flight to Medina; he was having trouble convincing converts to Islam... because people are stubborn and not easily compelled. Later, however, Muhammad discovered that he could compel people.

Islam as a Religion of Peace

Most people only expose themselves to information that matches their own world view. It is uncomfortable to do otherwise. Do not assume that all religions are the same. The difference between the God-damned Qur'an and every other religious book that we are familiar with is: The Christian Bible is a collection of writings from various authors written sometimes hundreds of years apart with parables, moral advice, dream interpretations, and historical stories all collected together in one book. The same is true with the Jewish Torah (i.e., identical with the Pentateuch... or, the first five biblical books of Moses) and the God-damned Babylonian Talmud. We assume the same is true for the Qur'an... but the Qur'an is only a book divided into Suras (chapters) and further divided into Ayahs (verses), the opinion and ideas of one man, supposedly written in his own lifetime—with later revelations abrogating and superseding earlier passages.

Mohammad was an illiterate and dictated the Suras as told to him by an Angel... in a similar fashion as the Golden Book of Mormon was dictated to the prophet Joseph Smith—the founder and leader of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (more commonly known as Mormonism). The Qur'an is meant to be taken literally and it is not full of symbolism or vague analogies. It is mostly direct commands.

As mentioned above, the glorious Qur'an contains contradictory statements just like the Bible, the Torah, and other religious books. But it is explained in the Qur'an that “if two passages contradict each other, the one written later supplants the one written earlier.” The peaceful, tolerant passages were written early in Mohammed’s prophetic career. According to the Qur'an those passages have been abrogated by more violent and less tolerant passages. It says very explicitly and in no uncertain terms that “a Muslim must not alter or ignore any part of the very clear and direct message, or they will burn in a fiery torment forever.”

Lets be clear, What we are seeing today in the Mid-East, and elsewhere is not radical Islam. This is what Mohamed intended his cult to be, and this is what Islam was when it raped pillaged and plundered its way across the Middle East, North Africa, and invaded Spain and Europe with the intent of taking over the entire world.

Let there be no mistake, it is the intent of Islam to take over the world! This death cult must be stamped out!

The Problem We Face with Islam

Islam sanctions the killing of Jews and Christians at all times—giving Muslims the permission to fight non-Muslims who do not pay Jizya—the state tax—a form of tribute: infer.

Qur'an Sura 9.29 (at-Tawbah or “The Repentance” ): “Kill those who do not believe in Allah or in the Last Day and who do not consider unlawful what Allah and His Messenger have made unlawful and who do not adopt the religion of truth from those who were given the Scripture—kill until they give the Jizya willingly while they are humbled”

People who don’t think Islam is a problem tell us there are similar verses in the Christian Old Testament and the Jewish Torah and Mishnah and Talmud. There are three reasons why this is not a valid argument:

- 1) If this were true—and it is not—this does not mitigate the violent and destructive nature of Islam... but if it were true, it merely makes Christianity and Judaism worthy of criticism, too.
- 2) The Qur'an is filled with such militant verses... and it was the theme of Muhammad's later life to kill and enslave anyone who did not accept him as the messenger of God. Similar verses in the Bible are long since abrogated, whereas in the Qur'an it is contemporary law in every Islamic state—right now... not 2000 years ago!
- 3) There is no parallel in the Bible for such verses of aggression and conquest of the entire world. There are some genuine similarities between the Bible and the Qur'an in comparisons of Shari'a law to passages in the Books of Deuteronomy and Leviticus—but that is irrelevant (for we would criticize the Jews and Christians if they still killed apostates).<sup>57</sup>

By convention, Muslims always attempt to mistranslate this verse—and you'll be hard put to find the correct translation on the internet.

“Christians have always claimed that their faith is rooted in history. In this respect, Christianity is different from all other religions. The substance of Hinduism, Buddhism, and even Islam is not found in their historical claims. What is important about these religions is certain general truths that they propose for belief. These truths do not depend on any historical events, even though they were supposedly discovered or revealed in historical situations. If these religions are true, they are true in all times and places, indeed timelessly. But Christianity is different. It is essentially a story about certain things that happened in geographic places and historic times: creation, fall, the history of Israel, the incarnation of Christ through the virgin birth, his miracles, his atonement, his resurrection, ascension, and return. One may be skeptical about the Buddha’s reported enlightenment under the Bodhi Tree and still be a good Buddhist. But one may not be skeptical about Jesus’ resurrection and be a good Christian. Indeed, Paul of Tarsus—“s spouter of lies” says that “if Christ has not been raised, then our preaching is in vain and your faith is in vain” (1 Cor. 15:14). In orthodox Christianity, our entire salvation comes through acts of God in history.” John Frame, A History of Western Philosophy and Theology (1st Ed., p. 222). Phillipsburg, NJ: P&R Publishing

All Christian Patriots Should Know about Islam

Allah is not the same God who is worshipped by Jews and Christians. Allah is no more a God than the Golden calf of Egypt. Allah predates Islam by over a thousand years, and was a minor deity in the Temple of Baal, the Canaanite Sun God, who was worshipped throughout the Middle East. Baal (ba'al) was an ancient Canaanite and Mesopotamian deity associated with agriculture. He was believed to be the "giver of life" and mankind was dependant upon him for providing what was necessary to sustain the farms, flocks and herds. Allah was the moon god who's sign was the crescent moon.

Muhammad, born 570 years after the Birth of Christ, was very familiar with Judaism and Christianity and stole traditions from both religions to create his own cult. He took the named Allah for his God because it was familiar to Arabs across the region. This is why you so often see the symbol of the crescent moon associated with Islam, and on so many Islamic flags. Muhammad asked the Jews to recognize him as a Prophet from God, which they refused to do. Because of this Muhammad turned upon the Jews, and Muslims have hated and despised the Jews ever since.

Muhammad warred upon the Jews, and slaughtered whole villages, decapitating the men, and selling the women into slavery. Muhammad himself set the example to his followers by demanding from his captors that they either convert to Islam or be put to death; a tradition that carries on even to this day.

Upon Muhammad's death in 632 A.D., a rift developed amongst Muslims as to who should succeed as leader of their cult - thus you have the Shia and Sunni. Muslims following Muhammad's exampled raped, pillaged and plundered their way across the Middle East and North Africa, murdering those that would not convert to Islam. In the year 711 A.D., Muslims (called the Moors) crossed the Strait of Gibraltar and invaded Spain.

In 827 A.D. the Muslims invaded Sicily, and in 847 A.D. the Italian port of Bari (occupied from 847 until 871), with Muslim raids reaching as far north as Rome and Piedmont. During this same time period, the Muslims invaded Europe in the east, first laying siege to Constantinople in 674–678 A.D. Muslims continued their depredations until In March 1095, Pope Urban II received an ambassador from the Byzantine Emperor asking for help against Muslim invasion and another siege of Constantinople. This is what prompted the Crusades of the middle ages, an attempt to put an end to Muslim aggression!

Qur'an 8:12 [Remember] when your Lord inspired to the angels, "I am with you, so strengthen those who have believed. I will cast terror into the hearts of those who disbelieved, so strike [them] upon the necks and strike from them every fingertip."

Judeo- Islamic Ritual Pedophilia The Israeli White Slave Trade

Pedophilia, or sexual abuse of children, is permitted in the Qur'an, as was practiced by Prophet Muhammad and his companions, and many Muslims today continue to commit the crime. The hypocrisy of child marriage and pederasty are tolerated in Muslim societies where homosexuality is strictly condemned.

The systematic rape of women and girls from the Yazidi religious minority has become deeply enmeshed in the organization and the radical theology of the Islamic State—moreover group is reviving slavery as an institution. The trade in Yazidi women and girls has created a persistent infrastructure, with a network of warehouses where the victims are held, viewing rooms where they are inspected and marketed, and a dedicated fleet of buses used to transport them. The Islamic State has developed a detailed bureaucracy of systematic sexual slavery, including sales contracts notarized by the ISIS-run Islamic courts. And the practice has become an established recruiting tool to lure men from deeply conservative Muslim societies, where casual sex is taboo and dating is forbidden. In much the same way as specific Bible passages were used centuries ago to support the White slave trade in the United States, the Islamic State cites specific verses or stories in the Qur'an or else in the Sunna to justify their human trafficking.

Israeli Jews, too, are involved in the sex trade: Women and children tend to be the most likely victims of trafficking — sold into dangerous, and brutal abuse and inhumane situations of sexually exploitation by a militant Haredi “White Slavery” cult. While trafficking includes various kinds of labor exploitation, sex slavery is an enterprise where the majority of victims are adolescent or underage girls. Prostitution in Israel is legal, but the purchase of sex and organized prostitution in the form of brothels and pimping are prohibited. Notwithstanding, many European women are smuggled into Israel to serve as prostitutes—they come from places such as from Ukraine, Moldova, Belarus, Russia and Georgia. Closer to home, Clare Bronfman, daughter of Montreal-born Russian-Jew Billionaire businessman Edgar Bronfman—a pillar of New York society and president of the World Jewish Congress—and heiress to the Seagram liquor fortune was one of the top leaders of the sex-slavery cult Nxivm arrested in 2018 along with Nancy Salzman, her daughter Lauren (who admitted to keeping a woman as a slave) and Nxivm bookkeeper Kathy Russell. Nancy Salzman is a senior CIA subliminal mind manipulator Ericksonian Hypnotist—a method of indirect hypnosis named after Dr. Milton Erickson, considered the father of modern hypnotherapy; she had been tutored by psychiatrist Dr. Herbert Siegel (Columbia University) and studied at the National Institutes of Health (Bethesda, Maryland) and Reuters University. The Bronfman family is no strangers to scandal, controversy and intrigue. Clare Bronfman and her sister Sara reportedly poured more than $100m (£77m) dollars into the group and moved their moved their headquarters from Mexico to Brooklyn to be nearer to their leader Keith Raniere and his top aide, former “Smallville” actress Alison Mack, which were indicted earlier and charged with sex trafficking. The clandestine experimental NVIXM “sex cult” brainwashed, branded, and conducted mind-control experiments on women and children for the CIA. Among the criminal offenses that members carried out are identity theft, harboring of aliens for financial gain, extortion, forced labor and sex trafficking, money laundering and racketeering, wire fraud and obstruction of justice.

<sup>56</sup> Taghut is a Qur'anic term for false gods and is specifically used to denounce everything that is worshiped instead of or other than Allah. In traditional theology, the term often connotes idols or demons drawn to blood of pagan sacrifices. In modern times, the term is also applied to earthly tyrannical rulers who arrogate God's absolute power and use it to oppress people.

<sup>57</sup> As we Christian folk, for example, the Jews do not consider a woman who has been raped as having submitted to illegitimate sexual conduct.

From the earliest recorded history, the Feast of the Annunciation has been celebrated on March 25th.<sup>58</sup> commemorating both the belief that the spring equinox was not only the day of God’s act of Creation but also the beginning of Messiah’s redemption of that same Creation. Furthermore, all Christians of antiquity held that March 25th was the actual day of Jesus’ death.
[Refer to the endnote: “The Long Day of Missing Time” footnote 27.]

“He shall speak pompous words against the Most High, shall persecute the saints of the Most High, and shall intend to change times and law. Then the saints shall be given into his hand for a time and times and half a time” (Daniel 7:25).

The 1260 period is referenced in seven places in Daniel and Revelation (Daniel 7:25; 12:7; Revelation 11:2, 3; 12:6, 14; 13:5). The phrases appear three times as a time, times, and half a time, twice as 42 months and twice as 1260 days. If we consider the 30-day calendar used by the Jews, these periods are all the same duration of time:

3 1/2 years = 42 months = 1,260 days.

And according to Ezekiel 4:6 and Numbers 14:34, a prophetic day equals one literal year. Thus, the little horn (Antichrist) was to rule over the saints for 1,260 prophetic days or 1,260 literal years.

The rule of the papacy began in A.D. 538, when the last of the three opposing Arian kingdoms was uprooted or destroyed. And the political rule of the papacy lasted until 1798 when Napoleon’s general, Berthier, took the pope captive with the goal of destroying both Pope Pius VI and the political, secular power of the papacy. This period of time is an exact fulfillment of the 1260 year prophecy. The blow was a deadly wound for the papacy, but that wound began to heal to our present time.

Jesus, in Matthew 24:21, mentions the 1260 period as the worst era of persecution to God’s children. And Jesus adds that it was so deadly that not one person would have survived if God had not shortened it (v. 22). This prophetic time period is one of the 11 points that identify the beast and the Antichrist which is mentioned in Revelation 13:5.

<sup>58</sup> In ancient Rome, the followers of Cybele believed that their goddess had a consort who was born via a virgin birth. His name was Attis, and he died and was resurrected each year during the time of the vernal equinox on the Julian calendar (between March 22nd and March 25th—nine months before the midwinter Yule solstice—the shortest day of the year. In Wicca, it is thought to be the time whence the Sun Child, or God of Light, is born of the Goddess.
According to the Venerable Bede, Eostre was the Saxon version of a Teuto-Germanic lunar goddess called Ostara—associated with “the hare” and “the egg,” both symbols of fertility and rebirth. Her feast day was held on the full moon following the vernal equinox—almost the identical calculation as for the Christian Easter also known as “Gabrielmas” in the west. For early Pagans in the Germanic countries, this was a time to celebrate planting and the new crop season. Typically, the Celtic peoples did not celebrate Ostara as a holiday, although they were in tune with the changing of the seasons. The tale of the Roman god, Mithras, is similar to the resurrection story of Jesus Christ: Born at the winter solstice and resurrected in the spring, Mithras helped his followers ascend to the realm of light after death.
Ostara or the Spring Equinox is one of the Lesser Wiccan Sabbats, and is usually celebrated on the Vernal or Spring Equinox right around March 21st (although because of its origins, may instead be celebrated on the fixed date of March 25th). The Christian holiday of Easter is very near this same time, and is determined as the first Sunday after the first full moon after the Vernal Equinox and Passover, which falls on the first new moon following the vernal equinox.

8.2 The world after the Anti-Christ

*The religion called after the seas will overcome, against the sect of the son Adaluncatif;
the stubborn lamentable sect will fear the two men
wounded by A & A. (X-96)*

The world is gradually recovering after the Anti-Christ. When he is gone, most of the organized religions will be in total chaos, particularly Christianity. Peace will be the main philosophical viewpoint everyone will agree upon. Therefore I used the phrase «the religion named after the seas will overcome» referring to the Pacific Ocean. The strange name «Adaluncatif» refers to the Anti-Christ. Those who are familiar with the Kabbala will be able to figure out more concerning the Anti-Christ. «The laminate sect» refers to the Anti-Christ and his followers. He will be defeated twice by «A & A»; first by the fighter, the hero, the main one who will rise up to fight against the Anti-Christ (Ogmios). And then he will also be defeated by the genius, who will come later.

*From Arta & the country of Thrace, people ill by sea, help from the Gauls;
In Provence their perpetual trace and remnants of their customs and laws. (IX-75)*

Europe is trying to recover after the Anti-Christ. «People ill by sea»: firstly, it refers to the fact that the Anti-Christ came over the sea, and so the illness came by sea, so to speak. Secondly, due to the type of warfare the Anti-Christ waged, part of the land and ocean will be poisoned from his weapons, and it will kill off many of the fish and other oceanic life.

*His hand finally through the bloody Alus, he will be unable to protect himself by sea.
Between two rivers he will fear the military hand, the black and angry one will make him repent of it. (VI-33)*

This refers to the downfall of the Anti-Christ’s supreme commander. The battle involved will be an extremely strategic one. «Alus» refers to the misuse of some technology that has not yet been developed. The commander will make a major failure of judgment on the field so the bulk of his forces are captured or killed. «The black and angry one» refers to the Anti-Christ and his reaction to the situation.

*When those of the Northern pole are united together in the East will be great fear and dread.
A new man elected, supported by the great one who trembles, both Rhodes and Byzantium will be stained with Barbarian blood. (VI-21)*

As long as things look totally hopeless, the Anti-Christ’s power is beginning to give way in certain crucial places. This refers to when those of the northern pole – that is the United States, Canada and Russia particularly, and later on, northern Europe - manage to unite together. Even though the Anti-Christ has taken over all of Asia, after a certain amount of time he’s not able to control Russia. Russia breaks free and unites with those countries that have not yet been conquered. This union, strikes fear into the heart of the Anti-Christ - «will be great fear and dread» - because he can see the beginning of the end where he might fail at this point. «Both Rhodes and Byzantium will be stained with Barbarian blood»; being major regional head-quarters, they will see some of the bloodiest fighting.
